

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

ELECTION CONTEST NOTICES.

In compliance with the statute made and provided the President of the Senate announced that the Secretary of State had filed with him notices of intention to contest the election of certain Senators voted for at the election held Nov. 4, 1890, to-wit:

OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY OF STATE,
SPRINGFIELD, Jan. 8, 1891.

To the President of the Senate:

Pursuant to the requirements of section 110, chapter 46, of the Revised Statutes of the State of Illinois, I have the honor to deliver to you notice of intention to contest the election of certain Senators voted for at the election held November 4, 1890, which have been filed in the office of the Secretary of State, as follows:

First District—Madison R. Harris vs. Edward T. Noonan.

Fifteenth District—Amos Savage vs. John W. Arnold.

Twenty-Seventh District—William Adcock et. als. vs. Perry Anderson.

Thirty-Ninth District—Alexander Moore vs. Benjamin F. Caldwell.

I have the honor to be,

Very truly yours,
I. N. PEARSON,
Secretary of State.

At 10:50 o'clock A. M. Mr. Higbee moved to take a recess until 11 o'clock A. M.

Which motion prevailed.

11 O'CLOCK A. M.

The Senate resumed the transaction of business,

Hon. Lyman B. Ray, President of the Senate, presiding.

GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE.

A message from the Governor by his private secretary:

Mr. President: I am directed by the Governor to lay before the Senate the following biennial message, to-wit:

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
SPRINGFIELD, ILL., January 8, 1891.

Gentlemen of the Senate and House of Representatives:

In compliance with the constitution, I have the honor to submit for your consideration, my biennial message. I shall not, in this communication, attempt to discuss in detail every question likely to become the subject of legislation at the present session, nor shall I protract unduly what I have to say, by a reference to facts falling peculiarly within your own knowledge or that can be readily ascertained by an examination of the reports made to me in obedience to law by the state officers, and those in charge of the various institutions of the state, which reports, for your convenience and information, have been printed and will, in due time, be laid before you. I shall refer to such facts and make such suggestions only as seem of most importance and as are calculated to aid you in the discharge of the responsible duties of the session now opening.

It is gratifying to note that Illinois ranks first in agriculture and third in manufacture and population, among the states of the Federal Union. The past two years have witnessed a steady and substantial growth in wealth, population and commercial influence. The laws have been obeyed, and peace, good order and abundance have prevailed throughout our borders. The judiciary of the State continues to hold that high place in the public confidence so essential to a proper discharge of its important functions. These facts form fitting subjects for congratulation, demonstrating as they do the capacity of the people to govern themselves.

Not to any one industry, but to all combined, are we indebted for our great progress. The farmer who sows and reaps; the merchant who facilitates exchanges; the capitalist whose money builds and equips our railroads; the carpenter and mason who build, and the artist who beautifies our homes; the miner whose toil unlocks the secret store-houses of nature; the quarryman who drills in stone; the trainmen who run the flying trains; the common laborer who digs our canals and does the heavy drudgery of the warehouse and the street; these and many others have contributed each in his own way to our great wealth and progress and deserves, and will, I doubt not, receive your most careful and thoughtful consideration. They form an indispensable part of our industrial system and constitute the means by which, under a laudable competition, our State is to be brought to a yet higher standard of industrial excellence. Emulation without envy, and competition without detraction, should mark the intercourse of all our people.

THE PENITENTIARIES.

One of the most important questions to which I invite your attention, and which will demand your most serious consideration, in view of the recent constitutional amendment forbidding contract labor, is the disposition that is to be made of the prisoners confined in the penal institutions of the State, on the expiration of the contracts under which they are now employed. These institutions are being conducted with prudence, wisdom and economy. They were never in better condition and the management will bear the most rigid scrutiny. During the last year the Northern Illinois Penitentiary has been self-sustaining, and the one at Chester nearly so.

I shall speak of these institutions separately, beginning with the Illinois State Penitentiary located at Joliet. There were, on the first day of October, 1890, 1,365 convicts confined in this institution, contracts for the labor of 305 of whom expired August 1, 1889; and on July 1, 1890, other contracts expired for the labor of 125 additional convicts, making the total number of convicts released from contract labor up to this time, 430. Of the contracts yet in force, seven will expire on October 1, 1892, releasing 472 convicts, and the remaining contracts, seven in number, will expire on October 1 and November 1, 1894, releasing 269 more. These 741 prisoners are now employed under existing contracts and are each earning on an average, about sixty cents per day.

The disposition that has been made of the convicts already released by the expiration of contracts, and the reasons for the plan adopted, is best told in the language of the Commissioners themselves, in their report made to me under date of October 1, 1890. They say:

"We have given serious consideration as to the best plan for employing these prisoners. Work of some character is essential. The prisoners themselves prefer it, and the ill-success of the experiment of keeping convicts idle, in New York prison, proves the necessity of it. The question arises: What system of work shall be adopted? During the time the convicts in this institution were employed on the State account system, appropriations from July 1, 1867, to November 30, 1871, not inclusive of appropriations for permanent improvement, were made for this Penitentiary by the General Assembly, amounting to $632,644.89. The prison fell short of being self-sustaining during the same period in the sum of $544,699.22. The approximate loss sustained during the same time for bad debts was $65,801.06. In view of the disastrous financial results while this system was in operation, and the fact that under contracts yet in force whereby the entire available shop-room of the prison will be in use for the next two years at least, and the still further fact that at the last General Assembly of the State, a joint committee of five was appointed to visit and investigate our own prisons and the prisons and prison systems of the other States, and report to the next General Assembly, recommending such a law as shall secure to us the best methods for the general management of our penitentiaries whenever the present contract system shall expire, we have hesitated to anticipate the action of the General Assembly by adopting any permanent system of labor, but have deemed it best while awaiting the action of the General Assembly, and to save the State from loss in the interim, and also looking to the health of the convicts, to enter into agreements for the employment upon the piece price plan, of all convicts whose labor is not required under unexpired contracts or in performing the necessary work of the prisoners, which agreements were made subject to approval of the General Assembly or amendment by legislative enactment providing for the adoption of a system of labor."

Here then, we have a clear, concise statement of what has been done, and cogent reasons given for the plan adopted. If the General Assembly is not satisfied with the course pursued and wish to change it, the way is open. The convicts can be allowed to lie idle, or they can be employed on the State account system, as formerly. The health and morals of the convicts, no less than existing laws, forbid the adoption of the former course. And the second will require a large appropriation of money for the purchase of machinery and tools, and also for the purchase of raw materials out of which the manufactured goods are to be made. A market must also be found for the manufactured articles, and the State, having no established trade, like that enjoyed by the present contractors, must employ men to sell the goods and to build up and expand the trade of the institution. During the time required for this, and until the State begins to realize on sales, the entire expense must be borne by appropriations made from the public treasury. After all this has been accomplished, the question remains: Can the State go into the markets and sell the manufactured articles to advantage; can it sell at the prices at which they are now sold by the present contractors, each of whom has a large and well-established business of his own? If this cannot be done, then should the convicts be employed in manufacturing on State account, the competition would, unavoidably, work greater hardship to the labor of the outside world than it now does under the present contract system.

On the 1st day of October, 1890, there were confined in the Southern Illinois Penitentiary, 667 convicts, only 125 of whom are working under contract, and this, the only remaining contract, will expire on the 30th day of June, 1894. Two contracts have already expired, one on the 1st day of July, and the other on the 1st day of August, of 1890, releasing in all 250 convicts. And I will add that by the expiration of these contracts, the earning capacity of the prison has been reduced in the sum of $36,000 annually.

The convicts not working under unexpired contracts, are employed in building the institution for insane criminals provided for by the last General Assembly, in making brick, cultivating the farm, and in and about the Warden's house and the other departments of the institution. For a detailed statement of the condition and present needs of this institution, I respectfully refer you to the Warden's report, and that of the Commissioners, and commend to your favorable consideration the wise suggestions which they contain. I especially urge that the capacity for the manufacture of brick be at least doubled, as by this means from 50 to 75 additional convicts can be, with a small expense, profitably employed. Much time and money has been spent by the State in building up and expanding this industry, and now, after the lapse of many years, it has been brought to a high degree of perfection, and the trade largely extended. It is believed that it affords one of the best means for the employment of convicts in the future. The appropriations asked for by the Commissioners of both these institutions seem reasonable, and I recommend that they be allowed.

From the foregoing facts it would seem then, that hereafter a large number of convicts confined in our penitentiaries must lie idle, unless the State makes appropriations sufficient for the purchase of machinery tools and raw materials, thereby enabling the Commissioners to manufacture on State account.

As a number of contracts will not expire for years to come, it is for this General Assembly to determine whether it is expedient to continue until that time the piece price plan, which has been temporarily adopted by the Commissioners in the penitentiary located at Joliet. Such a course could not, in any event, result in loss to the State. Whatever system of labor is adopted, due care should be taken that the labor of these convicts is made to compete as little as possible with the free labor of the State.

The facts and suggestions here presented, taken with those contained in the reports of the officers of these institutions, will furnish a sufficient basis for intelligent action on the part of the General Assembly, to whose enlightened judgment and sound discretion I submit this difficult problem for solution.

PRISON REFORM.

I have thus discussed the condition of the Illinois prisons so far as concerns their fiscal and industrial relations. I can not, however, turn from this most important topic, without reminding you that there is another and far higher phase of this subject of prison management which should claim your most humane consideration. To this higher phase of the question I will now, in very general terms, invite your attention.

I am exceedingly unwilling that the proud commonwealth of Illinois should, in any of its departments, rest content with a showing of progress that is merely material, or which can be fully expressed and tabulated in the report of the assessor and the census taker. Proud, as we have a right to be, of our material growth, we should never forget that all our tabulated wealth and material potencies constitute no more than a broad foundation on which to organize and securely found higher and better forms of progress. Nor should we forget that opportunities for honorable achievement in the moral world, when unimproved, become the badges of failure and disgrace.

In no department of State regulation and police activity, do the humanities, in my judgment, find a wider field for intelligent exercise than in the great movement toward prison reform which now engages the attention of many of the first philanthropists of the age. The character of the reforms inaugurated and the results of the work accomplished in some sister States of the Union, are doubtless well known to most of you, and need not be here recited at length.

The fundamental error which a true prison reform must correct is that which treats with indiscriminate rigor all who violate the criminal code and which, in the promiscuity of a common degradation, drives every prisoner of state into a forced and life-long war against society. It is the bane of our police regulations that they know but two classes: Those who break and those who observe the cold letter of the law. Of past opportunities, of moral capacity, of the palliations of environment, of degrees of moral turpitude, our system takes no account whatever. We deliberately draw a dead line, and he who crosses over, if detected, falls at once into a gulf as black and bottomless as death. We refuse to recognize, in a legal way, the patent fact that in many cases those who step across this line are not morally worse than many others who dally along its edge and barely miss taking the one fatal step, or who, taking that step, have the good fortune to do so when the police are not on guard.

We forget, too, that many of the most dangerous enemies of society utter long prayers in the distant and secure citadel of legal favor, and have learned to avoid overt acts of recognized criminality.

One who has had experience with the promiscuous class which we call "criminals" well knows there is a time in the life of many a young man, when even trivial circumstances may send him either in the direction of success and honor, or in the direction of crime and its present consequent moral death. For such, our law, it seems to me, make no adequate provision.

Allowing full force to the great fact of heredity, now being wisely recognized, it may be said that men no more become hardened felons and enemies of society in a day, than they are able to purify their souls to immaculate whiteness in the same brief period.

Two young men of about equal inherited tendencies and equal moral education start together in the race of life. We will suppose they do not belong to a high type of moral excellence, but they are such as society affords, and must be dealt with by our laws as they are. These young men, in thoughtlessness, or passion, or possibly from motives a degree lower than these, may each commit a State's prison offense: but one is detected, while the other is so fortunate as to conceal his guilt. The one who is apprehended, is convicted of felony, and goes to the penitentiary, and when he enters there he leaves all hope behind. Practically, nothing remains to him but a life-long war against society. The brand of Cain is henceforth upon him. His one fatal step has brought upon him the calamitous necessity of going on in sin, and henceforth, from the fastnesses of crime, he makes periodical inroads upon a social order of which he forms no part. For him the word "home" is an empty sound. The church bells, summoning to the altar of devotion, find no echo in his heart. He is, in short, morally dead.

The other young man who started morally upon a plane with him may, through better luck, find honorable employment, and with the gathering moral support of association, which the other lacked, may ultimately achieve success, finally passing on to the position of secure and respected citizenship.

If such cases may occur (and that they do occur thousands can testify) is there not something radically wrong with our penal system? Is not the State in some degree responsible for the fall of one of these young men, while deserving no credit for the preservation and success of the other?

It is a recognition of the injustice which condemns all degrees of criminality to wear alike the scarlet letter of indiscriminate disgrace, which has led many humane judges of our State to exercise the questionable power of "suspending sentence" in the case of those young offenders whom they are unwilling to cast into the seething caldron from which none escape.

Obviously, infractions of the penal code can not be connived at by those officers whose duty is its enforcement. These can not exercise a discretion as to whom among offenders they will select for prosecution. All should, at the outset, be treated alike, and none that are guilty should escape. But I am convinced that sentences of imprisonment should be indeterminate as to time of punishment. The question for the trial court should simply be guilty or not guilty of the crime charged in the indictment, and the judgment of the court should record the result of a fair trial upon that question. The question of the length of punishment, within the minimum and the maximum terms provided in the statute, should be reserved for later determination in the light of developments and with due regard to the moral status and progress of the subject. The data on which the term of punishment could alone be intelligently determined, could not well be placed before the trial jury as evidence in court, even if competent under legal rules, and if this could be done only omniscience could justly decide in advance, on any possible showing, how long any given prisoner ought to serve. The determination of this question of extent of punishment should be made to depend upon the mental and moral progress of each subject, to be ascertained under wise rules of discipline and after actual experience with each convict.

All this, I know, pre-supposes that the prison should be made within practicable limits a reformatory: and I venture the opinion that the penitentiaries of the land are destined in the near future to become as to all inmates, except the known incorrigible, places of mental and moral discipline, looking to the assistance as well as the punishment of the criminally unfortunate.

When this salutary reform shall be brought within practicable reach of our commonwealth, it will no doubt be wise to begin the reform by designating the present boys' reform school at Pontiac as a general reformatory, where the new and better ideas of prison management may be applied to old as well as young, reserving the other prisons, temporarily at least, for the confinement of the obdurate and the hopeless. As to the feasibility of this plan, I invite your attention to the suggestions contained in the last report of the trustees of the Reform School. The transition must be gradual: but a beginning could be made in the manner suggested.

It is to me a source of regret that our State is now, as regards prison management, in a state of transition, made necessary by the recent constitutional amendment which may delay the trial of a system, which properly administered, would, I believe, prove salutary, and in the end be of benefit to the State in a financial as well as a moral way. I could not, however, forgive myself, holding the views I do, if I failed in this first communication by message to the General Assembly, to direct attention to this subject, compared with which I hold no other of greater importance. And I do this in the desire that whatever may be your opinion as to the practicability of an immediate departure in the direction pointed out, you may at least do nothing which will, in the future, prove inconsistent with an early adoption of these salutary reforms.

I am not unaware that there are those who will say that regulations for the moral and educational improvement of prisoners, will be availed of most quickly and effectively by the worse instead of the better element: that it will offer a reward to hypocrisy and pretended reform, and that all efforts in the direction indicated are but attempts to realize the impracticable dreams of the enthusiast. The ill opinion of such, I am willing to accept complacently, with the single observation that an application of the same pessimistic logic would demolish the common school itself and would certainly abolish the Reform School at Pontiac, which the State has already established for juvenile offenders.

If these reforms are not undertaken by the present General Assembly, I recommend for immediate action the good policy of so changing the law as to invest the court instead of the jury, with the power to fix punishments in all cases. The presiding judge has at hand means of information bearing upon the proper degree of punishment which, as before observed, it would not be practicable, nor legally competent, to place before the jury which tries the question of guilt. I am satisfied, on facts learned from my visits to the prisons of the State, that punishments are fixed unequally, and that a great gain in the direction of justice would be secured under our system as it is, by an act transferring the power to fix punishments in felonies, from the jury to the court, where that power now rests in cases of misdemeanor. From information gained on my official visits to the penitentiaries, I am led to believe that provision should be made for proper defenses in cases of the poor and helpless. I am also convinced that the statute making the compensation of State's attorneys depend upon the number of convictions they are able to secure, is not wise, and should be modified so as to give the public prosecutors, a liberal, fixed salary, thus placing them more nearly in a judicial attitude in the discharge of their important duties. I submit, it is not fair to a State's attorney himself, thus to make his pay contingent on the securing of numerous convictions. He should be made to feel as free to discharge a prisoner, the justice of whose conviction is not apparent, as to convict one known to be guilty. While our State's attorneys are, as a class, of high character and would not, I am glad to believe, weigh grains of silver against ounces of blood, yet there is, it seems to me, something unworthy of the policy of a great State, thus to seek to put before a prosecutor, any motive, however small, other than the desire to faithfully discharge a public duty.

CHARITABLE INSTITUTIONS.

I commend to your most favorable consideration and liberal support, the charitable institutions of the State. For a full and complete exhibit of what the State is doing in this direction and the cost of this humane and beneficent work, I refer you to the exhaustive and luminous report of the State Board of Charities, together with the reports of the trustees of the several charitable institutions, copies of which reports I will cause to be laid before you at an early date.

For the year ending June 30, 1890, the average attendance at the Soldiers' and Sailors' Home was 789; at the Soldiers' Orphans' Home, 313; at the four hospitals for the insane, 3,701; at the Institution for the Education of the Deaf and Dumb, 364; at the Institution for the Education of Blind, 121; at the Asylum for the Feeble-Minded, 410; at the Eye and Ear Infirmary, 139; and at the Reform School, 359. Some of these institutions are over-crowded and there are many outside to whom admission is refused for want of room. The management of our State charities will bear the closest scrutiny, and most critical inspection, and it is a pleasure to assert that the institutions devoted to the care of the unfortunate are of such a character as to merit the approval of all our people. Each in its sphere is accomplishing a good work and achieving the most gratifying results.

Their efficiency should not be impaired by insufficient appropriations, for they are, in a measure alleviating the wants of a large class of our fellow beings, whose helpless condition appeals to us for sympathy and charity. While extravagance in all departments should be carefully guarded against, nevertheless it would be false economy to cripple or enfeeble any part of the public service by failure to provide sufficiently for all reasonable demands.

I have received from the United States for the Soldiers' and Sailors' Home, the sum of $131,608.87, and the same has been turned over to the State Treasurer. This money has been transmitted by drafts, payable to my order as Governor, and I suggest that some action be taken whereby the money appropriated by the Federal government toward the maintenance of the inmates at the Home may be received directly by the State Treasurer.

STATE BOARD OF AGRICULTURE.

Illinois has greater natural resources and is capable of supporting a denser population than any other state in the American union. The fertility of her soil is unsurpassed by any in the world, and furnishes boundless resources for agriculture, which industry constitutes the real basis of our great wealth and prosperity. Realizing these facts, and with an earnest desire to promote the interests of the farmer, the stock raiser and the horticulturist, the General Assembly wisely enacted a law for the organization of the State Board of Agriculture, which board has for its object the development of these departments of our industrial structure. The law was amended in 1877 and is now sufficient, it is believed, to enable the board to effectually discharge its responsible duties respecting these great industries.

At each session of the General Assembly for a number of years past, a small appropriation has been made to the board for the purpose of defraying its necessary expenses. The State Fairs, Fat Stock Shows, and Farmers' Institute meetings in the congressional districts of the State, are all held under the auspices of this board. The gathering, compiling and publishing of information concerning the condition and yield of the principal crops raised in the State, during the growing seasons and immediately after the harvest, is also the work of this board. It may be said that in every instance the appropriation has been small when compared with the importance and magnitude of the work involved and the great good accomplished through the well-directed energy and prudence of the gentlemen comprising the board. In no instance, I believe, have the annual appropriations exceeded $14,800, and $100 to each congressional district, this latter sum being for the purpose of defraying the expenses of farmers' institute meetings. This money, I am satisfied, has been wisely and judiciously expended. The board has fully met the expectations of the people, and the interests of Agriculture, horticulture, manufactures and the domestic arts have been greatly promoted by its intelligent action and ardent zeal in carrying out the purpose and objects of the law.

Since the organization of the board in 1853, it has disbursed $1,043,589, the greater portion of which sum is the proceeds from state fairs, fat stock shows, and other like sources. This large sum has been wisely, and, it is believed, profitably expended, and in consequence, agriculture and all kindred pursuits have been largely benefited. I recommend that reasonable appropriations be made to enable the board to continue the good work in which it is now engaged.

LIVE STOCK COMMISSION.

The live stock interests of Illinois is greater, perhaps, than that of any other state, and well merits the enactment of wise laws for its protection and encouragement. The returns for the year 1890, show that the assessed valuation of the domestic animals of the State aggregate, in round numbers, $47,000,000, which is one-third of the assessed valuation of the entire personal property of the State. A realization of the vastness of this interest, coupled with the fact that the geographical position of our State is such that it is made the natural gateway for the live stock traffic of the great grazing districts of the west, whereby our own domestic animals are greatly exposed to infectious and contagious diseases, induced the Thirty-fifth General Assembly to establish a board of Live Stock Commissioners. This law was amended by the Thirty-sixth General Assembly, and its provisions are now ample, it is thought, to enable the board to protect this great and rapidly developing industry.

For years the much dreaded Texas fever, about the real nature of which but little is known, save that native cattle exposed to the fresh trail of southern cattle are condemned to almost certain death, has annually depleted the herds of this State. As a result of investigations and experiments made by the board, rules and regulations have been by them formulated and adopted for the safe conduct of the immense traffic in Texas and southern cattle, into or through this State during the seasons of the year when danger is to be apprehended, which rules the Thirty-sixth General Assembly enacted into law. A rigid and successful enforcement of these rules during the last year has kept the State practically free from the ravages of this disease. The board has protected our herds from other contagious diseases, and it is believed also that the health of the people has in many instances been preserved by them. Within two years this board has condemned, slaughtered and destroyed for human food, no less than 2,548 head of cattle infected with actinomycosis, or lumpy jaw, a contagious disease which is capable of being communicated to other animals and to man.

I can not enter into a full discussion of the work that has been and is now being done by this board. But for a full history of its proceedings during the last two years I respectfully refer you to its report, which will be, in due time, laid before you. The effective work accomplished by the board in protecting the great live stock interest of the State fully justifies the wisdom of the General Assembly in the passage of the laws now upon the statute books and in making the liberal appropriations that have heretofore been placed at the disposal of the board, which appropriations, I am convinced, have been applied in the most economical manner consistent with an efficient discharge of its important duties.

It will be seen from the report referred to, what appropriations are required at the hands of the present General Assembly. The amounts asked for seem reasonable, and will be needed, I am convinced, if the efficiency and usefulness of the board is to be continued, and I, therefore, recommend that they be allowed.

BUREAU OF LABOR STATISTICS.

This is an era of official inquiry and investigation, and it is made so by a demand from every side for trustworthy information on which to base both legislation and intelligent opinion. It has thus happened that within recent years, all the more progressive states, as well as the federal government in its wider sphere, have established bureaus of statistics, and as the great problem of the day is the industrial one, these bureaus are especially commissioned to procure and publish statistical information on the condition of labor in the various states, and the country at large.

Illinois has not been behind other states in recognizing the value of impartial investigations in this field, and the bureau of Illinois is undoubtedly making contributions of material value to the statistics of the State and the country.

The report to be submitted to the present legislature, consists of an extended statistical presentation of the individual earnings of the coal miners of the State as shown by the pay rolls of the principal coal companies. This affords a broad basis of fact on which to formulate correct opinions and such legislation as the welfare of these industrious and worthy citizens may demand.

In the second division of this report will be found statistics relating to the private indebtedness of the people as shown by the court records of judgments rendered and of mortgages foreclosed. This feature is supplemental to the statistics of mortgages compiled for the last report of this bureau. And in connection with the indebtedness thus shown as resting upon the land of the State, statistics have, for the first time, been prepared, showing the actual value of the land as found in the records of deeds, made in the several counties.

This Bureau also publishes annually, a compendium of the reports of the State inspectors of coal mines, containing very full information concerning the mineral resources of the State, the number, distribution and condition of mines, the prices of coal, the wages of miners and the conditions upon which they work.

The organization and maintenance of this bureau of economic information is entirely creditable to the State, and I doubt not, the members of both houses will recognize the wisdom of making liberal provisions for its future usefulness.

I call attention to what I said to the 36th General Assembly on the question of labor, and again urge that suitable legislation be had so as to secure to labor its just rewards.

THE ILLINOIS NATIONAL GUARD.

The strength of the Illinois National Guard is nearly 4,000, which is the limit allowed by law. This force is organized into two brigades, each brigade comprising three infantry regiments of twelve companies each and a battery of light artillery. At the close of the last encampment, which occurred in the summer of 1889, it had reached a high state of discipline and its general condition was perhaps never better than it was at that time. The 36th General Assembly very unwisely, it seems to me, greatly reduced the appropriation from what it had formerly been, and for this reason it was found impossible to hold the regular annual encampment for the year 1890.

Without any disparagement to this fine military organization, or the officers or men composing it, I feel sure that those who are in a position to know.

will agree with me when I say that the failure to hold an encampment for that year has had a discouraging and demoralizing effect upon both officers and men, and that the interest, discipline and general condition of the troops are not what they would have been had the regular encampment been held, and the men given the usual instruction and drill. I wish to say plainly, but with much earnestness, that if the general efficiency of the Illinois National Guard is to be maintained, provision must be made for holding annual encampments, where the different organizations composing it can be instructed and drilled, and where they will receive a military discipline that will prepare them to meet all emergencies and to act with promptness and decision when called upon to aid the civil authorities in the execution of the laws and the preservation of the public peace. Unless provision is made for these annual encampments, officers and men alike will lose all interest in the National Guard, enlistments will cease and disintegration and disorganization will soon follow. I submit, is it wise: is it safe in the highest, best sense: is it economical to allow this to happen?

It is proper that the people should demand that the laws in times of peace be executed by the civil authorities, and this is exactly what the statutes of Illinois provides shall be done. When the local authorities, the civil officers elected by the people, find themselves unable to execute the laws and preserve the peace, they are authorized to call upon the Executive, and he, in turn, calls to their aid the military, which is required to act in strict subordination to the civil authorities. So far as I am aware, there is no complaint among the people against this mode of preserving the peace. There are but few who are willing to resist the execution of the law when it is made apparent that resistance would be useless. Therefore the moral effect produced by the presence, or even the existence of the military, is generally sufficient to enable the civil authorities to preserve the peace without any resort to force.

Previous to 1887, there were just complaints that the functions of the civil officers of the State were being usurped by irresponsible and unauthorized bodies of private detectives, which fact induced the 35th General Assembly, acting upon the suggestion of my predecessor, to pass a law forbidding, under heavy penalties, the arming and parading of all such persons and their assumption to act as officers of the peace without warrant of law. This act has had the effect to remedy this evil, and since that time the enforcement of the law and the preservation of the peace have been committed, where they belong, to the duly constituted civil authorities of the State. And so long as these conditions exist, there will be no complaints, I predict, on the part of the people, even should it become necessary occasionally to call on the military to aid the civil authorities in the discharge of their duties, providing the military is subordinated to the civil authorities by wise laws enacted by the people for that purpose.

The able and exhaustive report of the Adjutant General will give you full particulars as to the condition and wants of this organization. The appropriations asked for in the report seem reasonable, and I recommend that they be allowed. The report also contains many wise suggestions looking to the future efficiency and usefulness of the Guard, which suggestions I commend to your most favorable consideration.

THE FISH COMMISSION.

The 35th General Assembly very wisely enacted a law enlarging the scope and powers of the Fish Commission and repealing all other laws in conflict with the same. This law has greatly aided the Commission in the prosecution of its work. It has had the effect to encourage the propagation and cultivation of fish in all the waters of the State and has also greatly aided in their protection. With proper encouragement on the part of the General Assembly, in the way of reasonable appropriations, the fish supply of the State can be greatly increased, thus furnishing the masses of our people a healthful and most excellent food.

THE BOARDS OF PHARMACY AND DENTAL EXAMINERS.

The Boards of Pharmacy, and Dental Examiners, are both self-sustaining, and therefore do not require any appropriation at the hands of the General Assembly. The laws creating these boards and under which each is discharging its proper functions, have for their object the public good, and rest on both reason and experience. These boards are necessary agencies in the preservation of the public health. Each in its own way is accomplishing much good and deserves the continued encouragement of the General Assembly.

The present condition of these boards and the work accomplished by each since the last session of the General Assembly, can readily be found by an examination of their last biennial reports.

EDUCATION AND EDUCATIONAL INSTITUTIONS.

The estimated value of school property in the State at the present time is, in round numbers, $27,000,000. The total expenditures for maintaining the schools of the State from July, 1889, to July, 1890, amounted to $12,000,000. This latter sum was expended in the purchase of furniture and apparatus, in paying teachers, building school houses, making improvements, and in the purchase of books for poor children and for district libraries.

It is well understood that a large share of this large sum is taken by the State from the pockets of those who have no children of their own to be educated, and is justified only on the ground that all are, politically, at least, interested in the intellectual and moral development of each. If it is the duty of the taxpayer to bear this heavy burden, then there is a corresponding duty resting upon the State to see to it that the money is wisely and judiciously expended. How then can this duty be discharged unless the power to regulate the schools and to compel the attendance of children is exercised by the State? Unless the State has this power, it seems clear it has no moral or political right to levy taxes for school purposes at all. It must be manifest to all that if any considerable number of children are permitted to remain out of school, and to grow up in vice and ignorance through the neglect or indifference of those having control over them, then the State is not discharging its duty to the taxpayer by making the best possible use of the money it compels him to pay. With an earnest desire to remedy any defects that might exist in the school laws of the State respecting these matters the General Assembly passed what is known as the compulsory education law, whereby children between the ages of seven and fourteen years are required to attend some public or private school for at least sixteen weeks in each school year. Experience has shown that this law has been of great benefit not only to the public schools, but likewise to the private and parochial schools of the State. In 1888 there were 1,118,472 children in the State, of a school-going age, only 751,349 of whom were enrolled in the public schools, and 100,465 in the private schools, leaving 266,658 children who did not attend schools of any kind during that period. From general statistics at hand, I am convinced that at least one-half of the last named, or 133,329 children, were between the ages of seven and fourteen years, and should have attended some school, but did not.

Taking the statistics for the year ending June, 1890, there was a gain in the enrollment over the preceding year, of 16,454. In view of the character of the last winter, the bad roads and the prevalence of epidemics, this is certainly a very satisfactory showing. The increase in the attendance of pupils in the public schools during the last year is 20 per cent. of all the increase during the last ten years. That is, the increase for the last year is just double the average increase.

The private and parochial schools have been benefited by the law as well as the public schools. According to the available statistics, the number of pupils attending private and parochial schools from the year 1888 to the year 1889, had diminished. But from the year 1889 to the year 1890, there was an increase of such attendance, of 6,729.

This large increase in the attendance upon our schools must be very gratifying to the friends of education throughout the State. And it must be apparent to all from what I have said that this desirable result is mainly, if not entirely, due to the compulsory education law. There is no design on the part of the friends of this law to deal harshly or unjustly with the private or parochial schools, but rather to advance the cause of education by benefiting all of the schools of the State.

It is conceded, however, by all, that the law needs to be amended, since by its enforcement injustice, it is thought, has been caused in some instances. The law being a new one, perfection was scarcely to be expected, and that it should need amendment ought to occasion no surprise. Perfection in laws comes only after long trial and experiment. It is not claimed that the law is perfect, and nobody is more willing to amend it than its friends.

I conclude, therefore, that the general effect of the law has been good, and that in its essential features it should be maintained: but it should be amended so as to remove all just causes of complaint on the part of any of the citizens of the State.

The standard of excellence respecting our public schools is doubtless better than at any former period in the history of our State, and this result is largely due to the ability and efficiency of our present Superintendent of Public Instruction. This condition of our schools must be very gratifying, indeed, to the friends of popular education. The University of Illinois, located at Champaign, and the two normal schools, are in a thriving and prosperous condition, and they have, by the good work accomplished, fully vindicated the wisdom of the State in their establishment and support.

Closely connected with the educational institutions of the State stands the historical library, provided for by act of the last General Assembly. The library board, which has been appointed, is now fully organized and has already accomplished considerable in the way of establishing a library, such as is contemplated by the law. I recommend that further assistance be granted so as to enable the board to continue its work. The report of the board contains much valuable and interesting information, and will furnish facts sufficient for intelligent action on the part of the General Assembly.

REPORTS OF THE STATE OFFICERS.

The reports of the Secretary of State, Attorney General, Auditor of Public Accounts, Treasurer, and Superintendent of Public Instruction, contain much valuable information, and from them you will be advised respecting the condition of their offices. The respective terms for which the Superintendent of Public Instruction and Treasurer were elected, having expired, my official relations with them are closed. I cannot, however, allow myself to separate from them without testifying to the faithful, efficient and fearless manner with which they have discharged every public duty.

Various and responsible duties have from time to time been cast by law upon the Auditor of Public Accounts: duties that do not, it would seem, properly belong to his office. In addition to his ordinary duties as Auditor, this officer is required to look after that large and ever increasing insurance business of the State; also the inspection of banks incorporated under our statute. Thus three offices have, in effect, been combined in one. That a proper discharge of the duties of bank inspector and commissioner of insurance requires some special training or qualifications, will be conceded by all who are in any way familiar with these subjects. Many of the states have separated these offices, and I recommend that a similar law be enacted by the present General Assembly, providing for the election or appointment of a commissioner of insurance and bank inspector, and that such officer be required to perform all the duties that are now required of the Auditor respecting the insurance business of the State and the inspection of banks. I think it will be found that the fees earned by the office will make it self-sustaining, not only defraying the ordinary expenses for conducting the office, but will also pay the salary of the incumbent. Recent developments in the State prove the necessity for such an officer. The office for the transaction of the business should be located either at Springfield or in the principal city of the State where the bulk of the insurance and banking business is transacted. The State of Missouri, has, I am informed, located the office of commissioner of insurance at the city of St. Louis.

Proper vouchers for all money paid out by the Governor from funds subject to his order, will be found on file in the office of the Auditor of Public Accounts.

I submit for your consideration, the following:

ESTIMATES OF APPROPRIATION FOR THE YEARS 1891 AND 1892.

Legislative Department	$280,000
For the Executive Department, composed of the offices of Governor, Secretary of State, Auditor, Treasurer, Attorney General, salaries and expenses; also salaries and expenses of the several State boards, including Railroad and Warehouse, Canal, Labor, Live Stock, and Fish Commission; State Board of Agriculture, State Board of Equalization, State Board of Charities, and State Board of Health; State Entomologist, Mine Inspector and State Agents at Stock Yards	520,000

For State Board of Health, contingent fund	10,000
For Live Stock Commission, contingent fund	100,000
Awards of Claims Commission	8,682

THE CLAIMS COMMISSION.

The Thirty-sixth General Assembly provided by law for the appointment by the Governor of a commission to hear and determine those claims against the State, which formerly found no other tribunal than the legislature itself, where the opportunity for their impartial consideration was not, it is believed, so good as would be enjoyed by a court established for the purpose. In this step our State but imitated the prudence of the general government and many of our sister States, which have long had commissions of this character; and the experience of the past two years has, I think, justified the wisdom which prompted the General Assembly to provide for this tribunal. The evidence in support of claims which have been heard by the able board of commissioners appointed has been, undoubtedly, more carefully examined and more thoroughly sifted than a busy General Assembly could possibly have found time to do in the bustle and heat of a session, and the ends reached are more in harmony with justice. A class of speculative claims, which could hope for no status before a tribunal thus organized and proceeding according to legal forms, are, by such a regulation, placed where they will cease to annoy the General Assembly, to the expedition of legitimate legislative business.

The Claims Commission has, since its organization, allowed an aggregate of claims amounting to $8,682.00, which sum I recommend be appropriated for the payment of the several adjudicated claims embraced in the amount.

RAILROAD AND WAREHOUSE COMMISSION.

The able report of the Railroad and Warehouse Commission will be found to contain much information of a practical character, which cannot but prove of great interest to the people of the State, and particularly instructive to those who make the laws. The limits of this communication do not permit me to comment in detail upon the important matters and wise suggestions contained in this report. I cannot, however, refrain from expressing my hearty endorsement of those suggestions and recommendations which call for the passage of such laws as will secure greater safety to employes in the operation of railway trains and also increase security to the traveling public. Particularly am I impressed with what is said in this report upon the necessity of providing by statute for some way in which the great number of grade crossings in Illinois may be guarded by late and appropriate appliances, thus reducing the liability of accidents by collision of trains at such points, to the lowest possible minimum. I mention this particular subject, which will be found ably discussed in the report in question, because it bears so directly upon the public welfare and appeals to us all on the side of humanity. The entire report will be read by you, and its minor suggestions will no doubt, receive from you the consideration their importance deserves without a separate mention of each in this message, which is not practicable.

THE ILLINOIS CENTRAL RAILROAD.

The Illinois Central railroad sustains such special relations to the State government of Illinois, in addition to those important relations it shares in common with all other roads of the State, that its affairs may properly be made the subject of special mention in this message.

Under the wise provisions which retained to the State, in consideration of the franchise and valuable lands granted to this company, an interest to the extent of 7 per cent. of the gross earnings of the road, to be paid annually into the State treasury, there has been paid to the State, as is told, for the years from 1855 to 1890, inclusive, the sum of $12,365,618.27. Upon the $40,000,000 of capital stock of the company paid in, there was paid as dividends in the same period, the sum of $64,782,357.75, showing that an amount slightly exceeding 19 per cent. of the total paid as dividends on such $40,000,000 of paid in stock has been turned into the State treasury; or a sum equal to 16.03 per cent. of the whole sum paid both to the State and upon stock. The last year, the State's 7 per cent. of gross earnings paid, amounted to $486,281.13, and on said $40,000,000 of stock were distributed as dividends, $2,400,000, the State's portion being nearly 1 per cent. of the whole amount so paid. The showing for the last six months, ending October 31, 1890, gives the State as its 7 per cent. of earnings, $257,219.33, or at a rate which would make the income of the State from this source over half a million per year, exceeding in amount any other half year in the history of the road. The last year as a whole has yielded the State a larger revenue than any other year except 1865, which, coming in a period of war prices and inflation, hardly constitutes a fair comparison. On the whole, I think, the rapid increase of the State revenues from this source in late years, rising as they have from $367,788.92 in 1885, to $486,281.13 in 1890, presents an encouraging prospect and speaks well for the efficiency of the present management of the company, under which, if continued, we may reasonably expect the annual revenue of the State from this source will not hereafter fall below a half million dollars. The further building of new competing lines of railroad, such as have of late years greatly reduced the gross earnings of the road below what they would otherwise have been, having now almost entirely ceased

There seems cause to hope for a gradual and healthy growth in the revenue of the lines in which the State will share with the owners of the stock.

THE ILLINOIS AND MICHIGAN CANAL.

The report of the commissioners, soon to be printed and laid before you, will furnish full and explicit information concerning the operation and present condition of the Illinois and Michigan canal. The earnings for the last two years amount to $183,654.17. The total expenses for the same period amount to $170,646.27. On the 1st day of December, 1890, there was on hand $76,333.03, out of which sum there have been paid the monthly expenses for November of that year, amounting to $7,200, which sum, together with the debts now being incurred for rebuilding aqueducts will reduce the sum on hand to about $60,000. Unless the usual contingent fund of $20,000 per annum is appropriated it is believed by the commissioners that it would be unwise to reduce the amount in the treasury much below what it now is. It has been the policy of former General Assemblies, to keep on hand a large contingent fund so as to enable the commissioners successfully to meet railroad competition and other contingencies likely to arise. It may be here stated, however, that in no instance has it been found necessary, I believe, to use any portion of this contingent fund and the same has uniformly lapsed.

The net earnings of the canal for the past two years amount to $5,807.90. This sum would have been much larger had it not been for the fact that expensive and much needed improvements have been recently made. It may be remarked that these improvements are of a substantial and permanent character.

The commissioners, in their report, represent that the lock gates at Henry and those at Copperas Creek are in bad condition and will have to be replaced with new ones, and that a new miter sill is very much needed at the latter place. Special appropriations are thought necessary for these improvements unless the usual contingent fund is provided for.

This canal, in connection with the Illinois river, constitutes a system of water communication through our State and largely reduces freight rates along its line. The affairs of this great public highway have been, during the past two years, wisely and economically managed, and it is well worth the support and encouragement it receives at the hands of the State.

I will cause the report of the commissioners to be printed and in due time placed before you.

STATE BOARD OF HEALTH.

The State Board of Health has proved an efficient agency in the preservation of the public health. The able and prudent manner in which its affairs have been conducted during the past two years, entitle it to the renewed confidence of the people and the continued support of the General Assembly. In recent years much time has been devoted by the board to an examination of the water supply of the State and the pollution of its streams. A thorough study of the Illinois river basin has been made with a view to sanitary engineering, and the pollution of that stream by Chicago sewage has been the subject of continued investigation and consideration.

With the exception of the influenza, to a study of which disease the board devoted much time and thought, the health of the State has been unusually good. Diphtheria, scarlet fever and typhoid fever have prevailed at times in certain localities in the State, but were generally brought under control when the instructions of the board were obeyed. In many cases, the advice of the board was wholly disregarded and as a result, a spread of the disease usually followed. The law should be amended so as to make it obligatory upon the local authorities to report promptly all diseases of this character to the Board of Health. A law of this kind would enable the board to act promptly and efficiently in checking the spread of contagious diseases.

In addition to its other duties, the board has given considerable of its time and attention to the work of elevating the standard of the medical profession in the State, and as a result the interests of the afflicted have been conserved by driving from active practice many who were not qualified to belong to this highly useful and honorable profession.

The able reports made by the board from time to time contain valuable facts and statistics, and to these I respectfully refer you for more exact and complete information touching this very interesting and important subject.

The contingent fund appropriated by the last General Assembly has remained untouched, which proves that the board has conducted its affairs with prudence and economy. The usual appropriation is asked for at the hands of the present General Assembly, and I do not see how it can be reduced without impairing the efficiency of the board.

THE WORLD'S COLUMBIAN EXPOSITION.

I invite your attention to the legislation which may be necessary to provide that Illinois may be represented in an appropriate exhibit at the great World's Columbian Exposition, which will be held in the city of Chicago in 1893. Although the next succeeding session of the General Assembly would in regular constitutional course be sitting some time before the opening of this fair, it would not be wise to leave any portion of the work required to that body. All needed preparations must be made long before it would be practicable to secure legislation from the General Assembly which will meet in January, 1893. I think it would be wise, perhaps, to raise a committee in each house, charged with the work of framing and reporting such legislation as may be deemed necessary touching this subject.

I cannot, I feel, too strongly press upon your notice the great importance that Illinois should rise to an appreciation of the opportunity this exhibition will afford her of showing to an audience comprising the entire world, the great extent of her natural resources and the wonders of her industrial progress. We have been highly honored by the selection of our metropolis by the lake as the seat of an exhibition which is to commemorate an event in which continents and hemispheres have a common part and interest. There should be no jealousies of section against section, of country against city, which would prevent this occasion being met by our commonwealth in a spirit worthy of the greatness of the historical event to be commemorated, and worthy too, of her own brilliant and matchless history. Only seventy-three years ago, Illinois, then but a rich wilderness, entered the Federal Union, with a population so sparse as scarcely to attract the attention of the census taker two years later. Her great metropolis, now the site of what will undoubtedly prove the greatest exhibition the world has yet seen, was not for twenty years after the admission of the State, dreamed of as a great city. It illustrates well the possibilities of development which man, under the benign influence of free popular institutions, is able to achieve, that now a city of this infant commonwealth has been selected as the most appropriate spot on which to commemorate an event, the wonderful results of which are shared by the entire race.

It affords me pleasure to place upon record in this public manner my entire confidence in the management of this great enterprise. In the joint selection by the World's Fair Directory and the National Commission, of the Hon. George R. Davis, as Director General of the Exposition, a guaranty has been given that no advantage which can accrue from untiring industry, high integrity and a broad statesman-like comprehension of the true office and significance of the exposition in all its domestic and foreign relations, can now possibly be wanting. Such a selection invites and ought to secure, the confidence of all.

Illinois' exhibit at this exposition should be a miniature of the State herself. It should show what we have done, what we now are, and what we have resources yet to accomplish in all departments of laudable human activity. Through the medium of such an exhibit we shall become known to all the world, and better known to ourselves, and the influence can but prove salutary and lasting upon our industries, our commerce and the intellectual and moral development of our people.

I have noted with mingled pride and satisfaction, the measures which have been wisely adopted to bring into the joint management of this exposition a large and representative body of American women, who are expected to give special attention to whatever appertains to the part and work of their own sex in the activities and civilization of the world. There is in this a peculiar propriety. If America enjoys one distinction more creditable to her than any of the other numerous points of her departure from old world ideas, that distinction is found in the universal respect here paid to the character of women, and the liberal share here accorded them in shaping the thought, the morals and the institutions of our republic. It is only necessary to add that every such broadening of woman's activity has been thrice justified by results.

To the needs of the women's department of the exposition, which is in wise hands, I invite your attention not less earnestly than to the rest; and without advocating specific measures or particular appropriations for any purpose, the available facts not being sufficient to enable me to do so intelligently at this time, I advise you to hear fully such committees as may be entrusted by the different boards of management, to present before you matters of detail out of which you will be able to evolve suitable legislation to secure the great object in view.

I venture, however, specifically to suggest that no more competent and appropriate agency could be found to be entrusted with the work of preparing an exhibit of our State than the State Board of Agriculture. This body is non-partisan and is highly representative, being composed of one member from each congressional district of the State, chosen by the agricultural boards of such districts. The work of preparing for this exhibit will be in line with the work this board has had to do in managing our State fairs and shows of stock, in which work the members have displayed marked ability and gained a valuable experience. The members of the board enjoy the largest measure of public confidence, and the successful management of previous important enterprises amply insures that the interests of our State can not suffer in their hands, and that any funds placed at their disposal will be wisely and economically expended.

THE BALLOT.

There seems to be a well-grounded belief prevailing among the people that votes are bought and sold at the polls, and that other frauds are committed against the ballot whereby the will of the majority is sometimes defeated. It is believed, also, that these crimes are frequently connived at by those claiming a large share of the public confidence, not unfrequently by the beneficiaries of the wrongs committed.

The consequences of ordinary crimes are necessarily confined to a few victims, while he who, by whatever means, commits a fraud upon the ballot, corrupts and poisons political power in its very sources and strikes a blow at the foundations of our free institutions. Severe penalties should be denounced against all such, and they should be brought to speedy punishment.

With the unusual good feeling now existing throughout the State, patriotic men of all parties, will, I trust, unite in the passage of some law that will place a check upon fraud and insure fair elections.

I have heretofore called attention to the fact that it is made by statute unlawful in this State for an elector to sell his vote, and that the statute denounces no penalty against the more guilty and dangerous party who plies the trade of corrupting voters with money. These latter are really more dangerous to society than the man who sells his single vote. The buyer of votes operates in a larger field; he is the more active agent in crime, and usually represents accomplices of wealth and influence. Justice and policy alike require that this law be changed, and if it becomes necessary in order to secure convictions, that either should escape, let it be the more ignorant and less responsible offender who sells his vote. I suggest that the law be amended so as to make both parties equally punishable, giving to the prosecutor, when necessary to secure convictions, a discretionary power to say which offender shall be proceeded against, and making the one not prosecuted a competent witness.

There was introduced into the 36th General Assembly, a bill embodying the essential features of what is known as the Australian system of voting. But the General Assembly hesitated, and finally refused to pass the measure because the law was a new one, I am persuaded, and had not been sufficiently tested in this country. Since that time, a number of States have passed laws slightly differing in most instances from each other, but all embodying the main features contained in the bill introduced into the 36th General Assembly. These laws, it is reported, have worked well in the States adopting them, and I therefore recommend the passage of a similar law by the present General Assembly. Great care, however, should be taken to make the system of voting as plain and simple as possible, in order that the uneducated and more ignorant will find no difficulty in understanding it. It is believed that these measures, if adopted, will tend greatly to purify the ballot and secure fair elections.

CONCLUSION.

Having measurably complied with the requirements of the constitution, in conclusion I express the belief that your deliberations will be guided by wisdom, moderation and patriotism, and that the benefits to result from your wise councils will raise our beloved commonwealth to a yet higher standard of industrial and moral excellence. Upon your labors I invoke the considerate judgment of your fellow citizens and the gracious favor of Almighty God.

JOSEPH W. FIFER.

The foregoing message was read at large by the Secretary of the Senate.

Upon its completion, Mr. Fuller offered the following resolution, which was adopted:

Resolved, That a committee of five Senators be appointed by the President of the Senate to report as to the reference and printing of the Governor's message.

INTRODUCTION OF BILLS.

Mr. Hunt introduced a bill, Senate Bill No. 20, for "An act making appropriation for the payment of the employés of the Thirty-seventh General Assembly."

On motion of Mr. Hunt, the rules were suspended and the bill was read at large a first time, and,

On motion of Mr. Hunt, was ordered to a second reading and to be printed.

AT 11:45 O'CLOCK A. M.,

Mr. Humphrey moved to take a recess until 1:45 o'clock P. M., which motion prevailed.

1:45 O'CLOCK P. M.

The Senate resumed the transaction of business.

Hon. Lyman B. Ray, President of the Senate, presiding.

After a few minutes of rest, the President of the Senate announced that the House of Representatives was ready to receive the Senate in joint session to canvass the election returns for State officers held November 4, 1890.

In accordance with the foregoing announcement and the joint resolution this day adopted, the Senate, preceded by the President and the Secretary thereof, repaired to the Hall of the House of Representatives to canvass the returns of the vote for State officers held last November, 1890.

JOINT SESSION.

The joint session being convened, the Speaker of the House of Representatives presiding, he announced that the business in order was the canvassing of the returns of votes cast at the last election, for State officers, held on Tuesday, November 4, A. D. 1890, as provided for in the constitution of the State, and by the joint resolution adopted by both branches of the General Assembly.

By order of the President of the Senate, the Secretary of the Senate called the roll of the Senate, whereupon the following answered to their names, Messrs.:

Allen,	Chapman,	Hamer,	Mahoney,	Seibert,
Anderson,	Coppinger,	Higbee,	Manecke,	Sheets,

WHEREAS. It appears from the report of Charles Becker, ex-State Treasurer of the State of Illinois, bearing date November the 1st, 1890, that there was a total surplus in the State Treasury on the 1st day of October, 1888, of $3,839,217.22; and

WHEREAS. It appears by said report that the receipts from all sources from the first day of October, 1888, to the thirtieth day of September, 1890, inclusive, was $10,421,335.39, which sum added to said surplus makes $14,260,552.61; and

WHEREAS. It further appears by said report that the entire disbursements from October the 1st, 1888, to September the 30th, 1890, inclusive, was $9,815,084.62, leaving a balance in the State Treasury on the first day of October, 1890, of $4,445,467.99; and

WHEREAS. It further appears by said report that the taxes levied and collected by the proper officers of the State have been largely in excess of the appropriations made, or the public wants of the State; and

WHEREAS. It was charged that said surplus, or portions thereof, was being deposited in certain banks, and that said Treasurer received large sums of money in consideration of such deposits which the Treasurer has not accounted for or turned into the State Treasury; therefore, be it

Resolved, by the Senate of the 37th General Assembly, That a committee of seven Senators be appointed by the President of the Senate, with full power to make thorough investigation into the foregoing subjects, with power to subpoena, swear and examine books, records, vouchers, certificates and all papers appertaining thereto, and employ clerk of such committee, and make report of such investigation to this body.

MESSAGE FROM THE HOUSE.

A message from the House, by Mr. W. B. Morris, Second Assistant Clerk:

Mr. President: I am directed to inform the Senate that the House of Representatives has concurred with them in the passage of two bills of the following titles, to-wit:

Senate Bill No. 1, a bill for "An act to provide for the incidental expenses of the 37th General Assembly of the State of Illinois, and for the care and custody of the State House and grounds, incurred or to be incurred, and now unprovided for."

Passed by the House January 16, 1891, with an emergency clause.

Senate Bill No. 2, a bill for "An act to provide for the necessary expenses of the State Government, incurred or to be incurred, for the public printing, and now unprovided for until the first day of July, A. D. 1891."

Passed by the House January 16, 1891, with an emergency clause.

W. H. HINRICHSEN,

Clerk of the House of Representatives.

At 5:10 o'clock P. M., on motion of Mr. Fuller, the Senate adjourned until 10 o'clock to-morrow morning.

TUESDAY, JANUARY 20, 1891—10 O'CLOCK A. M.

Senate met, pursuant to adjournment,

Hon. Lyman B. Ray, President of the Senate, presiding.

Prayer by the chaplain.

The journal of yesterday was read, and it was ordered to stand approved.

JOINT RULES.

Mr. Thomas, from the Committee on Joint Rules, made the following report, to-wit:

1. When a message shall be sent from the Senate to the House of Representatives, it shall be announced at the door of the House by the Doorkeeper, and shall be respectfully communicated to the Chair by the person by whom it may be sent.

2. The same ceremony shall be observed when messages shall be sent from the House of Representatives to the Senate.

3. Messages shall be sent by such persons as a sense of propriety in each House may determine to be proper.

4. In every case of disagreement between the two houses, if either house requests a conference, and appoints a committee for that purpose, the other house shall appoint a committee to confer therewith upon the subject of their disagreement. Said committee shall meet at a convenient time to be agreed upon by their chairman, and having conferred freely, each shall report to its respective house the result of their conference. In case of an agreement, the report shall be first made, with the papers referred accompanying it, to the disagreeing house, and there acted upon; and such action shall be immediately reported by the clerk to the other house, the papers referred accompanying the message. In case of disagreement the papers shall remain with the house which referred them. The agreeing report of a conference committee shall be made, read, and signed in duplicate by all members of the committee, or by a majority of those of each house, one of the duplicates being retained by the committee of each house. Should either house disagree to the report of the committee, such house shall appoint a second committee, and request a second conference, which shall be acceded to by the other house before adhering. The motion for a committee of conference, and the report of such committee shall be in order at any time. When both houses shall have adhered to their disagreement, a bill or resolution is lost.

5. While bills are on their passage between the two houses, they shall be accompanied by a message signed by the Secretary or Clerk (as the case may be) respectively.

6. After a bill has passed both houses it shall be enrolled before it is presented to the Governor.

7. When bills are enrolled they shall be examined by a joint committee, which shall consist of five members, two from the Senate and three from the House, to be appointed by the President of the Senate and Speaker of the House, respectively. The clerk of the committee on engrossed and enrolled bills of the respective houses shall act as clerks of the committee whenever their services are required. Said committee shall carefully compare the enrolled bills with the engrossed bills so passed by both houses, correct any errors which may be discovered in the enrolled bills, and make their report forthwith to their respective houses; the Secretary or Clerk having previously certified on the margin of the roll in which house it originated.

8. After examination and report, each bill shall be signed in the respective houses, first by the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and then by the President of the Senate.

9. After a bill shall have been signed by the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives, it shall be presented by said joint committee to the Governor for his approval. The said committee shall report the day of presentation to the Governor, to each house, which time shall be carefully entered on the journals of each house.

10. All resolutions and memorials which are to be presented to the Governor shall be previously enrolled, examined, signed and presented by the joint committee, reported, and entry thereof made, as provided in case of bills.

11. When a bill or resolution which shall have passed one house is rejected in the other, information thereof shall be given to the house in which the same shall have passed.

12. When the consideration of any bill, memorial or resolution which has originated in one house shall be postponed in the other to a day so distant that it will not be taken up again by the present session, the house in which such bill, memorial or resolution shall have originated, shall be forthwith informed of such postponement.

13. When a bill, memorial or resolution which has passed one house is rejected in the other, it shall not again be introduced during the same session except in the house so rejecting, and after three days' notice and leave of that house.

14. Each house shall transmit to the other all papers on which any bill or resolution shall be founded.

15. While the two houses are acting together upon elections or any other matter, the Speaker shall preside, and all questions of order shall be decided by him, subject to an appeal to both houses, as though but one body was in session. A call of members of either house may be had in joint meeting by order of the house in which the call is desired.

16. Motions to postpone or adjourn shall be decided by a joint vote of both houses, and yeas and nays upon such motions, if required, shall be entered upon the journals of both houses.

17. Upon questions arising requiring the separate decision of either house, the Senate shall withdraw until the decision is made: Provided. That questions upon motions for a call of either house shall not come within the provisions of this rule.

18. Each house shall have the liberty of ordering the printing of bills, messages and reports, without the consent of the other.

19. Whenever any message, bill, report or document shall be ordered to be printed by the Senate or House, for the use of both houses, it shall be the duty of the Secretary of the Senate or Clerk of the House, (as the case may be), immediately to report the fact of the passage of such order to the other branch of the General Assembly, together with the number so ordered to be printed, in case the same shall exceed three hundred.

Mr. Kerrick offered the following amendment, which was adopted, viz.:

Amend Rule 15 by adding thereto the following:

“And to constitute a quorum of the joint assembly upon any question, a majority of all the members elected to both houses shall be present and voting.”

SPECIAL ORDER.

10:15 o'clock A. M.

The hour of 10:15 o'clock A. M. having arrived, the President of the Senate announced it as the time for the special order, being the further consideration of the following joint resolution, received from the House of Representatives, January 13, 1891, to-wit:

Resolved. by the House of Representatives, the Senate concurring herein, That on Tuesday, the 20th day of January, instant, at 11 o'clock A. M., each House shall by itself and in the manner prescribed by sections 14 and 15 of the revised statutes of the United States, name a person for Senator in Congress of the United States from the State of Illinois, for a term of six years, from the 4th day of March, A. D. 1891. And on Wednesday, the 21st day of January, instant, at 12 o'clock meridian, the members of the two houses shall convene in joint assembly in the hall of the House of Representatives, and in the manner prescribed by law declare the person who has received a majority of the votes in each House, if any person has received such majority, duly elected Senator to represent the State of Illinois in the Congress of the United States, for the term aforesaid; and if no person has received such majority, then proceed as prescribed in said law, in joint assembly, to choose a person for the purpose aforesaid.

The question being, “Shall the Senate concur in the adoption of the foregoing joint resolution?” it was decided in the affirmative.

Ordered that the Secretary of the Senate inform the House of Representatives thereof.

INTRODUCTION OF BILLS.

Mr. Hunt introduced a bill, Senate Bill No. 56, for “An act concerning the payment of employes in certain cases, and providing for the enforcement of the same.”

On motion of Mr. Hunt, the bill was read at large a first time, and,

On motion of Mr. Hunt, was referred to the Committee on Mines and Mining, when formed.

The Speaker of the House of Representatives, as the presiding officer of the joint session, announced that the roll call showed a quorum of each house to be present.

By direction of the President of the Senate, the Secretary of the Senate read that portion of the Senate journal of yesterday, January 20, 1891, which set forth the action of the Senate in naming a person for Senator in the Congress of the United States from the State of Illinois, for six years, from the 4th day of March, A. D. 1891.

By direction of the Speaker of the House of Representatives, the Clerk read that portion of the journal of the House of yesterday, January 20, 1891, which set forth the action of the House of Representatives in naming a person for Senator in the Congress of the United States from the State of Illinois, for six years from the 4th day of March, A. D., 1891.

Inasmuch as the journals of the two houses of the General Assembly showed that there had been no election of a United States Senator, from the State of Illinois, the Speaker of the House then announced the business to be the election of such United States Senator in joint assembly.

Mr. Ramsay, of Clinton, offered the following resolution, which was adopted, viz.:

Resolved, That the remarks, or speeches, to be made in placing in nomination candidates for United States Senator shall be confined to one speech in behalf of each candidate, and that no speeches, or remarks seconding any nomination shall be permitted.

Thereupon, Senator McDonald placed in nomination Hon. John M. Palmer for United States Senator.

Senator Fuller placed in nomination Hon. Richard J. Oglesby for United States Senator.

Representative Cockrell placed in nomination Hon. A. J. Streeter for United States Senator.

Thereupon, by direction of the President of the Senate, the Secretary of the Senate called the roll of the Senate for the first joint ballot for United States Senator, with the following result:

Number of votes cast	51
John M. Palmer received.....	24 votes.
Richard J. Oglesby received	27 votes.

Those voting for John M. Palmer are, Messrs.:

Mr. Hagle, from the Committee on Rules, offered the following resolution, which was read, viz.:

Resolved, That the following rules be and the same are hereby adopted as the Senate Rules:

RULES OF THE SENATE.

1. A majority of the Senate shall constitute a quorum, but a smaller number may adjourn from day to day, or for less time than one day, and compel the attendance of absent Senators.

2. The Senate shall keep a journal of its proceedings, which shall be published. At the request of two Senators the ayes and nays shall be taken on any question, and entered on the journal.

3. Any two Senators of the Senate shall have liberty to dissent and protest, in respectful language, against any act or resolution which they may think injurious to the public or to any individual, and have the reason of their dissent entered upon their journals: Provided, that when objection is made that the language of a protest is not respectful, the Senate may refer the same back to the Senators protesting.

4. The Senate may punish Senators for disorderly behavior, and, with the concurrence of two-thirds of all the Senators elected, expel a member, but not a second time for the same cause; and the reason for such expulsion shall be entered upon the journal, with the names of the Senators voting on the question.

5. The Senate, during its session, may punish, by imprisonment, any person, not a member, who shall be guilty of disrespect to the same, by any disorderly or contemptuous behavior in their presence; but such imprisonment shall not, at any time exceed twenty-four hours, unless the persons shall persist in such disorderly or contemptuous behavior.

6. The doors of the Senate shall be kept open, except in such cases as, in the opinion of the Senate, require secrecy.

7. The Senate shall not adjourn, without the consent of the House of Representatives, for more than two days, nor to any other place than that in which the two houses shall be sitting.

8. On the final passage of all bills, the vote shall be by yeas and nays, upon each bill separately, and shall be entered upon the journal; and no bill shall become a law without the concurrence of a majority of all the Senators elect.

9. Every bill shall be read at large on three different days, and the bill and all amendments shall be printed before the vote is taken on its final passage.

10. The Lieutenant-Governor shall be President of the Senate, and shall vote only when the Senate is equally divided.

DUTIES OF THE PRESIDENT.

11. The Lieutenant-Governor, or, in his absence, the President pro tempore, or, in the absence of both, any Senator called to the chair by the Senate, shall take the chair every day precisely at the hour to which the Senate shall have adjourned; shall immediately call the Senators, to order, and, on the appearance of a quorum, shall cause the journal of the preceding day to be read.

12. The presiding officer shall preserve decorum and order; may speak to points of order in preference to other members, rising from his seat for that purpose, and shall decide questions of order, subject to an appeal to the Senate by any two Senators, on which appeal no Senators shall speak more than once, unless by leave of the Senate.

13. He shall rise to put a question, but may state it sitting.

14. Questions shall be put in this form, viz: "As many as are of opinion that—(as the case may be)—say 'Aye,' " and after the affirmative vote is expressed, "As many as are of the contrary opinion, say 'No,' " If the President doubt the result of the vote, or a division be called for, the Senate shall divide; those in the affirmative shall first rise from their seats, and afterwards those in the negative.

15. The President shall examine and correct the journal before it is read; he shall have the general direction of the Senate Chamber; he shall have a right to name any Senator to perform the duties of the Chair, and such substitute shall be vested with all the powers of the President during the time he shall act as such, and shall not lose the right of voting on any question while so presiding; but such substitution shall not extend beyond two days.

16. In case of any disturbance or disorderly conduct in the lobby or gallery, the President shall have power to order the same to be cleared.

17. The President shall assign to the Sergeant-at-Arms and his assistants, and policemen and janitors, their respective duties and stations, and he may discharge any policeman, janitor or page for misconduct or neglect of duty.

DECORUM AND DEBATE.

18. When any Senator is about to speak, or deliver any matter to the Senate, he shall rise from his seat and address himself to "Mr. President," and shall confine himself to the question on debate, and avoid personalities.

19. If any Senator, in speaking (or otherwise), transgress the rules of the Senate, the President shall, or any Senator may, call him to order; in which case the Senator so called to order shall sit down, unless permitted to explain; and the Senate, if appealed to, shall decide on the case without debate. If the decision be in favor of the Senator called to order, he shall be at liberty to proceed; if otherwise, and the case require it, he shall be liable to the censure of the Senate.

20. If any Senator be called to order for words spoken in debate, the person calling him to order shall repeat the words excepted to, and they shall be taken down by the Secretary: but no Senator shall be held to answer or be subject to the censure of the Senate for words spoken in debate, if any Senator has spoken in debate or other business has intervened after the words spoken and before exceptions to them shall have been taken.

21. If two or more Senators rise at once, the President shall name the Senator who is first to speak.

22. No Senator shall speak more than twice to the same question, nor more than once until every Senator choosing to speak shall have spoken; nor longer than fifteen minutes at any one time, without the consent of the Senate.

23. While the President is putting a question or addressing the Senate, no Senator shall walk out of or across the room, nor in such case, or when a Senator is speaking, shall entertain private discourse, nor when a Senator is speaking shall pass between him and the Chair.

24. It shall be the duty of every Senator who shall be in the Senate when a question is put to give his vote thereon.

25. No Senator shall be permitted to vote on any question, unless within the bar before the vote is announced. The bar of the Senate shall not be considered as including the space immediately under the center gallery of the Senate Chamber.

26. No second shall be required to any motion presented to the Senate.

27. When a motion is made, it shall be stated by the President, or, being in writing, shall be handed to the Secretary, and read aloud before debate.

28. Every motion shall be reduced to writing, if the President or any Senator desire it.

29. When the yeas and nays shall be taken on any question, no Senator shall be permitted to vote, or to change his vote, after the decision is announced from the chair, unless by the unanimous consent of the Senate.

30. After a motion is stated by the President, or read by the Secretary, it shall be deemed in the possession of the Senate, but may be withdrawn at any time by the unanimous consent of the Senate before decision.

31. When a question is under debate, no motion shall be received but

To adjourn,
To call the house,
To lay on the table,
The previous question,
To postpone indefinitely,
To postpone to a day certain,
To commit,
To close debate on pending question, or,
To amend:

Which several motions shall have precedence in the order in which they stand arranged.

32. A motion for adjournment shall always be in order, except when the roll is being called, and be decided as well as the motion to lay on the table, without debate.

33. No motion

To postpone to a day certain,
Or indefinitely,
Or to commit.

being decided in the negative, shall again be allowed on the same day, and at the same stage of the bill or proposition.

34. A motion to strike out the enacting words of a bill shall have precedence of a motion to amend, and, if carried, shall be deemed equivalent to its rejection.

35. When a blank is to be filled, and different sums or times are proposed, the question shall first be put on the largest sum, and the longest time.

36. No person shall be permitted to smoke in the Senate chamber, or to give any signs of approbation or disapprobation while the Senate is in session.

OFFICERS' DUTIES.

37. It shall be the duty of the Secretary to keep a journal, in which he shall seasonably record the motions, resolutions, rules and decisions of the Senate, and to do and perform all such other acts appertaining to his office as may be required of him by the Senate or its presiding officer.

38. It shall be the duty of the Sergeant-at-Arms to attend the Senate during its sittings, to execute the commands of the Senate from time to time, together with all such process issued by authority thereof as shall be directed to him by the President, and all process issued by order of the Senate, or any committee thereof, shall be signed by the President.

STANDING COMMITTEES.

39. The following standing committees shall be appointed by the Senate, with leave to report by bill or otherwise:

1. Judiciary—Twenty-six Senators.
2. Judicial Department and Apportionment—Nineteen Senators.
3. Railroads—Nineteen Senators.
4. Warehouses—Thirteen Senators.

36. World's Columbian Exposition—Twenty-one Senators.
37. Congressional Apportionment—Fifteen Senators.
38. Senatorial Apportionment—Fifteen Senators.
39. Building and Loan Associations—Nineteen Senators.

PRACTICE.

40. All resolutions presented to the Senate shall lie one day on the table.

41. If the question in debate contain several points, any Senator may have the same divided; but on a motion to strike out and insert, it shall not be in order to move for a division of the question; but the rejection of a motion to strike out and insert one proposition shall not prevent a motion to strike out and insert a different proposition.

42. When a question has been once made and carried in the affirmative or negative, it shall be in order for a Senator of the majority to move for the reconsideration thereof, or give notice that he will make such motion within the time prescribed by the rule; for which time he shall control the motion. But no motion for the reconsideration of any vote shall be in order after a bill, resolution, message, report, amendment or motion upon which the vote was taken shall have gone out of the possession of the Senate; nor shall any motion for reconsideration be in order, unless within the next day of actual session of the Senate: Provided, that should the Senator giving notice of a motion to reconsider not make such motion within the time prescribed by the rule, any other Senator voting with the majority may make such motion within the next succeeding legislative day, but no notice of a "motion to reconsider" shall be received within three legislative days of the time fixed for the final adjournment of the General Assembly. Such motion shall take precedence of all other questions, except a motion to adjourn.

43. A bill may be referred to a committee without reading, but shall be read before being amended, and may be amended in every particular on second reading. A bill read once and referred shall be read a second time before being amended.

44. It shall be the duty of the Committee on Engrossed and Enrolled Bills to examine the same, correct any mistakes therein, and report the bills to the Senate. Said committee may report at any time.

45. A motion to lay any particular proposition on the table shall apply to that proposition only.

46. When a committee reports a substitute for an original bill, with the recommendation that the substitute pass, it shall be in order to read the substitute a first time at once.

47. No amendment shall be in order at the third reading of a bill, resolution or motion requiring three readings, unless by unanimous consent of the Senators present; but it shall be at all times in order, before the final passage of such bill, resolution or motion, to move its commitment.

48. No bill shall be printed, except it be ordered by a majority of all the Senators elect, until it shall have been favorably reported upon by a committee, except upon application of the committee having the bill under consideration.

49. When motions are made for reference of the same subject to a select committee, and to a standing committee, the question of reference to a standing committee shall be first put.

50. Upon the call of the Senate, the names of Senators shall be called by the Secretary, and the absentees noted, after which the names of such absentees shall again be called; the doors shall then be closed, and those for whom no excuse, or insufficient excuses, are made, may by order of those present, be taken into custody as they appear, or may be sent for and taken into custody wherever to be found by the Sergeant-at-Arms of the Senate.

51. No amendment, by way of rider, shall be received to any bill on its third reading.

52. When an emergency is expressed in the preamble or body of an act as a reason why such act should take effect prior to the first day of July next after its passage, and when such act contains a clause or proviso fixing such time prior to the first day of July, the question shall be "Shall the bill pass?" and if decided affirmatively by a vote of two-thirds of all the Senators elected to the Senate, then the bill shall be deemed passed; but if upon such vote a majority of less than two-thirds of all of said Senators elect, vote affirmatively on said question, then the vote on said bill shall be deemed reconsidered, and the bill subject to amendment by striking out such part thereof as expresses an emergency and the time of taking effect, and then said bill shall be under consideration, upon its third reading, with the emergency clause and time of taking effect stricken out.

53. The rules of parliamentary practice comprised in Cushing's Parliamentary Law shall govern the Senate in all cases to which they are applicable, and in which they are not inconsistent with the standing rules and orders of the Senate.

54. A motion to commit, until it is decided, shall preclude all amendments and debate on the main question; and a motion to postpone indefinitely, or to a day certain, until it is decided, shall preclude all amendments on the main question.

55. Upon a motion to reconsider the vote on the final passage of any bill, a majority of all the Senators elect shall be required to reconsider the same.

56. If a bill shall fail to pass on account of not having received the constitutional majority, any Senator having voted in the negative shall have a right to move a reconsideration.

57. No motion or proposition on a subject different from that under consideration shall be admitted under color of amendment.

58. No rule of the Senate shall be altered, suspended or rescinded without the vote of two-thirds of the Senators present.

59. No person, except members of the House of Representatives and their officers, heads of executive departments of this State, chaplains, judges of the United States courts, and supreme and circuit judges of this State, former Governors and Lieutenant Governors, and ex-members of the Senate of this State, and reporters of the press, shall be admitted to the floor of the Senate, unless by leave of the President of the Senate.

ORDER OF BUSINESS.

60. The daily order of business shall be as follows:

1. The reading of the journal.
2. Presentation of petitions.
3. Reports from standing committees.
4. Reports from select committees.
5. Presentation of resolutions.
6. Introduction of bills.

After the daily order of business shall have passed, the following general order of business shall be observed:

1. Messages from the House of Representatives.
2. Reading bills of the Senate the third time.
3. Reading bills of the Senate the second time.
4. Reading bills of the Senate the first time.
5. Reading bills from the House of Representatives the third time.
6. Reading bills from the House of Representatives the second time.
7. Reading bills from the House of Representatives the first time.
8. Consideration of resolutions.

The items of unfinished business in which the Senate was engaged at the last preceding adjournment, shall have the preference in the general order of business. And when the Senate shall have passed from one order to another, no action shall be had upon the orders passed, except by leave of the Senate; and to give this leave, two-thirds of the Senators present must concur.

PREVIOUS QUESTION.

61. The previous question shall be stated in this form: "Shall the main question be now put?"—and until it is decided, shall preclude all amendments or debate. When it is decided that the main question shall not now be put, the main question shall be considered as still remaining under debate.

62. The effect of the main question being ordered shall be to put an end to all debate and bring the Senate to a direct vote—first, upon all amendments reported or pending, in the inverse order in which they are offered. After the motion for the previous question has prevailed, it shall not be in order to move a call of the Senate, unless it shall appear by the yeas and nays as taken on the main question that no quorum is present, or to move to adjourn, prior to a decision of the main question.

EXECUTIVE COMMUNICATIONS AND NOMINATIONS.

63. Messages from the Governor and communications from State officers may be received at any time, except when the President is putting a question or the ayes and noes are being called,* and upon motion may be considered at any time, except that messages from the Governor making nominations of officers shall lie over for one day. The consideration of executive business shall take place with closed doors, unless otherwise ordered by a majority of the Senators present.

64. Nominations may be referred to a standing or select committee. On considering nominations, the President shall put the following question: "Does the Senate advise and consent to the nomination just made?" While any nomination remains with the Senate, it shall be in order to reconsider any vote taken thereon.

HOOR OF MEETING.

65. Unless otherwise ordered, the regular hour of meeting of the Senate shall be 10 o'clock A. M., daily, Sundays excepted.

The question being, "Shall the foregoing resolution be adopted?"

Mr. MacMillan offered an amendment as follows:

Amend by striking out Rule 24, and then re-number the remaining rules accordingly.

The question being, "Shall the foregoing amendment be adopted?" it was decided in the affirmative.

The question now being, "Shall the foregoing resolution be adopted, as amended?" it was decided in the affirmative.

MISCELLANEOUS BUSINESS.

Mr. Hagle offered the following resolution, which was adopted, viz.:

WHEREAS, The Committee on Rules of the Senate has agreed that the Committee on Judicial Department and Judicial Apportionment shall consist of twenty-one members, instead of nineteen, therefore be it

Resolved, by the Senate, That the President of the Senate be authorized and empowered to appoint the two additional members of said committee, one of said committeemen to be appointed from each side of the chamber.

Under the foregoing, the President appointed Messrs. Evans and McDonald.

Mr. Kerrick offered the following resolution, which was adopted, viz.:

Resolved, That Lewis L. Lehman be added to the Committee on Agriculture, Horticulture and Farm Drainage.

Mr. Evans offered the following resolution, which was adopted, viz.:

Resolved, That Edward T. Noonan be added to the Committee on Banks and Banking.

Mr. Zearing offered a memorial concerning the hospitals for the insane of the State, which, on his motion, was referred to the Committee on State Charitable Institutions.

Mr. Allen offered a memorial concerning the hospitals for the insane of the State, which, on his motion, was referred to the Committee on State Charitable Institutions.

AT 11:25 O'CLOCK A. M.,

Mr. Crawford, of Cook, moved that the Senate now take a recess until 11:55 o'clock,

Which motion prevailed.

11:55 O'CLOCK A. M.

The Senate resumed the transaction of business.

Hon. Lyman B. Ray, President of the Senate presiding.

A MESSAGE FROM THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

A message from the House of Representatives, by W. B. Morris, Second Assistant Clerk.

Mr. President: I am directed to inform the Senate that the House of Representatives has adopted the following preamble and joint resolutions, in the adoption of which I am instructed to ask the concurrence of the Senate, to-wit:

WHEREAS. It has been brought to the knowledge of the members of the Thirty-seventh General Assembly that a corporation organized under the laws of the State of Illinois, and known as the Chicago Live Stock Exchange, is exercising the power of prohibiting the sale of cattle on the market of the Union Stock Yards, in the city of Chicago, for a less sum than 50 cents per head commission, and is compelling all of its members to charge not less than that sum, and prohibits its members from buying live stock from commission men and companies who charge less than 50 cents per head commission: and

WHEREAS, The said corporation is said to have established a boycott in said yards against any and all parties who refuse to obey its rules by which a minimum commission is fixed; and

WHEREAS, It is believed that the commission men and the buyers of live stock on said Union Stock Yards market, to the extent of about 500, including all of the leading buyers and members of said exchange, are acting in combination to the detriment of the interests of the feeders and sellers of live stock; and

WHEREAS, The price of 50 cents per head commission for the sale of cattle, is manifestly nearly double a reasonable price; and

WHEREAS, The depressed condition of the farming and stock raising interests demand that no unreasonable or unjust restrictions should be made against them; and

WHEREAS, It is believed that no corporation organized under the laws of Illinois has the legal power to pass or enforce a by-law prohibiting its members from selling stock on a public market at such prices as the member may desire, and has no legal power to prevent its members from buying stock on a public market from any person whatsoever; therefore, be it

Resolved, by the House of Representatives, the Senate concurring herein, That a joint committee of five members be appointed, two from the Senate and three from the House, with full power to investigate said charges, and they are hereby invested with full power and authority to send for persons and papers, and to administer oaths; and, be it further

Resolved, That it is hereby made the duty of said committee to investigate such reports, and ascertain whether the said Chicago Live Stock Exchange does prohibit its members from selling cattle in said stock yards for a less commission than 50 cents per head, and if so, by what authority; and if it does prohibit its members from buying from commission men who are willing to sell for a less sum than as prescribed by the rules of the exchange, and if so, by what authority it so acts; and that said committee report what legislation is needed, if any, to prevent any such combination from charging or receiving any such unreasonable commissions, and whether or not such combination of the commission men who sell other people's live stock and the buyers is consistent with, or antagonistic to, the interests of the farming and stock raising interests of Illinois; and also whether such combination does not amount to a conspiracy to the detriment of the people of the State of Illinois: and, be it further

Resolved, That the said committee shall have the power, in their discretion, to employ a stenographer.

W. H. HINRICHSEN,
Clerk.

INTRODUCTION OF BILLS.

Mr. Newell introduced a bill, Senate Bill No. 116, for "An act to amend section nineteen (19), article nine, chapter twenty-four, of an act entitled 'An act to provide for the incorporation of cities and villages,' approved April 10, 1872, in force July 1, 1872, as amended by an act approved June 17, 1887, and in force July 1, 1887."

IN SENATE CHAMBER.

Thereupon the Senators, preceded by the President and Secretary of the Senate, returned to their chamber.

At 12:40 o'clock P. M. Mr. Higbee moved that the Senate now take a recess until 3 o'clock P. M. to-day.

Which motion prevailed.

AT 3 O'CLOCK P. M.,

The Senate resumed the transaction of business,

Hon. Lyman B. Ray, President of the Senate, presiding.

In accordance with the resolution adopted January 24, 1891,

Mr. Hagle moved that the Senate do now go into a Committee of the Whole to advise with the committee representing the State Board of Supervisors, touching upon additional provision for the incurable insane of the State, and other matters,

Which motion prevailed.

Whereupon Mr. Hagle was called to the chair.

After considerable discussion upon the subject of additional provision for the incurable insane, ballot reform, and taxation, the Committee of the Whole arose and reported progress through its chairman, Mr. Hagle.

Mr. Hagle moved that these subjects be referred to the Committees of State Charitable Institutions, Elections and Revenue,

Which motion prevailed.

At 4 o'clock P. M., on motion of Mr. Berry, the Senate adjourned until 10:30 o'clock to-morrow morning.

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 6, 1891—10:30 O'CLOCK A. M.

Senate met pursuant to adjournment,

Hon. Lyman B. Ray, President of the Senate, presiding.

Prayer by the chaplain.

The journal of yesterday was being read, when, on motion of Mr. Bacon, the further reading of the same was dispensed with, and it was ordered to stand approved.

The reading of the journal having been completed, the President of the Senate announced it as the time for the special order, being the further consideration of the following preamble and joint resolutions, received from the House of Representatives, February 4th, 1891, to-wit:

WHEREAS, It has been brought to the knowledge of the members of the Thirty-seventh General Assembly that a corporation organized under the laws of the State of Illinois, and known as the Chicago Live Stock Exchange, is exercising the power of prohibiting the sale of cattle on the market of the Union Stock Yards, in the city of Chicago, for a less sum than 50 cents per head commission, and is compelling all of its members to charge not less than that sum, and prohibits its members from buying live stock from commission men and companies who charge less than 50 cents per head commission; and

WHEREAS, The said corporation is said to have established a boycott in said yards against any and all parties who refuse to obey its rules by which a minimum commission is fixed; and

WHEREAS, It is believed that the commission men and the buyers of live stock on said Union Stock Yards market, to the extent of about 500, including all of the leading buyers and members of said exchange, are acting in combination to the detriment of the interests of the feeders and sellers of live stock; and

WHEREAS, The price of 50 cents per head commission for the sale of cattle, is manifestly nearly double a reasonable price; and

WHEREAS, The depressed condition of the farming and stock raising interests demand that no unreasonable or unjust restrictions should be made against them; and

WHEREAS, It is believed that no corporation organized under the laws of Illinois has the legal power to pass or enforce a by-law prohibiting its members from selling stock on a public market at such prices as the member may desire, and has no legal power to prevent its members from buying stock on a public market from any person whatsoever; therefore, be it

Resolved, by the House of Representatives, the Senate concurring herein. That a joint committee of five members be appointed, two from the Senate and three from the House, with full power to investigate said charges, and they are hereby invested with full power and authority to send for persons and papers, and to administer oaths; and, be it further

Resolved, That it is hereby made the duty of said committee to investigate such reports, and ascertain whether the said Chicago Live Stock Exchange does prohibit its members from selling cattle in said stock yards for a less commission than 50 cents per head, and if so, by what authority; and if it does prohibit its members from buying from commission men who are willing to sell for a less sum than as prescribed by the rules of the exchange, and if so, by what authority it so acts; and that said committee report what legislation is needed, if any, to prevent any such combination from charging or receiving any such unreasonable commissions, and whether or not such combination of the commission men who sell other people's live stock and the buyers is consistent with, or antagonistic to, the interests of the farming and stock raising interests of Illinois; and also whether such combination does not amount to a conspiracy to the detriment of the people of the State of Illinois; and, be it further

Resolved, That the said committee shall have the power, in their discretion, to employ a stenographer.

After debate,

The question being, "Shall the foregoing preamble and joint resolutions be adopted?"

And the yeas and nays being demanded, it was decided in the affirmative by the following vote: Yeas 42, nays 9.

The following voted in the affirmative, Messrs.:

A message from the House, by Mr. E. P. Kimball, Assistant Clerk:

Mr. President: I am directed to inform the Senate that the House of Representatives has passed a bill of the following title, in the passage of which I am instructed to ask the concurrence of the Senate, to-wit:

House Bill No. 178, a bill for "An act giving legislative assent to the purpose of the grants made in the act of Congress, approved August 30, 1890, entitled 'An act to apply a portion of the proceeds of the public lands to the more perfect endowment and support of the colleges for the benefit of agriculture and the mechanic arts, established under the provision of an act of Congress, approved July 2, 1862,' and appropriating to the University of Illinois the moneys granted in said act."

Passed the House with an emergency clause, February 5, A. D. 1891.

W. H. HINRICHSEN,

Clerk of the House of Representatives.

INTRODUCTION OF BILLS.

Mr. MacMillan introduced a bill, Senate Bill No. 129, for "An act to provide for the participation of the State of Illinois in the World's Columbian Exposition, authorized by act of Congress of the United States, to be held in the city of Chicago during the year 1893, in commemoration of the discovery of America in the year 1492; and for an appropriation to pay the cost and expense of the same."

On motion of Mr. MacMillan, the rules were suspended and the bill was read at large a first time, and,

On motion of Mr. MacMillan, was referred to the Committee on World's Columbian Exposition, with instructions to have 500 copies printed for the use of the committee and Senate.

Mr. Caldwell introduced a bill, Senate Bill No. 130, for "An act for the better regulation of fire insurance."

On motion of Mr. Caldwell, the rules were suspended and the bill was read at large a first time, and,

On motion of Mr. Caldwell, was referred to the Committee on Insurance.

12 O'CLOCK M.

At 12 o'clock, meridian, in pursuance of sections 14 and 15, of title 2, chapter 1, revised statutes of the United States for 1873 and 1874, and in pursuance of the adjournment had yesterday, the Senate, preceded by the President of the Senate and Secretary thereof, proceeded to the House of Representatives for the purpose of naming a Senator in Congress of the United States, from the State of Illinois, for six years from the 4th day of March, A. D. 1891.

REPORTS FROM STANDING COMMITTEES.

Mr. McDonald, from the joint committee of the Thirty-sixth General Assembly, to visit and investigate the prisons of Illinois and the prisons and prison systems of other states, presented the following report, which was read in full by the Secretary, to-wit:

REPORT OF THE JOINT COMMITTEE OF THE THIRTY-SIXTH GENERAL ASSEMBLY, TO VISIT AND INVESTIGATE THE PRISONS OF ILLINOIS, AND THE PRISONS AND PRISON SYSTEMS OF OTHER STATES.

COMMITTEE REPORT.

To the Honorable Lyman B. Ray, President of the Senate:

SIR—The General Assembly of the State of Illinois adopted, May 27, 1889, the following joint resolution:

“Resolved, By the Senate, the House of Representatives concurring, That a committee of five be appointed, three by the Speaker of the House, and two by the President of the Senate, to visit and investigate our own prisons, and the prisons and prison systems of other States, and report to the next General Assembly, recommending such a law as shall secure to us the best methods for the establishment of a reformatory, and for the general management of our penitentiaries, whenever the present contract system (of labor) shall expire.”

In accordance with the foregoing resolution, the following gentlemen were named as members of the joint committee therein provided for:

Senators—BENJAMIN F. SHEETS, Oregon; EDWARD L. McDONALD, Jacksonville.

Representatives—JAMES H. MILLER, Toulon; WILLIAM G. COCHRAN, Lovington; THOMAS E. MERRITT, Salem.

The occasion of the appointment of this joint committee was as follows: Mr. James H. Miller, of Stark county, a member of the committee, had introduced in the House of Representatives of the 36th General Assembly, a bill entitled "A bill for an act to provide for the management of the penitentiaries of the State of Illinois," providing for the establishment of a State reformatory for adult first offenders of youthful age, to be organized and managed on the general principles of the New York State Reformatory at Elmira. This bill had passed the House, and had been read twice in the Senate, and ordered to a third reading. A majority of the Senators were known to be in favor of it; but, at the time when it should have been put upon its passage, the Senate was acting under a suspension of rules. Since the bill did not command the support of two-thirds of the Senators, it was impossible to take it up, and the last act of the Senate before its final adjournment was to negative a motion for this purpose. The friends of the measure, being in a majority in both houses, were unwilling to let it drop, and hence the passage of the resolution appointing the joint committee to bring the subject again before the attention of the General Assembly in 1891.

The committee visited both the penitentiaries in Illinois, and, at a meeting held at the Southern Illinois Penitentiary, at Chester, November 6, 1889, Mr. Frederick H. Wines, secretary of the State Board of Public Charities, was requested to act as its secretary, and consented to do so. It should be stated here that the services of Mr. Wines were rendered without charge, and that the State of Illinois has been put to no expense whatever on his account.

It was agreed to visit the Indiana State Prison North, at Michigan City: the Women's Prison, at Indianapolis: the Ohio Penitentiary, at Columbus: the Western Penitentiary of Pennsylvania, at Allegheny: the Pennsylvania Industrial Reformatory, at Huntingdon: the New York State Reformatory, at Elmira: the United States Jail, at Washington: the Maryland Penitentiary, at Baltimore: the Eastern Penitentiary, of Pennsylvania, at Philadelphia: the New Jersey State Prison, at Trenton: the New York County Penitentiary, on Blackwell's Island, in the city of New York: the New York State Prison, at Sing Sing: the Connecticut State Prison, at Wethersfield: the Rhode Island State Prison, at Howard: the Massachusetts State Prison, at Charlestown: the Massachusetts Reformatory for Women, at Sherborn: the Boston city institutions, on Deer Island: the Massachusetts Reformatory, at Concord: the Albany County Penitentiary, at Albany: the New York State Prison, at Auburn: the House of Correction, at Detroit, and the Michigan State Prison, at Jackson. It was supposed that this tour of inspection would occupy three weeks, and an itinerary was adopted following the order of visitation just stated.

This programme was carried out in part. Owing to the personal engagements of a majority of the committee, but two of the members were able to undertake the proposed journey, namely, Messrs. Sheets and Miller, who were accompanied by Mr. Wines. They left the city of Chicago on Monday, January 6, 1890. Mr. Miller was suffering from illness, which developed, during the course of the journey, into a well defined attack of the grippe, then epidemic throughout the country. With stubborn courage he endured the fatigue and exertion of travel, until the committee reached Huntingdon, Pennsylvania, where he was advised by the physician connected with the Reformatory that it would be at the peril of his life for him to undertake to go farther in his condition of health, and, by invitation of Maj. R. W. McClaughry, he remained at Huntingdon, where he was kindly entertained and received skillful and assiduous medical attention, while Mr. Sheets and Mr. Wines proceeded without him. These two gentlemen spent two days at Elmira, a day in Washington, a day in Baltimore, a day in Philadelphia, a day at Trenton, and had arrived in New York, when a telegram from Maj. McClaughry to Mr. Sheets warned him that Mr. Miller was regarded as a very sick man, whose recovery was more than doubtful, and Mr. Sheets returned at once to Huntingdon to assist in caring for him, and if possible, to take him home to his family. By request of Mr. Sheets, Mr. Wines as secretary of the committee pursued his journey alone, and after visiting the prisons of New York, went by way of Connecticut and Rhode Island as far as Boston, but was unable to visit the last four prisons named in the list given above. While in Boston, however, he inspected the New Hampshire State Prison at Concord. At all of these institutions he took very full notes and has collected a mass of information with regard to the construction, organization and government of the leading prisons of the United States, supplemented by correspondence with the wardens of many institutions not here named, which have been put into shape for publication: and we respectfully request that the General Assembly will order the publication as an appendix to the present report, inasmuch as we believe that the information thus obtained will be of great service to the public, not only in the State of Illinois but throughout the country.

The committee devoted special attention to two points. One of these was the industries pursued in state prisons and penitentiaries, and the practical operation of the three systems of labor, known as the contract system, the system of public account, and the piece-price plan. The other was the possibility of introducing into such institutions a reformatory discipline, including under that term the mark system, the grading of prisoners according to the marks earned by them, and the adoption of the practice of conditional liberation under the indeterminate sentence.

CONVICT LABOR.

As to the first of these points, the observations of the committee and many conversations had with wardens in various parts of the country have led to the formulation of the following conclusions:

(1) Almost any industry which can be successfully and profitably carried on by private parties can be conducted with equal success in a prison, provided that the authorities in charge are possessed of adequate business experience and capacity. All that is required is sufficient capital, united to skill and integrity on the part of the management. There is a certain difficulty in the disposal of the products of prison labor, owing to the prejudice felt against the competition of convict labor with what is called free labor on the outside. But this is largely offset by the fact that the prisoners work without wages, and that there is no possibility of their striking on account of dissatisfaction with the rules adopted for their government.

(2) The selection of the industries to be followed must be left to the judgment of the prison authorities, unfettered by any instructions from the legislature, which is too large a body, and not sufficiently familiar with the conditions and circumstances governing such selection, to be able wisely to make such selection. The duty of the legislature in the premises is performed, whenever it has made a sufficient appropriation for the purchase of machinery, raw material to be manufactured, and a working capital.

(3) Under the contract system, the necessity for an appropriation for this purpose is avoided, inasmuch as the necessary funds are provided by private enterprise, which enters, so to speak, into partnership with the State, in the conduct of the business of the prison, taking an agreed share both in the financial burden and in the pecuniary profits of the undertaking, whatever it may be. But, under the amendment adopted to the constitution of the State of Illinois, in 1886, prohibiting contract labor in any penal or reformatory institution in this State, it is needless to discuss the merits or demerits of the contract system. The General Assembly must recognize the existing situation, and it can no longer depend upon the co-operation of contractors, but must provide whatever funds are necessary, in order to conduct the labor of convicts in the penitentiaries and in the State Reform School upon State account.

(4) The notion that the industries of a prison can not be as successfully and profitably managed under the State account system as under the contract system is a delusion. The question is one simply of the capacity and integrity of the authorities. It is well known that prison industries are often very profitable to the contractors, who hire convict labor, and, as a rule, pay for the same an amount sufficient to defray the cost of feeding, clothing, and guarding the men employed by them. The amount of this profit, whatever it may be, constitutes a margin of which the State can avail itself in order to protect itself against the possibility of loss, growing out of a change of system. There is no inherent reason why this profit should not inure to the State, unless it be that the State is unwilling to pay the large salaries for first-class business talent which are paid by private corporations. The State can, if it will, employ the same men to do the same work, who will do it just as satisfactorily for one employer as for the other. Mr. A. A. Brush, warden of the New York State Prison, at Sing Sing, who was at one time an ardent believer in the contract system, and supposed that any other would involve financial ruin to the institution under his charge, after a short experience of complete idleness in the prison, under a very foolish law temporarily in force in the State of New York, was forced to re-organize the industries at Sing Sing on public account. It is his testimony, that practical familiarity with the actual operation of both systems has convinced him that the public account system, honestly and wisely administered, is more profitable to the State than the contract system, and that the control and discipline of the convicts is more easy and more thorough, where they are at all times, in the shops as well as elsewhere, under the complete control of officers appointed by the warden, without suggestion or interference on the part of contractors, whose only interest in the prisoners is naturally to make as much money out of their labor as possible.

(5) The competition of convict with free labor is to some extent injurious to the latter. But the amount of injury done is almost infinitesimally small, in view of the fact that the prison labor of the country bears such an insignificant proportion to the total amount, constituting, as it does, only a fraction of one per cent. It is absurd to suppose that this slight interference can have any serious effect either upon the amount of work available for honest labor or upon the price of goods manufactured in prisons. Furthermore, the loss resulting to honest labor from such competition is less in the aggregate than would be the cost of maintaining the prisoners in idleness, which would have to be borne from the public treasury, at the expense of the tax-payers, and the taxes collected for this purpose would, in any event, be an ultimate charge upon labor. Besides, experience has demonstrated (and the experience of the State of New York is in this regard a frightful example) that idleness in prison is a fruitful source of demoralization, degradation, insanity, disease, and death. It is inconceivable that the people of Illinois should wish the convicts in their penitentiaries and in the State Reform School to be idle while undergoing sentences for crime. These men and boys if not in prison would be, or ought to be, at work earning an honest living, and in that event they would come into competition with other labor, just as they do in confinement. It is only right that they should defray the whole or a portion of the cost of their maintenance while in prison, and the labor furnished them must be useful and profitable labor, in order to their highest good and that of the community at large. No one in the United States advocates labor merely for the sake of exercise or punishment; and it would be a melancholy spectacle to see prisoners locked day and night in their cells, and taken out only for exercise in the form of a dreary march around the prison yard. There is another consideration to which attention should be paid in this connection, namely, that the great mass of the criminal population is unable to earn a living by the pursuance of any established trade, in consequence of ignorance, having never been trained nor accustomed to mechanical pursuits. It is of the highest importance, in order that a prisoner, when discharged, should be in a position to support himself by his own exertions, that he should have a trade at his command, whether he knew one when committed or not, and this trade cannot be taught him, if the labor in prison is of an unprofitable or perfunctory sort. As to the use of machinery in prisons, the form of pretty much all labor, since the invention and common use of machinery, has changed, so that there is little room or scope for purely manual handicrafts, and if a prisoner is not taught to labor in connection with machinery, his opportunities for employment after his release are reduced to a minimum. It is also true that a discharged convict can usually find employment more readily in a large manufacturing establishment than elsewhere, owing to the fact that there he is under constant observation and his opportunities for theft are comparatively slight.

(6) It is possible that the injury resulting from the competition of convict and free labor may be reduced to a minimum by legislative restrictions, either upon the character of the labor to be performed or upon the number of convicts to be employed in any one productive industry. All things considered, it is better that goods should be manufactured for sale outside of the limits of the State, if possible, and that the industries of a prison should be as much as possible diversified in their character. But it must be remembered that all such restrictions hinder the freedom of choice of the authorities in the selection of a profitable industry, and that they may result in financial disaster to the State. Many of the laws passed on this subject elsewhere have been so crude and inflexible as to prove seriously detrimental to the public interest.

(7) The piece-price plan, under which the State sells not the prisoner's time, but his labor simply, charging therefor not by the day or the hour, but by the quantity and quality of the manufactured product, is essentially a compromise between the contract and the public account systems. It partakes to some extent of the nature of both. It avoids certain objections to the contract system, namely, the introduction into the prison of contractors' men, in the form of shop overseers and instructors, salesmen, and accountants; the supposed tendency of the contractors and their agents to overwork prisoners for pecuniary profit; and their right to demand that the men assigned to them shall be in the shops at times when, in the judgment of the prison authorities, they should for the purposes of a reformatory discipline be otherwise employed. But, under this system, it is certainly far more difficult for the prison authorities to enter into any profitable agreement with the parties for whom work is done in the prison. They can not know, as the contractor knows, the precise value of each separate operation in the process of manufacture, and the contractor can very readily so adjust the prices to be paid, as to make a larger profit out of the labor paid for than he would be able to do if the prices depended upon the number of hours during which the prisoner is at work. The consequence is that, in nearly all the agreements made upon the piece-price plan, a clause is inserted to the effect that if the earnings of the prisoners under the scale of prices adopted do not amount to a fixed sum per day, then and in that case the contractor shall pay a sum equivalent to a certain price per day for the labor of the men employed.

(8) Under any system other than the contract system, the State must provide the means for carrying on the industries to be pursued. If this is not the case under the piece-price plan, that is to say, if the party of the second part furnishes the material and the machinery at his own expense, this is because the piece-price plan partakes to so large an extent of the peculiar character of the contract system. Under the public account system, rigidly construed, all expenses must be borne by the prison itself.

(9) Our general conclusion and recommendation, therefore, is as follows: That the General Assembly waste no time in the discussion of the question of the particular industry or industries to be adopted at either of the state penitentiaries or the state reform school, but leave this question to the judgment and discretion of the authorities immediately in charge, holding them responsible for a wise decision; and that an appropriation be made of a sufficient amount to enable them to employ the prisoners in their hands at such industries as they may think to afford a sufficient hope and promise of profitable pecuniary results.

A REFORMATORY DISCIPLINE IN PRISON.

With regard to the other point to which our attention has been particularly directed—the possibility of introducing a reformatory discipline into the penitentiaries of Illinois—we have the following suggestions to offer;

The one great object of the criminal law and its enforcement is the protection of society. The perils which threaten society, in consequence of the depredations of criminals, are of three sorts. Their conduct may be such as to threaten the existence and impede the operations of the government; or they may be guilty of assaults upon the lives or persons of individuals; or they may attack the rights and interests of property. Offenses which fall under one or another of these three heads are the only ones which properly deserve to be called crimes; all other offenses are merely violations of social order, the punishment for which is by fine or by incarceration for a short term in some minor prison. With the moral aspects of crime the government is not supposed to concern itself. It does not seek to inflict vengeance upon the criminal, no matter what may be the degree of his ill-desert, because the right to execute vengeance has been reserved to the Almighty, and not delegated to any human government; because there is no actual measure of guilt by which to gauge the amount of suffering which ought, in justice, to be inflicted upon the individual; and because the infliction of vengeance for the sake of satisfying the public sense of retributive justice subserve no useful purpose which is not equally well answered by purely protective measures. It is safe to assume that the operation of natural law will, in the providence of God, bring to every offender, sooner or later, the precise amount of retribution which his conduct merits, and that without human interference, except in so far as men are unconsciously moved by their natural impulses.

Now the protection of society can be secured only in one of two ways. The government must deprive the enemies of social peace and security either of the power or of the disposition to violate the criminal code.

In order to deprive them of the power to inflict injury upon the public or upon individuals, they must be deprived either of their life or of their liberty. At a period not very remote in the history of the civilized world, the main reliance of rulers was upon capital punishment, which was inflicted, on very slight provocation, and often with insufficient proof, for an indefinite list of offenses, of which some would now be thought scarcely to merit a reprimand. But, with the growth of popular institutions, based upon a recognition of the rights and liberties of the people, capital punishment has fallen largely into practical disuse and disfavor, and the prison has come to be the one recognized agency for the repression of crime.

Undoubtedly, incarceration for a longer or shorter period has the effect of protecting society against the men who are confined within prison walls, so long as they remain there. But the question suggests itself: At what moment is the danger to society, which rendered the incarceration of the criminal a social necessity, no longer to be feared? At what moment can he be safely released? In a rough way, the criminal code undertakes to answer this question by imposing maximum and minimum penalties for each offense known to the common law or to the statutes. It says, in effect: It will not be safe to release a burglar, until he shall have served so long; but at the expiration of another period mentioned in the statute, it will be safe. It says to the courts and prison authorities: You must hold this man for such a time, but you will not be permitted to hold him beyond a certain date. The opinion thus crystallized in the form of a legal enactment is obviously an a priori and an average judgment. The law proceeds upon the assumption that the courts which hear the evidence in each case will be able rightly to apportion terms of imprisonment to individuals, and it entrusts to judges and to juries the right and power to say to each person convicted of crime: The security of society demands that you shall be incarcerated for a definite term of years, or months, or days. But how do the judge and jury know when it will be safe to release the condemned criminal? He may lose the disposition to commit crime, long before the expiration of the sentence imposed upon him; or he may retain both the disposition and the power to commit the same or a worse offense, after its expiration.

It is commonly supposed that imprisonment serves at least a double purpose. It is believed to have a secondary effect in deterring others from the commission of similar crimes. It has this effect in some measure and degree, but not to the extent that most people imagine. The motives which induce men to commit crime are present and immediate; they are usually powerful, at least they are of sufficient force to decide their course. The fear of punishment on the other hand, is a remote and doubtful motive, which exercises comparatively little influence upon human conduct. The tempted man has not the consequences of his action distinctly in view, while under the influence of temptation. His imagination is perhaps feeble, his mind sluggish and of narrow grasp, and he is fully taken up with the thought of the advantages which are to accrue to himself from the commission of crime. He sees the latter through the lens of self-interest, and they are enormously magnified to his vision, while the consequences present themselves to his mind's eye, as it were, through an inverted telescope, which makes them appear much more insignificant in size and distant than they really are. He fancies that he will escape detection, or that, if detected, he will be able, by some lucky accident or by good management on the part of himself or his attorneys, to escape conviction. The deterrent effect of legal punishment is, in the judgment of those most familiar with the criminal class, so slight, that it does not warrant the infliction of an injustice upon any man for the sake of the advantage to society which it is hoped will accrue therefrom.

The indeterminate sentence, therefore, is recommended by reasons which have their basis in equity, in common sense, and in a correct perception of the operations of human nature. The theory of the indeterminate sentence is that, inasmuch as neither legislatures nor courts can estimate guilt, nor mete out absolute justice in the form of retribution to individuals, neither can they determine in advance the period of incarceration, at the expiration of which the criminal impulse or the ability to inflict injury in the form of crime will have been eradicated, the imposition of definite sentences is logically as absurd as it would be to send lunatics for a definite period, determined in advance, to a hospital for the insane, there to be cured of cerebral disease. In the words of a distinguished lawyer of the city of New York, who has devoted much time and thought to the study of the prison question, "The convict is put in prison on the same principle that a yellow fever ship is kept in quarantine or a small-pox patient confined in a hospital." If a criminal continues to be a menace to society during the whole period of his natural life, he should, for reasons of social security, (which are the true basis of criminal jurisprudence), be discharged only by death. If at any time he ceases to be inimical to the welfare of society, then the reason for his incarceration no longer exists, and his further detention is an act of social injustice. Under our present system, we constantly discharge from prison men who ought to be retained in it, and retain in prison men who ought to be discharged, not because they are innocent, but because prison discipline has wrought in them its perfect work.

Of the two methods of rendering a criminal harmless, which have been suggested—putting him where he is powerless to do evil, or eliminating from his mind the criminal disposition—the latter is by long odds the more effectual and satisfactory. There are many who suppose that the maxim, "Once a thief, always a thief," has no exception; that the criminal character is hereditary, or the result of constitutional predisposition; that it is so persistent as to be practically irremediable, and that all effort expended in the attempt to reform criminals is thrown away. This may be, and probably is, true of some criminals, but not of all, and the line which separates the corrigible from the incorrigible has never been accurately determined. The population of our prisons is made up of various classes. First, there are the innocent, who are the victims of misapprehension, mistaken identity, or perjury, and the number of such is by no means inconsiderable. Then there are the impulsive wrong-doers, who have yielded to sudden and violent temptation, and have been led to commit some act not in harmony with their habitual character, who are not properly included in the criminal class. There are also men whose lives have been more or less stained with crime, and whose associations are bad, but who have no worse natural disposition than other men, but have been neglected or spoiled while children. Some of them have never had a fair chance to show what they could do, or would be, under favorable circumstances. Their early education and training, particularly in the direction of useful labor, have been neglected; or they have been thrown upon their own resources at a very early age, and have fallen into bad company; or they have been otherwise handicapped in the race of life. It must always be remembered that, even under the penitentiary system as it now exists, with punishment and not reformation for its primary aim, one-half of those sentenced to the state prisons of the country have succeeded in living lives free from crime, after serving a single sentence; at least, so far as is known, no criminal charge has been brought or proved against them, subsequent to their release. The incorrigible criminal, the Ishmaelite, whose hand is against every man and every man's hand against him, the man who deliberately and wilfully defies all the restraints of human and divine law, the selfish egotist, who makes his own pleasure or advantage the sole criterion of right and wrong, in blind and wilful disregard of the rights of others, belongs to a different type of humanity. He is not like other men, any more than a lunatic is like other men. There is a twist in his moral nature, and often in his mental constitution as well, which, if not congenital, has been so intensified and firmly set, by the practices and experiences of his life, that there is very little hope that any system of treatment will result in the conversion of such a moral monster into a reasonable and normally acting member of society. But it certainly is not right that the treatment to be accorded to all of these criminals or unfortunates should be identical in kind and in duration, nor that the moral judgment pronounced upon the hardened, habitual, incorrigible offender should be attributed to others who need no reformation, or whose reformation, under proper discipline and influence, might be reasonably looked for.

It would seem to be the dictate of common sense, to classify the criminal population according to the intensity and persistency of their criminal character, either by placing the more or less evilly disposed in distinct and separate establishments, or else by separating them in the prison. But it is in vain to expect the courts before which accused persons are tried to make any accurate or thorough classification of them at the time of trial. Their real character, antecedents, and history are not fully brought out by the evidence, and the judge can at best form but a hasty, superficial estimate of their condition and needs. The sentence pronounced is nothing more than a judicial guess. It is not until the prisoner comes under the constant, daily observation of the warden and his assistants, and has had opportunity not only to tell his own story, in his own way, bit by bit, (which is often confirmed or refuted by independent inquiry set on foot by the prison officers for their own satisfaction), but to show by his actions what are in fact his habitual and predominant states of mind, motives, wishes and aims, that he can be fully comprehended and known. The judgment of the warden concerning him is generally more accurate and just than that of the tribunal which pronounced sentence against him.

In theory, the criminal law regards not the person of the offender, but the offense committed, and metes out punishment accordingly. In point of fact, nothing is more unequal than the amount of punishment inflicted upon different individuals by different courts, or by the same court on different days. The indeterminate sentence is the only form of sentence which secures absolute equality under the law, in respect of the amount of imprisonment to which offenders of the same grade are liable. The minimum and maximum sentences for every one convicted are, under that system, precisely the same. But, within these limits, the largest possible scope is left for the exercise, on the part of the prison authorities, of a judgment founded upon intimate personal knowledge of the prisoner, while expiating his crime. What the law and the court can not know, and ought not pretend to know, namely, the date at which the prisoner may be safely released, is often perfectly plain to them. Or, if not, the margin of possible error in their estimate of the probable consequences of his release is very small. At present the courts undertake to pronounce a two-fold judgment: they say who should go to prison, and when they should come out. If these two functions could be separated, if the courts were entrusted merely with the duty of saying who should go to prison, and the duty of saying when the prisoner should be discharged were left to the authorities who have them under their care, the ends of justice as well as of humanity would be, we think, better subserved than they are now.

The first State to recognize the correctness of the principle here laid down was New York, which, in 1869, created the Reformatory at Elmira, which was visited by the committee, and there we gained a clearer insight into the correct methods of prison management and discipline than in any other institution which came under our observation. That prison receives but one class of convicts, namely, young men who are believed to have been convicted of felony for the first time. If they have been at any time previously convicted, that fact is not known to the court, at the time of their trial and sentence. These young men are sent to Elmira for no definite period, but may be retained for the longest period for which they might have been sentenced to a state prison for the particular offense of which they have been convicted. The managers of the institution have been empowered to establish rules and regulations, under which any prisoner can earn his release in the short space of twelve months. As a school is divided into classes, so are the prisoners at Elmira divided into groups, known as the first, second, and third grades, each of which is distinguished from the others in various ways, and governed in some particulars under different regulations. At the prisoner's reception, he is placed in the second or intermediate grade, where he must remain for six months, in order to merit promotion. For misconduct, he may be degraded, and, in that case, he has to work his way up again, and, when he reaches the second grade, to begin anew where he began at his entrance into the institution. After remaining for six months in the second grade, he is advanced to the first grade, where he must remain for another six months, before he is eligible to parole. When paroled, he still remains, in the eye of the law, an inmate of the institution, and, if he violates any of the conditions of his parole, he can be arrested and remanded to prison. But, if he behaves himself well in all respects while conditionally released, and shows that he has acquired sufficient power of self-control to keep from dissipation, and especially from the clutches of the law, he then receives his absolute discharge. In order to know the actual merit or demerit of any individual prisoner, a strict account of his conduct, diligence in the work assigned him to do, and progress in study, is kept on what is termed the mark system. Just as a pupil in an ordinary school is marked for his recitations, so the prisoner's promotion or degradation depends upon his marks, except that the superintendent reserves to himself the right to encourage the man who would be benefited by an arbitrary remission of demerits. The managers are prohibited by law from considering any application for the parole of any prisoner by his friends on the outside. His release depends absolutely upon the progress made by him in acquiring or re-acquiring the lost power of self-control.

As will be seen, the essential features of this system are—first, the indeterminate sentence; second, marks; third, grades; and, fourth, conditional release under the statute and under the rules governing the prison.

The marks given at Elmira are as follows: The highest mark is three. The prisoner receives this mark for his conduct, in case he is guilty of no violation of the prison rules for the space of an entire month. He receives an additional mark of three, if he faithfully performs his allotted stent of labor in a manner satisfactory to the overseers in charge of the prison industries. He receives a third mark of three, if he is attentive and diligent in the prosecution of his school studies, so as to satisfy his teachers that he has done the best of which he is capable, without reference to the actual amount of knowledge acquired by him. Three times three is nine; and, in the cant phrase of the prison itself, the inmates are all engaged in "earning their nines." Of course, the number of marks is arbitrary, and not essential to the system. The highest mark might be five, or it might be ten. At the Massachusetts Reformatory, we believe, it is five.

Nines are forfeited by misconduct, of which the prisoner receives notice, in the form of a colored ticket laid upon his bed in his cell, where he finds it in the evening. The possible infractions of rules are classified and known as "neglect," "dereliction," or "offense." "Neglect" reports are on pink paper, "dereliction" reports on yellow paper, and "offense" reports on chocolate paper. Six of the first, three of the second, or one of the third, in any one month, signifies the loss of a nine.

The labor performed by prisoners at Elmira is not conducted for profit, except to a very limited extent. Its primary aim is the development of character in the convict, and his preparation to enter again into the free life of the community, better qualified than before to earn an honest living. So far as possible, an estimate is formed, at the time of the prisoner's reception, of his capabilities, his personal inclinations are sounded, and inquiry is made as to the natural and probable possibilities of finding employment for him on the outside, after his discharge. The superintendent determines in his mind, at the outset of the prisoner's career, what it is best to attempt to make of him, and he is trained in that. As is well known, everything that facilitates the earning of a livelihood tends to diminish the amount of crime in the community, and everything that makes it difficult for men to support themselves by their own exertions has an influence to throw them into the ranks of crime. The prisoner's first necessity is that he should be competent to maintain himself, as a safeguard against temptation. At Elmira, almost any trade can be learned, under qualified instructors. Trade schools have been organized within the institution, on a comprehensive plan, and work done for the sake of learning a trade counts just as much, in the way of earning the prisoner's release, as work done for profit in any of the shops.

The most marked peculiarity of the institution is the extent to which the educational feature is made prominent in it. The majority of criminals have either had little opportunity for education, or have availed themselves of their opportunities only to a limited extent. For the most part, books and learning have had but small attraction for them. Many of them, when at school, were either truants or dunces. There are, however, many highly educated and cultivated men in prison, whose crimes have been crimes of education and not of ignorance. But even they require intellectual stimulation, while undergoing sentence, in order to keep their mental faculties bright and in a healthful condition, and especially to divert their minds from depressing thoughts of self or from dwelling upon criminal experiences and projects. Every man, therefore, in the prison is required to follow some line of intellectual pursuit. Nearly all the inmates are required to attend a school, (divided into three departments) for one hour and a half, in the evening, five days in every week. These classes are instructed by competent persons from the outside, though some of the prisoners perform service as assistants in teaching the illiterates. All of them undergo a written examination once in each month. Those prisoners who are too far advanced to require class instruction are examined upon their reading. Every prisoner is required to read at least one book in the course of each month, which is selected for him from the prison library, and he must be able, at the end of the month, to give an intelligent account of its contents and of the impression which it has made upon his mind. In addition to the ordinary branches of a common school education, they have an opportunity to learn physical geography, history, and political economy. On every Sunday morning, a large class assembles in the chapel to receive instruction in ethics. Some question of casuistry is propounded, which is debated by the prisoners themselves, under the presidency of a special teacher, who makes suggestions at his own discretion and corrects the perverted judgments which they express in free debate. Since many of them have never been taught in the course of their lives to consider the moral aspects of conduct, the mere directing of their attention to this subject is beneficial. The entire aim of the establishment, in all its branches, is to produce such an impression upon the mind and conscience of every inmate as will change his habits of thought and feeling, in spite of any opposition which he may make to the processes employed, so that he may leave the institution a different man, when compared with what he was when he entered it.

The loss of a nine in any one month involves degradation from the first to the second grade, or from the second to the third, as the case may be. A nine earned, in any one month, by any prisoner in the third grade, results in his promotion to the second grade. But, for promotion from the second to the first grade, six nines must be earned, in as many consecutive months. Six nines similarly earned in the first grade render the winner eligible to parole.

It does not follow, however, that because a prisoner has been six months in the first grade, he will receive a conditional release. There are other conditions that must be met by him, as follows: In the first place he must have gained the confidence of the superintendent, that is to say, his conduct and conversation in prison must have made the impression on the superintendent's mind that the prisoner has an honest purpose to live without violating the law if discharged. But beyond that, employment must have been found for him, when released. The first of these conditions obviates the objection urged by persons who do not understand the mark system, to the effect that the worst men are often the best prisoners, and that the parole system affords them an opportunity for avoiding merited punishment and returning more quickly to a life of crime. So far from this being true, such a man, not having won the confidence of the superintendent, will not receive his conditional discharge under any circumstances, but will have to serve the maximum term for which he might have been sentenced to state prison. The second condition attached to the granting of a parole relieves the managers of the anxiety which they would otherwise feel, lest a discharged prisoner should return to a life of crime, for want of remunerative employment on the outside. Under the old prison system, a society for the aid of discharged prisoners was almost a necessity; and, in a number of states, a state agent, paid from the public treasury is employed, and money placed in his hands to facilitate the rehabilitation of discharged convicts, who give promise of doing well after their release. But under the Elmira system, the prisoner's friends, if he has any, do the work which would otherwise devolve upon a prisoners' aid society and do it far more effectively. When the time approaches at which a prisoner is eligible to parole, he becomes intensely active in seeking, by correspondence with friends on the outside, a position in which he can be honorably and profitably employed, because he knows that without this a parole will not be granted him.

Paroled prisoners are required to report to the managers, by letter or in person, once in every month, for six months. Their employers must also report how they are doing, and whether they have reason to believe that they have violated any of the conditions of their parole. On evidence that these conditions have been violated, it is the duty of the managers to secure the prisoner's arrest, and to have him brought back to the reformatory, where he has to begin again the weary work of earning nines.

as before, with the knowledge that he has by his conduct forfeited the superintendent's confidence, and that it will require more than before for him to regain it. The managers do, in fact, send for such prisoners and bring them back even from other states, by means of a requisition made by the governor of the state of New York, unless the paroled prisoner offers, as he sometimes does, to return voluntarily.

It is evident that this system constitutes a complete whole, and that the parts of it cannot be dis severed, any more than the piston in a steam engine would perform its office, if dis severed from the piston-rod, or from the steam-chest, or from the boiler. It is equally evident that it cannot be successfully administered except by a man who understands it and who believes in it. It must be carried out in the spirit in which it was conceived, or it will amount to nothing in practice.

The operation of it upon the prisoner's mind may be readily understood. All human action is influenced by one of two motives, hope or fear. Of these two, hope is more powerful than fear, more enduring, and more ennobling. The effect of fear is always to degrade the man who comes under its influence. Of all desires which can animate the human breast, the strongest is the longing for personal freedom, and it is peculiarly active in the mind of a prisoner, who learns to appreciate his liberty when he has lost it. By making the date of the prisoner's discharge dependent upon his own efforts to conform in all respects to the requirements of a reformatory discipline, he is made a partner with the prison management in the work of his own reformation. The key of his cell is placed in his hands, and he is instructed how to use it. Either his intellect must be extraordinarily dull, or he must be of an uncommonly depraved moral nature, if, with such a stimulus constantly in operation upon him, he does not do the very best that he can. But the criminal nature is proverbially weak and wavering. In this respect, there is a marked similarity between criminality and insanity. The victim of either has to a great extent lost the power of self control, which can only be restored by the application to him of a mild but firm discipline, in which encouragement has a larger place than intimidation. In watching the course of individual prisoners up and down among the grades, the instability of their wills and fitfulness of their impulses become very apparent, and their progress from a state of self-indulgence to habits of self-control can be easily traced. When a prisoner who at first was incapable of maintaining himself either in the first or in the second grade for any length of time without falling, has acquired sufficient resolution and self-mastery to hold himself for six months upon the intermediate level, and then for another six months upon a higher level, and finally for a third six months, when exposed to the temptations of a free life outside, the probabilities that that man will not return to a criminal career become very strong. It is also in his favor that no fictitious or unattainable standard of reformation is set before him, as the condition of his release. It is not required of him, for instance, that he shall conform in his ideas and sentiments to any dogmatic, theological formula of belief, or that he shall have passed through any type of mystical or emotional religious experience, or that he shall have submitted himself to any ritualistic requirements. The question of his private morals does not count against him, except in so far as his moral character may affect his conduct as a member of society. By reformation, in the legal sense, nothing more is meant, than that a man shall obey the same requirements of law, in his social relations, which govern other men who are not in prison and are in no danger of arrest. This is all that the law has a right to demand of any man, as a condition of personal freedom. The tests, therefore, which are applied by the prison authorities, are tests which have in view simply the determination of this one point, in the prisoner's favor. In order to bring him to this point the discipline of a reformatory prison is so organized as to furnish to the prisoner the means of development in those precise particulars in which he is deficient, whatever they may be. If he is of a low physical type, with a weak, nervous system and flabby, untrained muscles, physical training is supplied to him, in the form of military drill, gymnastic exercises, and the regimen of an athlete, including special diet, baths of all sorts, and, if necessary, massage. If what he lacks is mental development, this is supplied by a prescribed course of reading and study. If the defect which makes him a criminal is in his moral nature, that is appealed to in the ethical class, and by sermons and addresses in the chapel of a non-sectarian character, or by the ministrations of a clergyman of his own type of religious faith and education, whether Protestant, Roman, or Hebrew. If it is the knowledge of a trade which he needs, in order to fit him for self-support, the knowledge of a trade is given him, while in prison. If it is an opportunity to labor for wages on the outside, that is found for him, before he is discharged. His individual character, circumstances, and condition are thoroughly considered, and he is treated accordingly. The question of his earnings is wholly subsidiary. It does not matter whether the prison pays its way or not, if it accomplishes the end for which it was created, which is the making for the state not of money but of men. The prison is also wholly divorced from any connection with practical politics. The selection of the warden does not depend upon his political affiliations or services. The selection of a warden on this ground, and not on that of his fitness for the special duties which he is required to perform, would be fatal to the success of the entire scheme. The introduction into a reformatory prison of the contract system might also prove fatal to its success, and would be very likely to do so. It is of the utmost consequence that the warden of such an institution should be untrammelled in every direction, and that he should be free to adopt any measures which promise success in the task which he has undertaken. The intervention even of the governor by a free use of the pardoning power would destroy the influence upon the inmates of the institution of the stimulating effect of the system itself. This system relieves the governor in a large measure of the great pressure brought to bear upon him in order to secure the pardon of convicts in penitentiaries who have in fact no claim to pardon.

The belief that criminals can not be reformed is strongest in the minds of those who have made no particular effort to secure their reformation. The hopelessness of those who have been discouraged by the small amount of success which has attended their efforts in this direction, is as different from that of those who have never made the attempt at all, as day is from night. The former merits our sympathy, but the latter has no claim upon our respect. Of those who have tried and failed, without any experience of the system just described, or any knowledge of its practical workings, few, if any, are entitled to express a positive opinion as to the possibilities of the system. Negative testimony in this respect has no more weight than the evidence of witnesses who did not see the person commit the crime of which he was accused, in the face of the positive testimony of eye witnesses. The statistics kept at Elmira, and repeatedly published, show that a very large percentage of those who have passed through the institution are known not to have relapsed into crime. That some have done so, and are found in other penal institutions, is no more than was to be expected. Nor does this prove anything in opposition to the system. The experience of the state of New York has been such that the judges of the criminal courts there are now empowered to pronounce an indefinite sentence against any convict, even when sentenced to one of the state prisons and not to the reformatory, and that irrespective of the fact that he is not a first offender but a habitual criminal. The reasons why the provisions of the statute in this regard are permissive and not mandatory, are understood to be, that a reformatory discipline, under the mark and grade system, has not been established in the state prisons of New York, and that it would be unjust to impose an indefinite sentence upon a convict, without giving him an opportunity to escape the infliction upon him of the maximum sentence for his crime imposed by the code. Besides, without the parole, under indefinite sentences, uniformly given, the prisons would fill too rapidly, in consequence of the absence of the means for emptying them which the parole affords. Logically, the system should apply to all convicts, and we have no doubt that it will ultimately be made applicable to all of them, but we are unprepared to recommend such a sweeping innovation in Illinois, without practical experience of the system first had on a more limited scale.

The Elmira Reformatory has been imitated in several States, in all of its leading features, particularly in Massachusetts and Pennsylvania.

This committee, when appointed, was instructed to report to the next General Assembly, recommending such a law as shall secure the best methods for the establishment in Illinois of a reformatory; and for the general management of the State penitentiaries, whenever the present contract system of labor shall expire. We have hesitated to formulate a bill upon the subject. The Miller bill, as it is called, which failed to come to a vote in the Senate at the last session of the Legislature, embodies principles and methods of which we approved, though it is possible that it does not go far enough. The most complete act for the government of prisons which has yet been adopted in any state is the Fassett bill, passed by the New York legislature in 1889, and we think that it might be possible to adopt that measure by some slight alterations to the situation and wants of our own State. We recommend the establishment of a reformatory prison, either as a separate institution disconnected with either of those now in operation, (which we should regard as the ideal plan); or if this is thought to be impracticable, then the conversion of one of the existing penitentiaries into a reformatory; or the addition of a department for adult prisoners to the reform school now in operation at Pontiac. Whichever of these plans may be adopted, however, we urge upon the attention of the General Assembly the necessity of providing by law for a proper limitation of age of inmates to be received, for the separation of first offenders from hardened criminals, for the indeterminate sentence, the mark system, grades, and the parole. The superintendent should be selected without reference to his political convictions or affiliations, and his tenure of office should be made independent of partisan political changes. A salary should be paid him which will enable the State to secure the services of the man best fitted, in the United States, for the organization and management of the trust committed to him. With these provisions embodied in any statute which may be enacted, no serious blunder can be made in the legislation which may be agreed upon by the General Assembly. But our observation of the practical working of the parole system in Ohio, where outside parties are permitted to make application for the conditional release of convicts, leads us to put on record here an earnest caution against permitting a usage so fraught with possible abuse, and so inimical to the fundamental principle on which the system rests, namely, that the prisoner must work his way out of prison by his own unaided efforts to acquire a character which will afford a guaranty against his probable relapse into crime.

Mr. Miller's name is not signed to this report. After remaining at Huntingdon for about a month, his physician allowed him to return to his home in Toulon. He subsequently made a journey to Colorado, for the purpose of regaining his health, and died there, to the great regret of all who knew him. His capacity, integrity, public spirit, and sense of personal and official honor were exceptional, and he would no doubt have made his mark in the annals of the State and nation, had he not been suddenly cut off in the prime of life. We mourn his loss, and close this report with the suggestion that, while we do not wish to be understood as endorsing every detail of the bill with which he identified his name, the General Assembly of this state can erect no nobler monument to his memory than by the creation of the reformatory institution which we have recommended, to the establishment of which the best powers of his mind and heart and uncommonly resolute will were given, so long as he occupied a seat in the House of Representatives.

All of which is respectfully submitted,

BENJAMIN F. SHEETS,
EDWARD L. McDONALD,
Committee on the part of the Senate.

W. G. COCHRAN,
T. E. MERRITT.
Committee on the part of the House.

Mr. McDonald moved that the foregoing report be referred to the Committee on Penal and Reformatory Institutions.

Which motion prevailed.

PRESENTATION OF RESOLUTIONS.

Mr. MacMillan presented the following preamble and joint resolution, which, under the rules, were laid on the table for one day, viz:

WHEREAS, The World's Columbian Commission has requested the enactment of such legislation as will secure a proper exhibition of the resources of the several States and Territories of the Federal Union at the World's Columbian Exposition, in the city of Chicago, State of Illinois, in 1893, therefore,

Resolved, by the Senate, the House concurring herein. That the Governor be, and is hereby authorized to appoint a commission, to be composed of six ladies, to be known as the Board of Lady Commissioners of the State of Illinois.

2. The duties of said Board shall be to promote the collection and secure the exhibition of any and all articles unusual by reason of their antiquity, utility, originality or artistic merit, in the manufacture and production of which the skill of woman is conspicuous; thereby portraying her achievements and her relatively advanced status since the sphere of her usefulness has been increased.

3. The Board of Lady Commissioners herein created shall report to the Governor their proceedings on or before the first day of January in each year, to be by him submitted to the General Assembly.

4. Said Board of Lady Commissioners shall not incur any expenses, personal or otherwise, on behalf of the State.

Mr. Bogardus presented the following joint resolution, which, under the rules, was laid on the table for one day, viz.:

Resolved, by the Senate of the State of Illinois, the House of Representatives, concurring herein, That there shall be submitted to the voters of this State at the next election for members of the General Assembly, a proposition to so amend the first (1) section of the seventh (7) article of the constitution of this State, that the same may read as follows:

Every person having resided in this State one year, in the county ninety days, and in the election district thirty days next preceding any election therein, who was an elector in this State on the first day of April in the year of our Lord 1848, or obtained a certificate of naturalization before any court of record in this State prior to the first day of January, in the year of our Lord 1870, or who shall be a citizen of the United States, male or female above the age of twenty-one years shall be entitled to vote at such election.

So, at 1:50 o'clock P. M., the joint assembly stood adjourned until 12 o'clock, meridian, to-morrow.

IN SENATE CHAMBER.

Thereupon, the Senators, preceded by the President and Secretary of the Senate, returned to their chamber.

At 1:55 o'clock P. M. Mr. Humphrey, moved that the Senate do now adjourn until 11:30 o'clock A. M. to-morrow,

Which motion prevailed.

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 11, 1891—11:30 o'clock A. M.

Senate met pursuant to adjournment,

Hon. Lyman B. Ray, President of the Senate, presiding.

Prayer by the chaplain.

The journal of yesterday was being read, when, on motion of Mr. Hamer, the further reading of the same was dispensed with and it was ordered to stand approved.

PRESENTATION OF PETITIONS.

Mr. Secrest presented a petition from supervisors of Iroquois county concerning the support and care of the incurable insane at public expense, etc., which,

On motion of Mr. Secrest, was referred to the Committee on State Charitable Institutions.

INTRODUCTION OF BILLS.

Mr. Knopf introduced a bill, Senate Bill No. 141, for "An act to amend section 59 of an act entitled 'An act to amend sections 59 and 60 of an act entitled 'An act to revise the law in relation to counties,' approved March 31, 1874, as amended by the act of May 20, 1879,' and to amend said act by adding a section in relation thereto to be known as section 59½, approved June 10, 1887."

On motion of Mr. Knopf, the rules were suspended, and the bill was read at large a first time, and,

On motion of Mr. Knopf, was referred to the Committee on Judicial Department and Apportionment.

A message from the House of Representatives, by Mr. W. B. Morris, Second Assistant Clerk.

Mr. President: I am directed to inform the Senate that the Speaker of the House of Representatives has appointed as members of the joint committee to investigate the Chicago Live Stock Exchange, under a joint resolution, heretofore adopted, the following members of the House: Hunter of Knox, Hamilton, Cockrell.

W. H. HINRICHSSEN,
Clerk of the House of Representatives.

READING SENATE BILLS A SECOND TIME.

Senate Bill No. 94, for "An act to amend sections one, two, three, four, six and eight of an act entitled 'An act to revise the law in relation to the rate of interest, and to repeal certain acts therein named,' approved May 24, 1879, in force July 1, 1879,"

Having been printed, was taken up and read at large a second time,

And the question being, "Shall the bill be ordered to a third reading?"

Mr. Anderson offered the following amendments, viz.:

Amend as follows:

1. By substituting for the words "continue to be five (5)," in line two (2) of section one (1) the word "six (6)."

2. By substituting "six (6)" for "five (5)," in line one (1) of section two (2), and in line two (2) of section three (3).

3. By substituting "six (6)" for "seven (7)" in line two (2) of section four (4), in line two of section six (6), and in lines nine (9) and eleven (11), section 8 of printed bill.

The question being, "Shall the foregoing amendments be adopted?"

Mr. O'Connor moved to lay the foregoing amendments on the table,

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Higbee offered the following amendment to the bill, which were adopted, viz.:

Amend by striking out the words "continue to," in the second line of section one of the printed bill.

Mr. Sheets offered the following amendment, which was lost, viz.:

Amend sections four (4), six (6) and eight (8) by striking out the word "seven" wherever it occurs in said sections, and insert in lieu thereof the word "six."

The question being, "Shall the foregoing bill as amended be engrossed and printed for a third reading?" it was decided in the affirmative.

CONSIDERATION OF RESOLUTIONS.

The following preamble and joint resolution, introduced yesterday by Mr. MacMillan, was taken up for consideration, and,

On the motion of Mr. MacMillan, was referred to the Committee on World's Columbian Exposition, viz.:

WHEREAS, The World's Columbian Commission has requested the enactment of such legislation as will secure a proper exhibition of the resources of the several states and territories of the Federal Union at the World's Columbian Exposition, in the city of Chicago, State of Illinois, in 1893; therefore,

Resolved, by the Senate, the House concurring herein, That the Governor be, and is hereby authorized to appoint a commission, to be composed of six ladies, to be known as the Board of Lady Commissioners of the State of Illinois.

2. The duties of said Board shall be to promote the collection, and secure the exhibition, of any and all articles unusual by reason of their antiquity, utility, originality or artistic merit, in the manufacture and production of which the skill of woman is conspicuous, thereby portraying her achievements and her relatively advanced status since the sphere of her usefulness has been increased.

3. The Board of Lady Commissioners herein created shall report to the Governor their proceedings on or before the first day of January in each year, to be by him submitted to the General Assembly.

4. Said Board of Lady Commissioners shall not incur any expenses, personal or otherwise, on behalf of the State.

The following joint resolution introduced yesterday by Mr. Bogardus, was taken up for consideration, and on motion of Mr. Bogardus was made a special order for Friday, February 13th, 1891, at 10:30 o'clock A. M., viz.:

Resolved, by the Senate of the State of Illinois, the House of Representatives concurring herein, That there shall be submitted to the voters of the State at the next election for members of the General Assembly a proposition to so amend the first (1) section of the seventh (7) article of the constitution of this State, that the same may read as follows:

Every person having resided in this State one year, in the county ninety days, and in the election district thirty days next preceding any election therein, who was an elector in this State on the first day of April in the year of our Lord 1848, or obtained a certificate of naturalization before any court of record in this State prior to the first day of January, in the year of our Lord 1870, or who shall be a citizen of the United States, male or female above the age of 21 years, shall be entitled to vote at such election.

JOINT ASSEMBLY.

The hour of 12 o'clock, meridian, having arrived, the Senate, in pursuance of sections 14 and 15, of title 2, chapter 1, revised statutes of the United States, and in accordance with the motion of yesterday, proceeded to the hall of the House of Representatives, preceded by the President and Secretary of the Senate for the purpose of continuing to ballot for a Senator in the Congress of the United States, from the State of Illinois, for six years from March 4th, 1891.

The two houses being convened in joint session, the Speaker of the House of Representatives presiding,

The President of the Senate directed the Secretary thereof to call the roll of the Senate, when the following answered to their names, Messrs.:

MEMORIAL.

The following memorial was presented by Mr. McDonald, which was read by the Secretary, viz.:

To the Honorable, the Senate:

At a public meeting of citizens, held in the first Presbyterian Church, in the city of Springfield, February 11th, 1891, the following resolutions were unanimously adopted, and it is earnestly desired that they may secure favorable consideration by your honorable body at the earliest opportunity:

Resolved, That the reports of the renewed suffering of the Jews of Russia, from the operation of exceptional and severe edicts, gives us great sorrow; and that the spirit of the nineteenth century, and our consciousness of right to religious liberty, urge us to make kindly but emphatic protest against measures so incompatible with humanitarian principals.

Resolved, further, That a report of this meeting and a copy of these resolutions, be sent to the Honorable, the President of the Senate, and the Honorable, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, of this State, urging that our legislative assembly do, at its present session, memorialize the Congress of the United States to take note of these occurrences in a country between which and ours there has long been reciprocity of friendship, and to pass and forward to his Imperial Majesty, the Czar of all Russia, the resolution submitted by the House Committee on Foreign Affairs, or some other of similar and suitable import.

The undersigned were appointed a committee to communicate the above action to the honorable gentlemen to whom it is addressed.

THOS. D. LOGAN,
O. D. FLETCHER,
C. C. OTIS.

SPECIAL ORDER.

The hour of 10:30 o'clock A. M. having arrived, the President pro tempore of the Senate announced it as the time for the special order, being the further consideration of the following joint resolution, viz.:

Resolved, by the Senate of the State of Illinois, the House of Representatives concurring herein, That there shall be submitted to the voters of this State at the next election for members of the General Assembly a proposition to so amend the first (1) section of the seventh (7) article of the constitution of this State, that the same may read as follows:

Every person having resided in this State one year, in the county ninety days, and in the election district thirty days next preceding any election therein, who was an elector in this State on the first day of April, in the year of our Lord 1848, or obtained a certificate of naturalization before any court of record in this State prior to the first day of January, in the year of our Lord 1870, or who shall be a citizen of the United States, male or female, above the age of 21 years, shall be entitled to vote at such election.

Mr. Bogardus moved that the Senate now go into a Committee of the Whole to consider the foregoing joint resolution.

By direction of the President pro tempore of the Senate, Mr. Berry was called to preside over the deliberations of said committee.

At 11:55 o'clock A. M., on motion of Mr. McDonald, the committee arose and reported progress to its Chairman, Mr. Berry.

Mr. Berry moved that the foregoing joint resolution be referred to the Committee on Judiciary,

Which motion prevailed.

By unanimous consent, on request of Mr. Evans, the Senate returned to the order of

PRESENTATION OF RESOLUTIONS.

Mr. Evans presented the following resolution, which, under the number 39, was laid on the table for one day, viz.:

WHEREAS, It is evident that there is need of additional help in and about the Secretary's office, and as copyists; therefore, be it

Resolved, That Misses Hattie Lowdermilk and Margie E. Shutt be, and they are hereby appointed as copyists and as assistants to the Secretary of the Senate, to be given employment by the Secretary, their compensation to be fixed at the sum of three dollars per day, each.

Mr. Fuller presented the following resolution, which, under rule number 39, was laid on the table for one day, viz.:

Resolved, That William T. Hollenbeck be, and he is hereby, elected Third Assistant Secretary of the Senate, with the same compensation as is allowed by law to the other assistant secretaries.

By unanimous consent, on request of Mr. Evans, the two foregoing resolutions were made a special order for next Tuesday, immediately after the reading of the journal.

PRESENTATION OF RESOLUTIONS.

Mr. Hamer offered the following resolution, which, under rule 39, was laid on the table for one day, viz.:

WHEREAS, The Senate and House of Representatives of the State of Illinois has learned of the death of General William T. Sherman, which occurred in the city of New York, on the 14th instant, after a brief illness; and

WHEREAS, This intelligence is received by the members of this General Assembly with sincere regret and profound sorrow, we, with one accord, desire to testify and place upon record our high appreciation of his many virtues as citizen and soldier: to his great achievements in war and his devoted patriotism in peace; to his courage, bravery and sagacity as the commander of our armies on the field of battle; to his magnanimity as a victorious general, and to his illustrious services to his country in the most heroic period of its history; therefore,

Resolved, by the Senate, the House concurring, That in his death the country has lost a citizen of unsullied honor, a patriot of unfailing loyalty, a hero of glorious and imperishable fame, a man, at all times and in all things, manly.

Resolved, That to his bereaved family we extend our sincere and tender sympathy in the great loss which they, in common with the whole country, have sustained.

Resolved, That this testimonial be spread upon the records of this General Assembly, and a copy thereof furnished by the Secretary to the family of the deceased patriot and soldier.

JOINT ASSEMBLY.

The hour of 12 o'clock, meridian, having arrived, the Senate, in pursuance of sections 14 and 15, of title 2, chapter 1, revised statutes of the United States, and in accordance with the motion of Saturday, proceeded to the hall of the House of Representatives, preceded by Mr. Hamer, acting as President of

The President of the Senate laid before the Senate the following communication, which was referred by consent, to the Committee on Congressional Apportionment, viz.:

STATE OF ILLINOIS,
OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY OF STATE,
SPRINGFIELD, February 3, 1891.

Hon. L. B. Ray, President of the Senate:

SIR: I have the honor to transmit herewith an official copy of an act entitled "An act making an apportionment of Representatives in Congress among the several States under the eleventh census."

Very respectfully,

I. N. PEARSON,
Secretary of State.

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA,
DEPARTMENT OF STATE.

To all whom these presents shall come, greeting:

I certify that hereto annexed is a true copy of an act of Congress, approved February 7, 1891, the original of which is on file in this department, entitled "An act making an apportionment of Representatives in Congress among the several States under the eleventh census."

[SEAL.] In testimony whereof, I, James G. Blaine, Secretary of State of the United States, have hereunto subscribed my name and caused the seal of the Department of State to be affixed.

Done at the city of Washington this tenth day of February, A. D. 1891, and of the Independence of the United States of America, the one hundred and fifteenth.

JAMES G. BLAINE.

(Public—No. 64.)

CONSIDERATION OF RESOLUTIONS.

The following preamble and joint resolution introduced February 16, 1891, was then taken up for consideration, read, and adopted unanimously by a rising vote, to-wit:

WHEREAS, The Senate and House of Representatives of the State of Illinois have learned of the death of General William T. Sherman, which occurred in the city of New York, on the 14th, instant, after a brief illness; and

WHEREAS, This intelligence is received by the members of this General Assembly with sincere regret and profound sorrow, we, with one accord, desire to testify, and place upon record, our high appreciation of his many virtues as citizen and soldier; to his great achievements in war and his devoted patriotism in peace; to his courage, bravery and sagacity as the commander of our armies on the field of battle; to his magnanimity as a victorious general, and to his illustrious services to his country in the most heroic period of its history: therefore,

Resolved, by the Senate, the House concurring, That in his death the country has lost a citizen of unsullied honor, a patriot of unfailing loyalty, a hero of glorious and imperishable fame, a man, at all times and in all things, manly.

Resolved, That to his bereaved family we extend our sincere and tender sympathy in the great loss which they, in common with the whole country, have sustained.

Resolved, That this testimonial be spread upon the records of this General Assembly, and a copy thereof furnished by the Secretary of the Senate to the family of the deceased patriot and soldier.

Ordered that the Secretary of the Senate inform the House of Representatives thereof, and ask their concurrence therein.

By unanimous consent, on request of Mr. Caldwell, the resolution introduced by him on Saturday, February 14, was temporarily passed by, to be called up by him at some future time.

CONSIDERATION OF HOUSE MESSAGES.

The following joint resolution, received from the House of Representatives in a message of January 14, 1891, was taken for consideration and read, viz.:

WHEREAS, The people of the State of Illinois will be greatly benefited by a free coinage of silver; and

WHEREAS, There is now pending in the Senate of the United States a bill soon to be voted upon for passage: therefore, be it

Resolved, by the House of Representatives, the Senate concurring, That we heartily approve of, and favor the passage of what is known as the "free coinage bill," and we hereby instruct our representatives in the United States Senate to vote for and to exercise their influence, and use their endeavors to secure the passage of the above measure.

Resolved, further, That the Clerk of this House be, and is hereby directed to transmit to Senators Shelby M. Cullom and Charles B. Farwell individual transcripts of these resolutions.

The question being, "Shall the foregoing joint resolution be adopted?"

Mr. Fuller offered the following substitute therefor, to-wit:

Resolved, by the Senate, the House of Representatives concurring herein, That the Representative in Congress from the State of Illinois, be and they are hereby requested to use all honorable means to secure the passage of the Senate silver bill now pending in the House of Representatives of the National Congress.

Mr. Thomas moved to refer the whole matter to the Committee on Federal Relations.

Mr. O'Connor moved to lay the original joint resolution and Mr. Fuller's substitute on the table,

Which motion prevailed.

The following joint resolution, received in a House message of January 21, 1891, was then taken up and read, viz.:

Resolved, by the House of Representatives, the Senate concurring herein, That it is the sense of this assembly, that the constitution of the United States should be so amended as to provide for the election of United States Senators by direct vote of the people, and the Representatives in Congress from this State are hereby requested and the Senators are directed to advocate and vote for such proposed amendment.

The question being, "Shall the foregoing joint resolution be adopted?"

Mr. O'Connor moved that the same be passed by indefinitely,
Which motion prevailed.

JOINT ASSEMBLY.

MESSAGE FROM THE HOUSE.

A message from the House of Representatives, by Mr. W. B. Morris, Second Assistant Clerk:

Mr. President: I am directed to inform the Senate that the House of Representatives has adopted the following preamble and joint resolution, in the adoption of which I am instructed to ask the concurrence of the Senate, to-wit:

WHEREAS, The Thirty-sixth General Assembly of the State of Illinois, by joint resolution adopted by both branches, August 1, 1890, upon a unanimous report made by the conference committee, resolved as follows in relation to the World's Fair employes.

Resolved by the House of Representatives of the State of Illinois, the Senate concurring herein, That the authorities having in charge the management of the World's Columbian Exposition are hereby respectfully requested to observe the eight hour law in all work to be contracted by them, and that, as far as practicable, they employ American citizens or those who have declared their intention to become such.

Adopted by the House August 1, 1890, concurred in by the Senate August 1, 1890, laws of extra session of 1890 and,

WHEREAS, It is currently reported in Chicago newspapers and by citizens of Chicago, that the first actual work has recently commenced on the site or sites of said World's Columbian Exposition and in defiance of and wholly ignoring the letter and spirit of said joint resolution, the said authorities have contracted the work so far done or doing without regard to the eight hour law or the law requiring American citizens or those who have declared their intention of becoming such to be employed on said work: therefore, be it

Resolved by the House of Representatives of the Thirty-seventh General Assembly, the Senate concurring herein, That there shall be appointed a joint committee of the House and Senate, to consist of three members of the House and two members of the Senate, for the purpose of investigating the truth or falsehood of said reports, and that they shall have the power to summon and compel the attendance of witnesses, and shall have power to compel the production of books, papers and contracts relating to said work, and it shall be their duty after this investigation to cause a report to be made to both branches of the Thirty-seventh General Assembly, showing the result of its inquiry, with such recommendations as to further legislation on these and kindred subjects as they may deem necessary.

Adopted by the House February 20, 1891.

W. H. HINRICHSEN,

Clerk of the House of Representatives.

Denham,	Hambaugh,	liam H.,	Smith, James
Dixon, Sher-	Hunter, James	Norsworthy,	A.,
wood,	W.,

Thereupon, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, presiding over the joint assembly, announced the result of the one hundred and twenty-sixth ballot in joint assembly, as follows:

Whole number of votes cast..... 101
John M. Palmer received..... 101 votes.

And it appearing that no quorum had voted upon the foregoing ballot, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, presiding over the joint assembly, announced that no choice had been made by the joint assembly on the one hundred and twenty-sixth ballot for United States Senator, and declared the next thing in order to be the calling of the roll of the two houses for another ballot.

Mr. Fuller then arose to the point of order that inasmuch as the requirements of the statutes of the United States had been complied with in taking a ballot, and now it having been shown that no quorum was present, nothing was now in order, under the rules, but a motion to adjourn, and a call of the House.

The Speaker of the House of Representatives ruled that the point of order was not well taken.

The President of the Senate dissented from the ruling of the Speaker, but thereupon interposed no further objections to the Secretary of the Senate proceeding to the calling of the roll of the Senate for the one hundred and twenty-seventh joint ballot for United States Senator, which was done with the following result:

John M. Palmer received..... 24 votes.

The following voted for John M. Palmer, Messrs.:

Conway,	Fishback,	H.,	G.,	White, John W.
Craig,	Forsythe,	McInerney,	Ramsay, Rufus	(20th).
Curtiss,	Garrett,	May,	N.,	Wilkinson,
Dawdy,	Geher,	Merritt,	Rohrer,	Wilson,
Dawkins,	Gill,	Meyer, Ernst,	Rowand,	Widl,
Dearborn,	Green,	Mers, William	Shirley,	Mr. Speaker—77.
Denham,	Hambaugh,	H.,	Smith, James
Dixon, Sher-	Hunter, James	Norsworthy,	A.,
wood,	W.,

Thereupon, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, presiding over the joint assembly, announced the result of the one hundred and twenty-seventh ballot in joint assembly, as follows:

Whole number of votes cast.....	101
John M. Palmer received.....	101 votes.

And it appearing that no quorum had voted upon the foregoing ballot, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, presiding over the joint assembly, announced that no choice had been made by the joint assembly on the one hundred and twenty-seventh ballot for United States Senator, and declared the next thing in order to be the calling of the roll of the two houses for another ballot.

Pending further proceedings,

At 1 o'clock P. M., Representative Dixon, of Lee, moved that the joint assembly adjourn until 12 o'clock, noon, to-morrow,

Which motion prevailed.

Thereupon, the Senate returned to its chamber.

IN SENATE CHAMBER.

A MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR.

A message from the Governor, by H. G. Reeves, Private Secretary:

Mr. President: I am directed by the Governor to lay before the Senate the following communication:

STATE OF ILLINOIS,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT.
SPRINGFIELD, February 26, 1891.

To the Honorable, the Senate:

I have the honor to lay before the Senate a copy of joint resolutions adopted by the Legislature of the State of Kansas, and a copy of letter transmitting the same.

JOSEPH W. FIFER,
Governor.

SENATE CHAMBER,
TOPEKA, KANSAS, February 11, 1891.

To the Governor of Illinois, Springfield, Illinois:

In compliance with the orders of the Legislature of Kansas, I have the honor to transmit the concurrent resolution adopted by both houses, relating to a commercial congress, and request that you message the same to your Legislature, if in session.

I am further directed to notify you that the Kansas Legislature will make provisions for the expenses of the delegates from this State, and for its share of the expenses of the proposed commercial congress, and to suggest, that if your Legislature adopts this resolution, similar provisions might be made for your delegates.

I am very respectfully,
Your obedient servant,
A. G. STACEY,
Secretary of the Senate.

Senate concurrent resolution No. 20:

WHEREAS, The complaint throughout agricultural sections, based upon economic questions, having become general in the states of the west and southwest; and

WHEREAS, With a view to the advancement of the material interests of western agricultural and mining states, and recognizing the importance of harmonious action on the part of the states and territories within the agricultural and mining regions west of the Ohio river and extending to the Pacific ocean; therefore, be it

Resolved, by the Senate, the House of Representatives concurring therein, That the Legislature of the State of Kansas hereby requests, with a view to the consideration of important commercial and economic interests, that the several states and territories lying between the Ohio river and the Pacific Ocean join in a commercial congress of such states and territories, to be held April 15, 1891, and in view of central location we suggest Kansas City as the place of meeting; and as a basis of representation in such proposed commercial congress we suggest that each state name as delegates four Senators and five members of the House of Representatives, and that the territories be allowed five delegates each.

Resolved, That the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of each of the states shall be ex-officio members of said delegation.

Resolved, That the presiding officers of each house of the several states and territories where the legislatures are in session be requested to name the delegates to such convention, and where the legislature of any state or territory is not in session, the Governor of such state or territory shall appoint the requisite number of delegates for his state or territory from the members of the legislature of such states or territories.

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Senate send copies of this resolution to the Executive of each state and territory west of the Mississippi river, and to the following states east of the said river, namely: Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky, Tennessee, Michigan, Wisconsin and Illinois, with the request that the Executives of the several states or territories herein designated, signify to the Governor of this state their concurrence or otherwise in the purpose of their resolution, as well as the action of their several legislatures.

Adopted by Kansas Legislature February 11, 1891.

Attest: A. G. STACEY,
Secretary of the Senate.

On motion of Mr. Crawford, of Cook, the foregoing communication was taken up for immediate consideration.

Mr. Crawford, of Cook, moved to refer the foregoing communication to the Committee on Agriculture, Horticulture and Farm Drainage,

Which motion prevailed.

IN SENATE CHAMBER.

At 1:25 o'clock P. M., Mr. Sheets moved that the Senate now adjourn until 11 o'clock, A. M., to-morrow,

Which motion prevailed.

THURSDAY, MARCH 5, 1891—11 O'CLOCK A. M.

Senate met pursuant to adjournment.

Hon. Lyman B. Ray, President of the Senate, presiding.

Prayer by the chaplain.

The journal of yesterday was being read, when, on motion of Mr. Humphrey, the further reading of the same was dispensed with, and it was ordered to stand approved.

SPECIAL ORDER.

The reading of the journal having been completed, the President of the Senate announced it as the time for the special order, being the further consideration of Senate Bill No. 43, for "An act to protect associations and unions of workingmen in their labels, trade-marks and forms of advertising."

The question being, "Shall the bill be ordered engrossed and printed as amended, for a third reading?"

Mr. Brink offered the following amendments, which were adopted, viz.:

Amend section 1 in line 6, by inserting after the word "such," the word "person."

Amend section 3 by inserting in line 9, after the word "said," the word "person."

Amend section 5 by inserting in line 3, after the word "such," the word "person."

Also, amend section 5 by inserting in line 7, after the word "such," the word "person."

And the question now being, "Shall the bill be ordered engrossed and printed, as amended, for a third reading?" it was decided in the affirmative.

HOUSE MESSAGE.

A message from the House, by Mr. E. P. Kimball, Assistant Clerk:

Mr. President: I am directed to inform the Senate that the House of Representatives has concurred with them in the adoption of the following preamble and joint resolutions, to-wit:

WHEREAS, The Senate and House of Representatives of the State of Illinois have learned of the death of General William T. Sherman, which occurred in the city of New York, on the 14th, instant, after a brief illness; and

WHEREAS, This intelligence is received by the members of the General Assembly with sincere regret and profound sorrow, we, with one accord, desire to testify, and place upon record, our high appreciation of his many virtues as citizen and soldier; to his great achievements in war and his devoted patriotism in peace; to his courage, bravery and sagacity as the commander of our armies on the field of battle; to his magnanimity as a victorious general, and to his illustrious services to his country in the most heroic period of its history: therefore,

Resolved, by the Senate, the House concurring, That in his death the country has lost a citizen of unsullied honor, a patriot of unfailing loyalty, a hero of glorious and imperishable fame, a man, at all times and in all things, manly.

Nesolved, That to his bereaved family we extend our sincere and tender sympathy in the great loss which they, in common with the whole country, have sustained.

Resolved, That this testimonial be spread upon the records of this General Assembly, and a copy thereof furnished by the Secretary of the Senate to the family of the deceased patriot and soldier.

Adopted by the Senate February 18, 1891

Concurred in by the House March 4, 1891.

W. H. HINRICHSSEN,

Clerk of the House of Representatives.

Pending further proceedings,

At 12:55 o'clock P. M., Senator Fuller moved that the joint assembly adjourn until 12 o'clock, noon, to-morrow,

Which motion prevailed.

Thereupon, the Senators returned to their chamber.

IN SENATE CHAMBER.

By unanimous consent, the Senate returned to the order of

REPORTS OF STANDING COMMITTEES.

Mr. Chapman, from the Committee on Insurance, to which was referred a bill, Senate Bill No. 60, for "An act to correct certain abuses and prevent unjust discriminations of and by life insurance companies doing business in this State, between insurants of the same class and equal expectation of life in the rates, amount or payment of premiums, in the return of premiums, dividends, rebates, or other benefits," reported the same back with amendment thereto, and recommended that the amendment be adopted, and that the bill as amended do pass.

The bill was ordered on file for a second reading, and to be printed with the amendment.

Mr. Chapman, from the Committee on Insurance, to which was referred a bill, Senate Bill No. 59, for "An act requiring the procurement of license by life insurance agents and providing a penalty for violation thereof," reported the same back with the recommendation that the bill do pass.

Under the rules, the bill was ordered on file for a second reading, and to be printed.

Mr. Chapman, from the Committee on Insurance, to which was referred a bill, Senate Bill No. 84, for "An act to subject persons doing an insurance business within this State, whether as individuals or co-partners, to the same restrictions and liabilities, and to require them to perform the same duties that now are, or hereafter shall be imposed upon corporations doing business within this State," reported the same back, with amendments thereto, and recommended that the amendments be adopted and that the bill, as amended, do pass.

The bill was ordered on file for a second reading, and to be printed, with the amendments.

Mr. Chapman, from the Committee on Insurance, to which was referred a bill, Senate Bill No. 174, for "An act to amend sections one (1) and eight (8) of an act entitled 'An act to incorporate and to govern accident life insurance companies doing business in the State of Illinois,' approved June 7, 1889, in force July 1, 1889," reported the same back with the recommendation that the bill be printed.

The report of the committee was concurred in, and the bill was ordered to be printed for the use of the committee and returned to the same.

Mr. Chapman, from the Committee on Insurance, to which was referred a bill, Senate Bill No. 172, for "An act to amend sections one (1) and six (6) of an act entitled 'An act to incorporate and to govern fire, marine and inland navigation insurance companies doing business in the State of Illinois,' approved March 11, 1869," reported the same back with the recommendation that the bill be printed.

The report of the committee was concurred in, and the bill was ordered to be printed for the use of the committee.

Mr. Kerrick, from the Committee on Judiciary, to which was referred a bill, Senate Bill No. 65, for "An act ceding to the United States of America exclusive jurisdiction over certain structures and lands in the county of Rock Island, State of Illinois," reported the same back with a substitute therefor, with the recommendation that the original bill be laid on the table, and that the substitute do pass.

The report of the committee was concurred in, and,

On motion of Mr. Kerrick, the original bill was ordered to lie on the table, and the substitute, being Senate Bill No. 207, a bill for "An act ceding to the United States of America exclusive jurisdiction over certain structures, lands, streets and alleys in the county of Rock Island, State of Illinois, and authorizing and confirming the conveyance of the same by the city of Rock Island to it," was ordered to a first reading, and,

EXECUTIVE COMMUNICATION.

A message from the Governor, by H. G. Reeves, Private Secretary:

Mr. President: I am directed by the Governor to lay before the Senate the following communication:

STATE OF ILLINOIS,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
SPRINGFIELD, March 31, 1891.

To the Honorable, the Senate:

I have the honor to nominate and appoint Ezekiel J. Ingersoll, of Jackson county, and Samuel P. Wheeler, of Sangamon county, as trustees of the Southern Illinois Normal University, to succeed themselves, and I respectfully ask the concurrence of the Senate.

I also have the honor to nominate and appoint Marshall Culp, of Union county, as trustee of the Illinois Southern Hospital for the Insane, to succeed E. H. Finch, whose term has expired, and I respectfully ask the concurrence of the Senate.

JOSEPH W. FIFER,
Governor.

The foregoing communication, under rule No. 62, was ordered to an executive session.

MISCELLANEOUS BUSINESS.

• By unanimous consent, on request of Mr. Sheets, Senate Bill No. 80, for "An act to establish the Illinois State Reformatory," having been printed, was taken up for consideration and read at large a second time together with the following amendments, viz.:

Amend by prefixing to section numbered 3: "After the appointment of the board of managers provided for in this act, the State Board of Public Charities shall no longer have control or supervision over the Illinois State Reform School."

Add to section one (1) the following: "And the trustees and other officers now in control of the reform school at Pontiac shall hold their respective positions until the board of managers provided for by this act are appointed by the Governor, and not longer."

Amend by striking out of section eighteen (18) of printed bill, '8, and that part of line 19 before the word "enter."

Amend section six (6) by inserting the following after the word "proper" in line 8 of section 6: "It shall be the duty of the managers to provide for the thorough training of each and every inmate in the common branches of an English education; also in such trade or handicraft as will enable him, upon his release to earn his own support. For this purpose said managers shall establish and maintain common schools and trade schools in said reformatory and make all needful rules and regulations for the government of the same."

Amend section eleven (11) by striking out all after the word "that" in line ten (10) and insert the following: "No person guilty of a capital offense shall be sentenced to the State Reformatory."

Amend section twenty-two (22) by inserting in line 2, "the sum of $150,000.00."

Amend section twenty-three (23) by striking out all after the word "hereby" in line 3 and insert the following: "Made the duty of the superintendent of said reformatory to notify the judges of all the criminal and circuit courts of the State that the institution is ready for the reception of prisoners."

Amend as follows: Insert after section ten (10) a section numbered eleven (11) as follows:

Section 11. In all criminal cases tried by jury, in which the jury shall find the defendant guilty, they shall also find by their verdict whether or not the defendant is between the ages of ten (10) and thirty (30) years, and if the jury shall find the defendant to be between the ages of ten (10) and thirty (30) years, they shall find as nearly as may be the age of the defendant, and in case the finding of the jury shall be that the defendant is between the ages of ten (10) and thirty (30) years, and it shall not be shown in said cause that the defendant has been previously sentenced to a penitentiary in this or any other State or country, and the offense of which the defendant is convicted is not a capital offense, the jury trying such cause shall not fix the punishment of the defendant.

Change the numbering of sections 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, 22, 23 and 24, to 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24 and 25 respectively.

Amend section 23 of the bill as printed, section 24 as amended, by adding thereto as follows:

"And until such proclamation and notification, verdicts and sentences in criminal cases shall not be affected by the provisions of this act."

Amend the title by adding thereto the following:

"And making an appropriation therefor."

Amend section 3 by striking out of line 9 the words "trade knowledge."

Amend section 13, printed bill, 14 amended bill, by striking out, in line 788, "or the less than the minimum term."

Amend by striking out of sections ten, eleven, twelve, fifteen, sixteen, twenty and twenty-one, and wherever it occurs in the bill, the word "thirty," and insert the words "twenty-five" in lieu thereof."

Amend section 16, printed bill, 17 amended bill, by striking out all after the word "until," in line 14, and insert in lieu thereof the following words:

"The said board of managers shall have satisfactory evidence that arrangements have been made for his honorable and useful employment for at least six months while upon parole, in some suitable occupation."

Amend section 19 by striking out the word "five," in line 3, and insert the word "ten" in lieu thereof.

Amend section 22 in printed bill, 23 amended bill, by striking out all of said section after the word "in," line 4, and insert the following in lieu thereof:

"Sums not exceeding ten thousand dollars at any one time. The Auditor of Public Accounts is hereby authorized to draw his warrant on the Treasurer for the money hereby appropriated, on receiving a certificate of said managers, or a majority of them, approved by the Governor, that such moneys are necessary for the purposes contemplated by this act, in sums not exceeding ten thousand dollars at one time: Provided, that after said managers shall have drawn any amount of money by virtue of this act, they shall not be entitled to draw or receive any more money by virtue hereof while there shall remain in their hands, unexpended, the amount of over one thousand dollars, and they shall produce to the Auditor of Public Accounts proper vouchers showing the expenditure of such money."

The question being, "Shall the foregoing amendments be adopted?"

Mr. Shumway moved that the further consideration of the bill, with amendments, be postponed to, and made a special order for next Thursday, immediately after the reading of the journal.

Mr. MacMillan moved that the motion be amended by substituting "to-morrow at 10:30 o'clock," in lieu of "next Thursday, after the reading of the journal,"

PRESENTATION OF RESOLUTIONS.

Mr. Rickert presented a resolution, which, under the rule, was laid over for one day, viz.:

WHEREAS, Any measure tending to cheapen transportation to the seaboard will prove of material value to all of the people of the State of Illinois, and,

WHEREAS, The entire State is bounded on the south and west by the Mississippi river, possessing an ample flow of water to justify its improvement by the general government so as to give it sufficient depth to accommodate ocean going vessels as high as the mouth of the Illinois river for at least eight months of the year, and to Cairo, at the mouth of the Ohio river, the whole year—with the Ohio and the Wabash rivers bordering on a large portion of the southeastern boundary, while on the northeastern we have the great lakes—all of which are magnificent free gifts of nature, to aid the people of this State, and the entire valley, to get their surplus products to the market of the world, at the cheapest possible rate, and,

WHEREAS, A great number of citizens of the State have, by virtue of our laws, perfected an organization, by complying therewith, and by the adoption of a constitution as a basis of association, by means of which they propose taking such steps as will enable the whole people of the Mississippi valley to form one general system of co-operative association, modeled after that of our system of government, to do a general transportation business, and,

WHEREAS, The People's Great Mississippi Valley Traffic Association has been organized under a plan, and for the purpose of enabling the people of the entire valley to build up a strong commercial organization, through which they can protect themselves from the grasping methods of the great monopolies of the country and to secure to themselves, through a system of equitable co-operation all of the advantages and profits made possible by such a concentration of their transportation business in their own association, and through such a system of concentrated efforts aid to the full extent of its power and opportunity in stimulating individual industry, prosperity and happiness, and in promoting the general welfare of our whole people in harmony with the spirit and principles of our people's institutions, and,

WHEREAS, It is the purpose of said association to secure its capital from the people in small amounts from each, with the view of having as nearly every citizen as practicable throughout the whole entire valley to become members and stockholders, and share in an equitable manner in its profits and management, and,

WHEREAS, Said association contains a provision that places a fixed limit upon all of its dividends, and in many other ways provides for securing to all of its members all of the benefits made possible through a proper concentration of a liberal portion of all their transportation business, while at the same time it creates a safe and profitable investment for all of the people's savings by furnishing them with convenient opportunities for investing the same in the stock of said people's association, and,

WHEREAS, In any organization that proposes to benefit the public in general there should be a representative assembly chosen by the people, to make the necessary laws and rules to carry out the intention of the organization, and,

WHEREAS, The said People's Traffic Association provides such a representative assembly, wherein the stock elects the upper house and the stockholders the lower house, and requiring the action of both to be binding on the association, thereby uniting and giving confidence to both capital and individual members, thus securing to every individual, locality and particular line of business, and to both capital and the individual, a fair and equitable voice in the general management of the business affairs, and an equitable distribution of the profits of the association, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate, the House concurring herein, That the delegates appointed by the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House, to meet with the business congress which is to be held in Kansas City, April 14, be and they are hereby instructed to use all honorable means to have the plans of said People's Great Mississippi Valley Traffic Association favorably considered by the said commercial congress at Kansas City, as one of the surest and most practicable methods for the people of this valley to unite in best promoting all of their various interests, and in securing an early, substantial and permanent relief, from all unjust business methods.

A MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR.

The following message from the Governor was received and read, to-wit:

A message from the Governor, by H. G. Reeves, Private Secretary:

Mr. President: I am directed by the Governor to lay before the Senate the following communication:

STATE OF ILLINOIS,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
SPRINGFIELD, April 28, 1891.

To the Honorable, the Senate:

The Congress of the United States has, by an act approved by the President, provided for the commencement of the Illinois and Mississippi canal, commonly called the Hennepin canal, and I am informed that before beginning the construction of this work the United States Government requires the assent of the legislature to the purchase or the condemnation by the United States of all lands in this State necessary for the construction of said canal. I therefore respectfully ask the passage by the House and Senate the following joint resolution:

JOSEPH W. FIFER,
Governor.

JOINT RESOLUTION.

Be it resolved, by the Senate and House of Representatives of the State of Illinois, That the assent of the General Assembly of the State of Illinois be and the same is hereby given to the United States to acquire title to, by purchase or condemnation proceedings in accordance with the laws of the United States and of this State, and to hold, occupy and possess, all lands necessary for the construction and maintenance of the Illinois and Mississippi canal and the feeder thereto, as provided for by act of Congress entitled "An act making appropriations for the construction, repair and preservation of certain public works on rivers and harbors, and for other purposes," approved September 19, 1890, and the State of Illinois hereby cedes to the United States jurisdiction over any and all lands so acquired.

Mr. Thiele moved to suspend the rules and take up the foregoing joint resolution for immediate consideration,

Which motion prevailed.

And the question now being, "Shall the foregoing joint resolution be adopted?" it was decided in the affirmative.

Ordered that the Secretary of the Senate notify the House of Representatives thereof and ask their concurrence therein.

REPORTS FROM SELECT COMMITTEES.

Mr. Allen, from the joint committee appointed to investigate the Chicago Live Stock Exchange at Chicago, made the following report, to-wit:

To the Honorable Lyman B. Ray, President of the Senate:

SIR—The General Assembly of the State of Illinois on the 6th day of February, 1891, adopted the following joint resolution:

WHEREAS, It has been brought to the knowledge of the members of the Thirty-seventh General Assembly that a corporation organized under the laws of the State of Illinois, and known as the Chicago Live Stock Exchange, is exercising the power of prohibiting the sale of cattle on the market of the Union Stock Yards, in the city of Chicago, for a less sum than 50 cents per head commission, and is compelling all of its members to charge not less than that sum, and prohibits its members from buying live stock from commission men and companies who charge less than 50 cents per head commission; and

WHEREAS, The said corporation is said to have established a boycott in said yards against any and all parties who refuse to obey its rules by which a minimum commission is fixed; and

WHEREAS, It is believed that the commission men and the buyers of live stock on said Union Stock Yards market, to the extent of about 500, including all of the leading buyers and members of said exchange, are acting in combination to the detriment of the interests of the feeders and sellers of live stock; and

WHEREAS, The price of 50 cents per head commission for the sale of cattle, is manifestly nearly double a reasonable price; and

WHEREAS, The depressed condition of the farming and stock raising interests demand that no unreasonable or unjust restrictions should be made against them; and

WHEREAS, It is believed that no corporation organized under the laws of Illinois has the legal power to pass or enforce a by-law prohibiting its members from selling stock on a public market at such prices as the member may desire, and has no legal power to prevent its members from buying stock on a public market from any person whatsoever; therefore, be it

Resolved, That a joint committee of five members be appointed, two from the Senate and three from the House, with full power to investigate said charges, and they are hereby invested with full power and authority to send for persons and papers, and to administer oaths; and, be it further

Resolved, That it is hereby made the duty of said committee to investigate such reports, and ascertain whether the said Chicago Live Stock Exchange does prohibit its members from selling cattle in said stock yards for a less commission than 50 cents per head, and if so, by what authority; and if it does prohibit its members from buying from commission men who are willing to sell for a less sum than as prescribed by the rules of the exchange, and if so, by what authority it so acts; and that said committee report what legislation is needed, if any, to prevent any such combination from charging or receiving any such unreasonable commissions, and whether or not such combination of the commission men who sell other people's live stock and the buyers is consistent with, or antagonistic to, the interests of the farming and stock raising interests of Illinois; and also whether such combination does not amount to a conspiracy to the detriment of the people of the State of Illinois; and, be it further

Resolved, That the said committee shall have power, in their discretion, to employ a stenographer."

In accordance with that resolution, the following named gentlemen were named as members of the joint committee therein provided for: Senators Sylvester Allen, of Scott county; Louis Zearing, of Bureau county; and Representatives James W. Hunt, of Knox county; John L. Hamilton, of Iroquois county; and James Cockrell, of Marion county.

Your committee would respectfully report that so soon as conveniently could be after its organization, it proceeded to enter upon the investigation of the matters submitted for its consideration. It caused to be subpoenaed before it members of the Chicago Live Stock Exchange and others engaged in the business of buying and selling live stock at the market afforded by the Union Stock Yards and Transit Company at the city of Chicago, and also stock producers of the State of Illinois, all of whom were carefully and fully examined touching the subject of the foregoing resolutions. Also your committee heard the testimony of divers persons who were at large interested in the subject, and caused all of the testimony heard by it to be taken down in shorthand, which has been transcribed by the stenographer and is subject to the order of the General Assembly.

The sessions of your committee have been held at the capital, and have been open and free to the attendance of all persons interested in the investigation.

The investigation has unavoidably assumed a somewhat wider range than the exact limits of your resolutions, because your committee deemed it unwise in an investigation of matters so important to the welfare of the people of the State to enforce rigidly the technical rules of evidence to the exclusion of a broader and more liberal system of investigation: and as a consequence there was much testimony heard as to the conditions, past and present, of the live stock business at the great markets, which technically, would hardly be within the exact boundaries of the resolutions: but it is believed that a more satisfactory conclusion has been reached thereby, and that the public, as well as the persons directly interested, will be more contented with the results of an investigation thus conducted.

Your committee finds from the evidence adduced under the oaths of the several witnesses that the recitals of the joint resolution are substantially true.

They find that in the year 1884 there was organized under the general incorporation laws of the State of Illinois, a corporation, not for pecuniary profit, under the name of "The Chicago Live Stock Exchange," the general purposes of which were recited to be "to establish and maintain a commercial exchange; to promote uniformity in the customs and usages of merchants; to provide for the speedy adjustment of all business disputes between its members; to facilitate the receiving and distributing of live stock, as well as to provide for a rigid inspection thereof, thereby guarding against the sale or use of unsound or unhealthy meats; and generally to secure to its members the benefits of co-operation in the furtherance of their legitimate pursuits."

That this corporation, shortly after its organization, adopted a body of by-laws providing for the government of its members, and solicited persons whose interests were centered at the Union Stock Yards to become members thereof. This invitation has been very generally accepted, and to-day the membership of the "Chicago Live Stock Exchange" numbers over five hundred persons, and includes all of the commission merchants who make a business of selling live stock for others, on commission, and all of the principal buyers and packers doing business at the Union Stock Yards. A copy of the rules and by-laws of this corporation were submitted in evidence to the committee, and the doings of the exchange since its organization have passed in review before us in this investigation. Many of the regulations we find to be commendable, and in accord with the public interests; and the exchange have, from time to time, lent a valuable aid to the promotion of reforms, both of a public character and such as were in a degree peculiar to the prior existing conditions on said market. And in many respects the exchange is entitled to commendation for its services in bringing about a higher standard of commercial equity than existed before its organization on the part of its members.

It will be observed, however, that by this membership in the same society, the buyer and packer who purchase live stock on the Union Stock Yards market are brought into a combination and unnatural association with the commission merchant who sells to his fellow member the vast products of the great agricultural Northwest.

This alliance seems to this committee to be inconsistent with a perfect discharge of duty on the part of the commission man to his principal. It is manifestly the interest of the buyer to purchase the products, which he buys for re-sale or for slaughter and sale in its manufactured form, as cheaply as possible; and it is to the interest of the producer of live stock to sell for the greatest price he can obtain. It having become indispensable to the sale of live stock upon this great market that the producer should employ the commission man to sell his stock for him, he cannot fail to look with suspicion, or at least with a degree of discontent upon so intimate an association of his representative with the person or persons who are seeking to obtain the fruit of his industry at the lowest possible prices. When this condition is contemplated from the standpoint of the producer, whose returns for his live stock have been reduced to barely living prices, and the enormous fortunes which have been accumulated by the great buyers, who have made these fortunes out of the trades made with the commission man who sells the property of the thousands of producers, discontent, doubt and suspicion follow naturally.

Further pursuing this topic, your committee would call the attention of the General Assembly to the fact that the Chicago Live Stock Exchange, composed, as before stated, of commission merchants and the buyers and packers, has assumed the power of prohibiting its members from selling live stock for less commissions than is prescribed by the rules, thereby practically destroying all competition in that important business. This rule is most rigidly enforced, and any member of the exchange, who should agree to sell, for example, cattle at a less commission than fifty cents per head would be, at once, debarred from the privilege of membership, and all the members, including the great buyers and packers, would refuse to purchase live stock committed to his charge for sale. In respect to this rule, your committee is constrained to say that it cannot understand upon what legitimate basis the buyer and packer can associate himself with the commission man for the enforcement of it. Presumably the buyer has no interest in the commission, and the persistent association of the buyer with the commission man to enable the latter to insist upon this rule must excite unfavorable comment and lead to the inquiry as to how and in what manner the commission man is expected to reciprocate to the buyer this great service. The alliance is unnatural, because in honesty and fair-dealing the positions of buyer and seller are, and ought to be, antagonistic—the buyer buying as cheaply as he can, and the seller getting the best possible price.

This condition of things existing at the Union Stock Yards, in Chicago, in the year 1889, and discontent with the prices paid for selling live stock, having arisen with many producers, a coöperation association was formed by many stock producers, looking to the sale of their own stock at these yards. They believed that they could sell their own stock and the stock of others to better advantage by means of agents and representatives of their own, than through the commission merchants. With this end in view, a corporation was formed by stock producers, in May, 1889, under the name of the "American Live Stock Commission Company," whose purposes and principles of doing business are clearly stated in its charter, which is as follows:

First—The name of said proposed corporation shall be the American Live Stock Commission Company.

Second—The capital stock of said corporation shall be one hundred thousand dollars, divided into one thousand shares of the par value of one hundred dollars per share.

Third—That the principal office of said corporation shall be located in the Union Stock Yards, Town of Lake, County of Cook, and State of Illinois.

Fourth—The object for which said corporation is to be formed is to engage in the business of buying, selling and handling live stock upon commission in the said Union Stock Yards, State of Illinois, and at such other points throughout the United States as may be deemed advisable; and also to encourage the stockholders of said corporation to raise, improve, feed and ship for market, live stock; and in order to better effectuate said latter object, it is hereby expressly stipulated and agreed by and between the parties hereto, that the net earnings of said corporation shall be distributed among the stockholders thereof annually, in the following manner, to-wit: Sixty-five (65) per cent. of said net earnings shall be distributed to the said stockholders in the ratio of the number of stock shipped by each stockholder to the said corporation, for sale during the current year for which said dividend shall be declared, and the remaining thirty-five per cent. of said net earnings shall be distributed to the shareholders in said corporation in the ratio of the amount owned by each shareholder in said corporation.

It is also hereby further expressly agreed and stipulated that no person shall have the right to subscribe for or own more than twenty-five (25) shares of stock in said corporation at any time during the existence of said proposed corporation.

This association is composed exclusively of stock producers, and immediately after its organization, opened offices for the transaction of business at the Union Stock Yards, Chicago, the National Stock Yards, East St. Louis, Ill., The Kansas City Stock Yards, Kansas City, and the Omaha Stock Yards at Omaha. It proceeded with its business according to the principles of its charter, and at once met with phenomenal success. It charged the rates of commission prescribed by the rules of the several exchanges, and was not interrupted or interfered with in any respect or threatened with boycott until in the month of December, 1889, when it declared a dividend upon the year's business, and thereby returned to the producer whose live stock it had sold and who held membership in the corporation, a sum equal to twenty-five cents a head on all cattle sold for such member, and a further sum of twelve dollars and fifty cents on each share of its capital stock. This proceeding, whilst greatly beneficial to the stock producer, awakened the hostility of the members of the Chicago Live Stock Exchange, and as well all of the allied exchanges of the various cities aboved named. This hostility on the part of the members of the Chicago Live Stock Exchange led to a meeting of the members of the exchange on the 4th day of February, 1890, at which meeting the Chicago Live Stock Exchange adopted the following amendments to its by-laws in order to prevent the buyers of live stock, who were members of the exchange, from dealing with the American Live Stock Commission Company:

Amend rule VIII by adding two sections, as follows:

Sec. 3. No person shall be eligible for membership in this exchange who in any manner represents or acts for, either as officer, agent, broker or commission merchant, any other live stock corporation or exchange, whose charter, regulations, rules or by-laws provide for a discrimination in rates of charges or commission between stockholders or other patrons or customers, whether under the guise of dividends, drawbacks or any other scheme or device whatever.

Sec. 4. If any member of this exchange shall hereafter act for, (either as officer, agent, broker or commission merchant,) any other live stock corporation or exchange, whose charter, regulations, rules or by-laws provide for a discrimination in rates of charges or commissions, between stockholders or other patrons or customers, whether under the guise of dividends, drawbacks, or any other scheme or device whatever, shall be liable to suspension for the first offense and to expulsion for any subsequent offense.

Amend rule IX by adding a new section, as follows:

Section 15. No member of this exchange shall buy or cause to be bought, any live stock at the Union Stock Yards, of Chicago, Illinois, from any agent, individual, firm, incorporated or other stock commission company, who are or may be regularly selling live stock for non-residents on commission, unless some one or more members of such firm or stockholders of such stock company are members in good standing in this exchange: provided, however, that any party or parties beginning a live stock commission business at said stock yards shall not be considered subject to this rule until thirty days from the date of their beginning such business: and, provided, further, that nothing herein contained shall be construed as in any manner prohibiting any party from selling his own live stock on the market at the said stock yards, or any member of this exchange from buying such stock from such owner.

It will be observed by the most casual inspection that neither the American Live Stock Commission Company or any of its officers or agents could become members of the exchange under the amendment to Rule VIII. and by the amendment to Rule IX all members of the exchange are forbidden to buy live stock from any person regularly selling live stock upon commission for non-residents, unless such commission company was a member of the exchange.

Shortly after the passage of these amended by-laws the American Live Stock Commission Company enjoined their enforcement and proceeded with its business at the Union Stock Yards until about the first of December, 1890, when the injunction was dissolved and the bill of the commission company was dismissed. About this time in December, 1890, another dividend was declared by the American Live Stock Commission Company, distributing its earnings over and above expenses to its members in the proportion of 65 per cent. thereof to those for whom stock was sold, and 35 per cent. to the stockholders according to the proportion of stock held. This again amounted to twenty-five cents a head on cattle, and twelve dollars and fifty cents a share on the capital stock, upon which stock only twenty-five dollars a share had been paid up. About this time, also, the several agricultural associations of this State, known as the Farmers' Alliance, and the Farmers' Mutual Benefit Association, by their respective presidents became stockholders of the American Live Stock Commission Company in this State, and also the Farmers' Alliance of Kansas and Nebraska did likewise, whereby all members of these various organizations were and are entitled to have this company sell their live stock and participate in the benefits of the corporation. The result of the business of this corporation at the Union Stock Yards shows that the expense of selling cattle upon these yards by this corporation is less than fourteen cents a head, and the manager of the corporation, Hon. Eli Titus, testified that double the amount of business would not have materially added to its expenses, and would have reduced the cost of selling cattle to this company to a sum much less than ten cents a head. A detailed statement of the expenses of the corporation was filed with the committee which verifies this statement of its manager, and your committee are therefore constrained to report that fifty cents a head commission is an excessive charge for such service under ordinary circumstances. Whilst holding, as we do, that this rate of commission as prescribed by the rules of the Chicago Live Stock Exchange and others of the associated exchanges, is excessive, we feel that the true remedy lies not in regulating legislation, but in legislation which will give absolutely free and untrammelled competition in respect of such charges.

Your committee finds from the evidence adduced that directly after the dissolution of the injunction by which the Chicago Live Stock Exchange was restrained from interfering with the business of the American Live Stock Commission Company, and after the dividend was declared by that company, and after the Farmers' Alliance and the Farmers' Mutual Benefit Association, of this State, took stock in the American Live Stock Commission Company, a most determined and effectual boycott of the American Live Stock Commission Company was inaugurated and is now maintained and enforced by the more than five hundred members of the exchange, and that thereby the members of the exchange who are buyers of live stock are prohibited and prevented from buying live stock from the American Live Stock Commission Company, its officers and agents to the practical destruction of the business of that company, and to the prevention of all competition in prices of commission, and to the manifest detriment of the public interests.

Your committee would further report that the evidence shows a concerted action on the part of the several live stock exchanges at Chicago, East St. Louis, Kansas City and Omaha to destroy the business of the American Live Stock Commission Company, and that no reason is given therefor, except that this company returns its net earnings in part to the producer of live stock in proportion to the number of live stock sold for such producer, as it is required to do by its charter. No objection was made whatever to the persons doing business for the Commission Company, and the boycott was justified only upon the ground that any competition, directly or indirectly, in the rate of commissions charged, would lead to abuses which would be detrimental to the interests of the public. In this justification of the boycott, your committee cannot agree, but believes that there should be competition in respect to the commissions, as well as in all other branches of business, and every man should be left free and untrammelled to make such contract in respect to commissions as he shall see fit, and he should be protected by law against boycotts and business interruptions from others.

Before closing this report, your committee are constrained to say that from the evidence adduced before us, that the members of the Chicago Live Stock Exchange are to be commended for their earnest efforts to bring about reforms in the manner and methods of doing business upon the greatest live stock market in the known world, and that their efforts have been, in a measure, successful, no unprejudiced mind can deny; that they have brought about a higher standard of commercial integrity amongst commission men, none can deny; that they have succeeded in reducing the outrageous system of dockage to a minimum cannot be gainsaid.

Your committee would further report that, in their opinion, the mixed class of business done by many of the commission firms of the Live Stock Exchange cannot be done as cheaply as the business of selling the more uniform class of range cattle, which the evidence shows the American Live Stock Commission was almost exclusively engaged in selling. But while commending the Chicago Live Stock Exchange for the many admirable reforms it has by its earnest efforts brought about, your committee cannot forget the great principle underlying the question of whether any corporation or association, organized under the laws of the State of Illinois for the purpose of conducting a public business, has the right to take possession of a public market and say to all comers who desire to do business upon such market, unless they do business at a minimum rate of commission fixed by the rules of such corporation or association. To the minds of your committee, the right to exercise the power of fixing a minimum fee or commission should not exist in a free and sovereign state, much less in a corporation organized and chartered by the state for the purpose of transacting business for the public.

In conclusion, your committee would report that it finds the following facts:

First—That the Chicago Live Stock Exchange, a corporation organized under the laws of the State of Illinois, is exercising the power of prohibiting its members from charging less than the sum of fifty cents a head commission for the sale of cattle at the Union Stock Yards.

Second—It exercises the power of prohibiting its members from buying live stock from commission men and companies which, directly or indirectly, charge the producer less than fifty cents a head commission.

Third—That it has established a boycott against the American Live Stock Commission Company at the Union Stock Yards, because that company returns in dividends to the producer its net earnings, whereby the producer is enabled to have his cattle sold at less than the rate of commission prescribed by the rules of the Chicago Live Stock Exchange.

Fourth—That in respect of said boycott the leading buyers at the Union Stock Yards, Chicago, and the commission men, are acting in combination, and that such combination is detrimental to the best interests of the agricultural community of this State.

Fifth—That the rate of commissions established by the rules of the Chicago Live Stock Exchange are unreasonably high.

Sixth—That the interests of the people of this State demand that no unreasonable restrictions or unjust impositions in way of commissions should be imposed by the Chicago Live Stock Exchange upon the sale of live stock at the Union Stock Yards.

Seventh—Your committee reports that it finds no warrant of law for the action of the Chicago Live Stock Exchange to fix any minimum price of commissions, and that there is no justice in fixing a minimum price, whereas there is both reason and necessity that there should be a maximum fixed by the rules, if the power exists.

Eighth—That the Union Stock Yards Company invites the world to its market, and has endeavored to give all persons, free, equal and just treatment, and it has not participated in any way with the Chicago Live Stock Exchange in this boycott and conspiracy.

Ninth—Your committee reports that the Chicago Live Stock Exchange, in this attempt to boycott the American Live Stock Commission Company, is not in the exercise of any express or implied power, but is acting contrary to, and in defiance of, the public policy of this State.

And your committee, believing that it is doubtful whether the common law provides adequate remedies for this condition, and believing that no statute of this State with sufficient distinctness covers this case, would recommend the passage of the following proposed bill into a law of this State.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

SYLVESTER ALLEN,
LOUIS ZEARING,
Senators.

JAMES W. HUNTER,
JOHN L. HAMILTON,
JAMES COCKRELL,
Representatives.

Thereupon, the following bill, reported by said committee, to-wit: Senate Bill No. 363, for "An act to prevent combinations to obstruct the sale of live stock in the State of Illinois," was taken up and read at large a first time.

Mr. Fuller moved that the report, with the bill just read, be printed and referred to the Committee on Agriculture, Horticulture and Farm Drainage.

Mr. Karraker moved to lay the foregoing motion of Mr. Fuller on the table.

And the yeas and nays being demanded, the motion was lost by the following vote: Yeas 20, nays 28.

The following voted in the affirmative, Messrs.:

Allen, Arnold, Brink, Caldwell, Campbell.	Coppinger, Farmer, Higbee, Karraker,	McDonald, Mahoney, Manecke, Newell,	Noonan, O'Malley, Seibert, Thiele,	Wells, Wright, Zearing. Yeas—20.

AT 11:15 A. M.,

Mr. Evans moved that the Senate do now adjourn,

Which motion prevailed.

So, according to a previous motion had this day, the Senate stood adjourned until Monday, May 4, 1891.

MONDAY, MAY 4, 1891—5 O'CLOCK P. M.

Senate met pursuant to adjournment,

Hon. Thomas H. Sheridan, presiding, he having been designated for that purpose by the President, for one day.

Prayer by the chaplain.

The journal of Friday, May 1, 1891, was being read, when, on motion of Mr. Bassett, the further reading of the same was dispensed with, and it was ordered to stand approved.

AT 5:05 O'CLOCK P. M.,

Mr. Bassett moved that the Senate do now adjourn,

Which motion prevailed.

TUESDAY, MAY 5, 1891—10 o'clock A. M.

Senate met pursuant to adjournment,

Hon. Milton W. Mathews, President pro tempore of the Senate, presiding.

Prayer by the chaplain.

The journal of yesterday was read and it was ordered to stand approved.

SPECIAL ORDER.

The reading of the journal having been completed, the President, pro tempore, of the Senate announced it as the time for the special order, being the further consideration of Senate Bill No. 374, for "An act to provide for the participation of the State of Illinois in the World's Columbian Exposition, authorized by act of Congress of the United States, to be held in the city of Chicago during the year 1893, in commemoration of the discovery of America in the year 1492, and for an appropriation to pay the cost and expense of the same," which was taken up for consideration.

Before being read a second time, however, Mr. MacMillan moved that the Senate go into a committee of the whole to consider the foregoing bill,

Which motion prevailed.

The Senate then went into session in the committee of the whole, with Mr. Fuller in the chair, to consider the foregoing bill, and was addressed by Vice President Bryan, of the World's Fair Directory, of Chicago, and Mrs. Potter Palmer, President of the Board of Lady Managers of said World's Fair, after which the committee arose and reported progress through its chairman, Mr. Fuller.

Mr. MacMillan moved to refer the foregoing bill to the Committee on Appropriations,

Which motion prevailed.

MESSAGE FROM THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

A message from the House of Representatives, by Mr. W. B. Morris, Second Assistant Clerk:

MR. PRESIDENT: I am directed to inform the Senate that the House of Representatives has adopted the following preamble and joint resolution, in the adoption of which I am instructed to ask the concurrence of the Senate, to-wit:

WHEREAS, There exists a feeling of dissatisfaction with the present system of transferring title to land, and it is believed that the vexatious delays and large expenses attending such transfers may be avoided by the substitution of registration of titles in the place of deeds, and that the adoption of the Torrens' system of registration of titles as practiced in Australia, British Columbia, Ontario and other places, may be practicable in this State, and,

WHEREAS, It is desirable that the subject be thoroughly investigated and the result of such investigation presented to the public preparatory to action by the Legislature, therefore be it

Resolved by the House of Representatives, the Senate concurring herein, That the Governor appoint five competent persons, who shall act without compensation, whose duty it shall be to make investigation of our present system of transferring land titles and to consider whether a more simple, expeditious and inexpensive system, and one that will give greater security of title cannot be adopted; and especially to inquire into the practical working of what is known as the Australian or Torrens' system of registration of titles, and whether it can be adapted to the constitution and laws of this State.

Said commission shall have power to send for persons and papers and take such testimony as they may deem proper.

The said commission shall report to the Governor on or before the first day of November, 1892, and the Governor shall cause four thousand copies of such report to be printed and distributed in the same manner as is provided for the distribution of the Governor's message.

The Governor shall also lay such report before the next General Assembly.

The State shall not assume or become responsible in any manner, in whole or in part, for the expenses incurred by such commission.

W. H. HINRICHSEN,
Clerk of the House of Representatives.

On motion of Mr. Caldwell, the foregoing preamble and joint resolution was read by the Secretary of the Senate, for information.

Mr. Caldwell moved to suspend the rules, and take up the foregoing preamble and joint resolution for immediate consideration.

And objections being heard, the motion was lost,

And the same, under the rules, was laid on the table for one day

PRESENTATION OF PETITIONS.

Mr. MacMillan presented a petition from members of the Board of Lady Managers of the World's Columbian Exposition, asking an appropriation for their use, which,

On motion of Mr. MacMillan, was referred to the Committee on World's Columbian Exposition.

REPORTS FROM STANDING COMMITTEES.

Mr. Karraker, from the Joint Committee on Enrolled Bills, begs leave to report that bills of the following titles have been correctly enrolled:

Senate Bill No. 188, a bill for "An act making an appropriation to enable the commissioners of the Southern Illinois Penitentiary to keep employed a portion of the convicts now idle or without profitable employment in said penitentiary."

Senate Bill No. 279, a bill for "An act to enable any railroad company whose main line runs near to any county seat to change and re-locate such line so as to run through such county seat."

Mr. Hagle from the Committee on Engrossed and Enrolled Bills, reported that bills of the following titles have been correctly engrossed, and are returned herewith, to-wit:

Senate Bill No. 341, a bill for "An act to amend sections five (5) and six (6) of 'An act in regard to garnishment,' approved March 9, 1872, in force July 1, 1872."

Senate Bill No. 131, a bill for "An act to amend section 53, article 9, of 'An act to provide for the incorporation of cities and villages,' approved April 10, 1872, as amended."

Senate Bill No. 54, a bill for "An act to amend sections five (5) and six (6) of chapter seventy-nine (79) of an act entitled 'An act to provide for the election and qualification of justices of the peace and constables, and to provide for the jurisdiction and practice of justices of the peace in civil cases, and fix the duties of constables, and to repeal certain acts therein named,' approved April 1, 1872, in force July 1, 1872."

Mr. Karraker, from the Joint Committee on Enrolled Bills, begs leave to report that bills of the following titles have been correctly enrolled, to-wit:

Senate Bill No. 43, a bill for "An act to protect associations, unions of workingmen, and persons, in their labels, trade marks and forms of advertising."

Senate Bill No. 16, a bill for "An act to amend section one (1) of an act entitled 'An act relating to justices of the peace in the city of Chicago,' approved and in force March 30, 1871, and amended and approved March 25, 1875."

Mr. Fuller, from the Committee on Railroads, to which was referred a bill, Senate Bill No. 165, for "An act to amend section one of 'An act in relation to the crossing of one railroad by another, and to prevent danger to life and property from grade crossings,' approved May 27, 1889, in force July 1, 1889," reported the same back with a substitute therefor, with the recommendation that the original bill be laid on the table, and that the substitute do pass.

The report of the committee was concurred in, and,

On motion of Mr. Fuller, the original bill was ordered to lie on the table, and the substitute, being Senate Bill No. 378, a bill for "An act to amend section one of 'An act in relation to the crossing of one railroad by another, and to prevent danger to life and property from grade crossings,' approved May 27, 1889, in force July 1, 1889," was ordered to a first reading,

And on motion of Mr. Fuller, the rules were suspended, and the bill was read at large a first time, and,

On his motion, was ordered to a second reading, and to be printed.

Mr. Fuller, from the Committee on Railroads, introduced a bill, Senate Bill No. 379, for "An act to regulate the sale of railroad tickets and protect the purchasers thereof."

On motion of Mr. Fuller, the rules were suspended, and the bill was read at large a first time, and,

On motion of Mr. Fuller, was ordered to a second reading and to be printed.

Mr. Fuller, from the Committee on Railroads, introduced a bill, Senate Bill No. 380, for "An act defining the duties of persons and corporations owning, operating or controlling connecting or transfer railway tracks."

On motion of Mr. Fuller, the rules were suspended, and the bill was read at large a first time, and,

On motion of Mr. Fuller, was ordered to a second reading and to be printed.

Mr. Fuller, from the Committee on Railroads, presented the following preamble and joint resolution, which, under the rules, was laid over for one day, viz.:

WHEREAS, From the last published statistics of the railways in the United States, being for the year ending June 30, 1889, it appears that 300 employes were killed and 6,757 injured in that year in coupling and uncoupling cars, being fifty-six per cent. of all the accidents happening to trainmen, and practically all these accidents can be avoided by the use of uniform automatic couplers for freight cars, and

WHEREAS, 558 employes were killed and 2,307 injured by overhead obstructions or by falling from trains and engines, being twenty-three per cent. of all the accidents happening to trainmen, and a large proportion of these accidents would be avoided by the adoption of the train brake on freight trains; and

WHEREAS, The regulation of couplers and of train brakes upon freight cars is of pressing importance and is within the proper scope of the powers of the Congress of the United States, while action by the individual states on these subjects has produced and must continue to produce conflicting and unsatisfactory results; and

WHEREAS, At the convention of the railroad commissioners lately held in Washington at the rooms of the Inter-State Commerce Commission, a resolution was unanimously adopted providing for the appointment of a committee of five to appear before Congress as soon as possible after the opening of its next regular session, and urge the passage of measures calculated to insure and hasten the adoption of uniform automatic couplers and train brakes upon freight cars and of driving wheel brakes on engines,

Resolved, That the Senate and House of Representatives concurring, approving of the action of said conference, do most respectfully and earnestly urge upon Congress the consideration of the foregoing subjects to the end that the consummation which all desire may be reached with the utmost reasonable speed; and especially do we urge upon our own representatives in Congress to join energetically in promoting wise, speedy and effective action.

The Senate then, on request of Mr. Secrest, passed to the order of

CONSIDERATION OF HOUSE MESSAGES.

By unanimous consent, Mr. Caldwell called up the following preamble and joint resolution, which was contained in a message from the House of Representatives, May 5, 1891, for consideration, viz.:

WHEREAS, There exists a feeling of dissatisfaction with the present system of transferring title to land, and it is believed that the vexatious delays and large expenses attending such transfers may be avoided by the substitution of registration of titles in the place of deeds, and that the adoption of the 'Torrens' system of registration of titles, as practiced in Australia, British Columbia, Ontario, and other places, may be practicable in this State; and

WHEREAS, It is desirable that the subject be thoroughly investigated, and the result of such investigation presented to the public, preparatory to action by the legislature; therefore, be it

Resolved, by the House of Representatives, the Senate concurring herein. That the Governor appoint five competent persons, who shall act without compensation, whose duty it shall be to make investigation of our present system of transferring land titles, and to consider whether a more simple, expeditious and inexpensive system, and one that will give greater security of title, cannot be adopted, and especially to inquire into the practical working of what is known as the Australian or 'Torrens' system of registration of titles, and whether it can be adapted to the constitution and laws of this State.

Said commission shall have power to send for persons and papers, and take such testimony as they may deem proper.

The said commission shall report to the Governor on or before the first day of November, 1892, and the Governor shall cause four thousand copies of such report to be printed and distributed in the same manner as is provided for the distribution of the Governor's message.

The Governor shall also lay such report before the next General Assembly.

The State shall not assume or become responsible in any manner, in whole or in part, for the expenses incurred by such commission.

And the question being "Shall the Senate concur with the House of Representatives in the adoption of the foregoing preamble and joint resolution?"

Mr. Fuller moved to refer the same to the Committee on Judiciary,

Which motion prevailed.

MESSAGE FROM THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

A message from the House of Representatives by Mr. W. B. Morris, Second Assistant Clerk:

Mr. President: I am directed to inform the Senate that the House of Representatives has concurred with them in the adoption of the following preamble and joint resolutions, to-wit:

WHEREAS, On the 9th of June, 1890, Commander A. G. Kellogg, then in command of the American man-of-war Ossipee, gallantly rescued the Clyde steamer Ozama in the harbor of Port au Prince, which had been illegally captured by three Haytian gunboats on the pretext that the port of Gomaes, to which she was bound, was blockaded, and Commander Kellogg took her out from under the guns of the fort, notwithstanding the superior force in front of him, whereupon the Ozama proceeded without further molestation to her original destination, and

WHEREAS, The said Commander A. G. Kellogg, formerly a resident of Canton, this State, entered the naval school at Annapolis and is still a citizen of Illinois, therefore

Resolved by the Senate, the House of Representatives concurring herein, That the thanks of the General Assembly and its hearty congratulations are extended to Commander Kellogg for the courage and decision of character shown by him in this transaction and for the honor which he has conferred upon the people of this State and of the United States;

Resolved, That in token of our appreciation of his manly qualities and conduct, the Secretary of State is hereby authorized and directed to have a copy of these resolutions properly engrossed and forwarded to Commander Kellogg and a like copy engrossed upon parchment and suitably framed to be hung up in a suitable place in the State House.

Concurred in by the House May 6, 1891.

W. H. HINCHEN.

Clerk of the House of Representatives.

WHEREAS, There exists a feeling of dissatisfaction with the present system of transferring title to land, and it is believed that the vexatious delays and large expenses attending such transfers may be avoided by the substitution of registration of titles in the place of deeds, and that the adoption of the Torrens' system of registration of titles, as practiced in Australia, British Columbia, Ontario, and other places, may be practicable in this State; and

WHEREAS, It is desirable that the subject be thoroughly investigated, and the result of such investigation presented to the public, preparatory to action by the legislature; therefore, be it

Resolved, by the House of Representatives, the Senate concurring herein, That the Governor appoint five competent persons, who shall act without compensation, whose duty it shall be to make investigation of our present system of transferring land titles, and to consider whether a more simple, expeditious and inexpensive system, and one that will give greater security of title, cannot be adopted, and especially to inquire into the practical working of what is known as the Australian or 'Torrens' system of registration of titles, and whether it can be adapted to the constitution and laws of this State.

Said commission shall have power to send for persons and papers, and take such testimony as they may deem proper.

The said commission shall report to the Governor on or before the first day of November, 1892. and the Governor shall cause four thousand copies of such report to be printed and distributed in the same manner as is provided for the distribution of the Governor's message.

EXECUTIVE COMMUNICATION.

A message from the Governor, by H. G. Reeves, Private Secretary:

Mr. President: I am directed by the Governor to lay before the Senate the following communication:

STATE OF ILLINOIS,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT.
SPRINGFIELD, May 20, 1891.

To the Honorable, the Senate:

I have the honor to nominate and appoint John C. Ames, of LaSalle county; Louis Hutt, of Cook county, and Clarence E. Snively, of Fulton county, canal commissioners, to succeed themselves, and I respectfully ask the concurrence of the Senate.

I also have the honor to appoint Archibell S. Hall, of Newton, Jasper county; Jesse Zumwalt, of Watseka, Iroquois county, and David H. Laur, of Dixon, Lee county, as fish wardens, and I respectfully ask the concurrence of the Senate.

I also have the honor to nominate and appoint Lewis C. Schwerdtfeger, of Lincoln, Logan county, public administrator of Logan county, and I respectfully ask the concurrence of the Senate.

JOSEPH W. FIFER,
Governor.

Under the rules, the foregoing communication was referred to an executive session.

PRESENTATION OF RESOLUTIONS.

Mr. Crawford (C. H.) offered the following joint resolution, which was read for information, viz.:

WHEREAS, The city of Chicago, under authority of a joint resolution of the 32d General Assembly, has erected pumping works on the canal lands at Bridgeport, in Cook county, for the purpose of pumping water from the Chicago river to the Illinois and Michigan canal to dilute and purify the waters of the canal and Desplaines and Illinois rivers contaminated by the sewage from the city of Chicago, and,

WHEREAS, The pumping of 60,000 cubic feet of water per minute continuously, is necessary to sufficiently dilute the water of the canal and the sewage from the city therein, and to deodorize and render inoffensive the said waters, and,

WHEREAS, The said pumps have not been operated continuously, but have remained idle for long continuous periods of time, to the great annoyance, distress and damage to health of the people near to and bordering upon the line of the canal, the Desplaines and Illinois rivers; therefore be it

Resolved, by the Senate, the House of Representatives concurring herein, That in case of failure of the city of Chicago to keep said pumps in continuous operation and to pump a continuous flow of 60,000 cubic feet per minute into the Illinois and Michigan canal, then it shall be the duty of the canal commissioners to immediately commence work and cause sluice ways to be opened from the Desplaines river to the canal at or near Summit and at or near Lemont, and to construct a dam across the former Calumet feeder, to cause the waters from Lane's lake to flow into the canal, as contemplated by the said resolution of the 32d General Assembly, and said canal commissioners shall also thereupon notify the mayor of the city of Chicago, or the person in charge of the pumping works to vacate said canal lands, and to remove all pumps, machinery and other property belonging to the city or others, from the said canal lands, and said commissioners may institute such proceedings as may be necessary to enforce compliance with such notice, and upon service of notice all leave or license given by the General Assembly or the canal commissioners to occupy said lands shall thereby be revoked.

The canal commissioners may, however, permit the stoppage of one or more of the pumps temporarily for repairs or other emergency, for such reasonable time and upon such terms as they may prescribe.

Mr. Crawford (C. H.) asked unanimous consent to take up the foregoing joint resolution for immediate consideration, but objections being heard, it was, under the rules, laid on the table for one day.

Mr. Thomas offered the following preamble and joint resolution, which was taken up and read for information, viz.:

WHEREAS, The soldiers and sailors of Illinois contemplate the holding of an annual reunion to be composed of the various State military organizations in active field service during the war; and

WHEREAS, The State has purchased and improved a tract of land known as Camp Lincoln, near the city of Springfield, thus providing a convenient and accessible location for the annual reunion of the old soldiers and sailors of Illinois; therefore, be it

Resolved, by the Senate, the House of Representatives concurring her in, That permission is hereby granted the old soldiers and sailors of Illinois to use Camp Lincoln and such camp and garrison equipage, the property of the State, as may be necessary for the comfort and convenience of the veterans of the war during the annual encampment, the same to be held in the month of October of each year.

Provided, That the said encampment shall entail no expense upon the State further than the use of the grounds and the camp and garrison equipage, the property of the State.

Provided, further, That said annual encampment shall be held under the auspices and management of the officers of the Department of Illinois, Grand Army of the Republic, or such officers as the Department Commander may appoint.

Provided, further, That no expense, under the operation of this resolution, shall be paid by the State for preparing and arranging the grounds, tents, camp and garrison equipage, etc., for said reunion, or for the restoration of the State property at the close of the encampment to the condition in which the same was received by the officers in charge.

By unanimous consent, on request of Mr. Thomas, the foregoing preamble and joint resolution was taken up for immediate consideration,

And the question being, "Shall the foregoing preamble and joint resolution be adopted?" it was decided in the affirmative,

And ordered that the Secretary of the Senate notify the House of Representatives thereof, and ask their concurrence therein.

Mr. Fuller offered the following preamble and joint resolution, which was taken up and read for information, viz.:

WHEREAS, The United States of America is about to purchase grounds for public buildings in the cities of Rockford, Aurora and Rock Island, respectively; therefore

Resolved, by the Senate, the House of Representatives concurring herein, That exclusive jurisdiction be and the same is hereby ceded to the United States over said grounds, to vest in the United States government, from and after title to such grounds shall be acquired by said United States, and so long as the United States shall remain the owner thereof, for all purposes except the administration of the criminal laws of this State and the service of civil process therein.

By unanimous consent, on request of Mr. Fuller, the foregoing preamble and joint resolution was taken up for immediate consideration.

The question being, "Shall the foregoing preamble and joint resolution be adopted?" it was decided in the affirmative.

Ordered that the Secretary inform the House of Representatives thereof, and ask their concurrence therein.

INTRODUCTION OF BILLS.

Mr. Crawford (Chas. H.), introduced a bill, Senate Bill No. 418, for "An act to amend section one as amended March 30, 1887, approved and in force March 30, 1887, of an act entitled 'An act to amend section one of article five, of 'An act to provide for the corporation of cities and villages,' approved April 10, 1872. and in force July 1, 1872,' by adding provisions relating to elevated railroads and their branches, and to legalize ordinances passed, authorizing or permitting the construction of such railroads over, in, upon and along streets, avenues, alleys and public places."

On motion of Mr. Crawford (Chas. H.), the rules were suspended, and the bill was read at large a first time, and.

On motion of Mr. Crawford (Chas. H.), was referred to the Committee on Judicial Department and Apportionment.

Mr. Crawford (Wm. F.) introduced a bill, Senate Bill No. 419, for "An act to regulate the charges of stock yards and enforce the same."

On motion of Mr. Crawford (Wm. F.), the rules were suspended, and the bill was read at large a first time.

Mr. Crawford (Wm. F.) asked unanimous consent to have the above bill advanced to second reading, and to be printed without reference, but objections being heard, it was refused.

Mr. Mahoney moved to refer said bill to Committee on Judiciary.

And the yeas and nays being demanded, it was decided in the affirmative by the following vote: Yeas 23, nays 22.

The following voted in the affirmative, Messrs.:

Arnold,	Evans,	Hamer,	Mathews,	Thomas,
Bacon,	Farmer,	Humphrey,	Noonan,	Wells,
Bass,	Ferguson,	Hunt,	O'Connor,	Wright,
Campbell,	Fuller,	Knopf,	O'Malley,	Yeas—23.
Crawford,	Hagle,	Mahoney,	Reavill,
Charles H.,

The following voted in the negative, Messrs.:

Allen,	Brink,	Higbee,	Manecke,	Sheets,
Anderson,	Caldwell,	Karraker,	Newell,	Wiles,
Bassett,	Chapman,	Kerrick,	Rickert,	Zearing,
Berry,	Crawford, Wil-	Lehman,	Secrost,	Nays—22.
Bogardus,	liam F.,	McDonald,	Seibert,

Mr. Berry introduced a bill, Senate Bill No. 420, for "An act to prevent animals from running at large within the corporate limits of incorporated cities, villages and towns."

On motion of Mr. Berry, the rules were suspended, and the bill was read at large a first time, and,

On motion of Mr. Berry, was ordered to a second reading and to be printed, without reference.

PREFERRED BUSINESS.

The daily order of business having been completed, the President of the Senate announced the item of unfinished business to be Senate Bill No. 314, for "An act to amend section 41 of an act entitled 'An act to provide for drainage for agricultural and sanitary purposes, and to repeal certain acts therein named,' approved June 27, 1885, in force July 1, 1885," which was temporarily laid aside yesterday.

The question being, "Shall the following amendment offered by the Committee on Agriculture, Horticulture and Farm Drainage be adopted?" viz.:

Amend by striking out the words "to a drainage engineer or to the board of supervisors," and insert the words "to the county court," it was decided in the negative.

Mr. Hunt then offered the following amendment, which was adopted, viz.:

Strike out all after the word "amended," in line 5 of section 1. printed bill, and insert the following:

"So as to read as follows:

"Section 41. After the completion of the work the commissioners shall thereafter keep the same in repair; and if they find, by reason of error in locating or constructing the ditches, or any of them, or from other causes, the lands of the district are not drained or protected as contemplated, or some of them receive but partial or no benefit, they shall use the corporate funds of the district to carry out the original purpose, to the end that all lands, so far as practicable, shall receive their proper and equal benefits, as contemplated when the lands were classified.

"If it be necessary to clear and enlarge natural or artificial channels lying beyond the boundaries of the district to obtain a proper outlet, the commissioners shall use the corporate funds for this purpose, and if the necessary privileges cannot be obtained for this by agreement, the commissioners may acquire the same by condemnation under the act for exercising the right of eminent domain: Provided, In all such cases, if sufficient funds are not on hand, the commissioners shall make a new tax levy: Provided, further, That if any land owner or other interested person or persons are not satisfied with such outlet as the commissioners deem sufficient, he or they shall have the right to appeal to the county court, and the same manner of appeal shall be taken as in appeals from assessments, and the decision of said county court shall be final and binding on said commissioners."

The question now being, "Shall the foregoing bill, as amended, be ordered engrossed and printed for a third reading?" it was decided in the affirmative.

SPECIAL ORDER.

The daily order of business having been completed, the President of the Senate announced it as the time for the special order, being the further consideration of Senate Bill No. 374, for "An act to provide for the participation of the State of Illinois in the World's Columbian Exposition authorized by act of Congress of the United States, to be held in the city of Chicago during the year 1893, in commemoration of the discovery of America in the year 1492, and for an appropriation to pay the cost and expense of the same," which, having been printed, was taken up for consideration and read at large a second time, together with the following amendments proposed by the Committee on Appropriations, viz.:

Amend section 1 of printed bill so as to read as follows:

"SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the People of the State of Illinois, represented in the General Assembly: That in order that the State of Illinois may participate in the said World's Columbian Exposition, the present members of the State Board of Agriculture are hereby constituted and appointed commissioners, to be known as the Illinois Board of World's Fair Commissioners. Said Board of World's Fair Commissioners shall serve until the close of the World's Columbian Exposition, and until the duties of said commission, in connection with said exposition, are fully performed as contemplated in this act. Said commission is hereby authorized and empowered to secure the necessary allotment of grounds, cause to be erected thereon and suitably furnished, in accordance with the plans to be approved by the Governor and by the Chief of Construction of the Board of Directors of the World's Columbian Exposition, the necessary building or buildings to serve for exhibition purposes and as headquarters for the several departments, boards, commissions and bureaus of the State government, for the Illinois members of the National Commission and of the Board of Lady Managers, and for the soldiers and sailors of Illinois, with the necessary halls, offices and accessories. The materials produced in this State, so far as the same may be available, shall be used in the construction of said buildings, and an impartial opportunity shall be afforded the owners of stone and marble quarries and the manufacturers of either materials in Illinois to compete for furnishing the same, whether in whole or in part. In case of any vacancy or vacancies in said Board of World's Fair Commissioners, through the death, removal, resignation or other disability of any member or members thereof, the place of each member so lost from said board of commissioners shall be filled by the member succeeding him in the State Board of Agriculture."

Amend section 2, line 1, of printed bill, by striking out the word "board" and inserting instead the words "board of commissioners." Also, making this same change wherever the word

"board" occurs thereafter in the bill, as follows, in section 3, line 3; section 3, line 6; section 3, line 10; section 5, line 1; section 6, line 1; section 6, line 4; section 6, line 5; section 6, line 7; section 6, line 9; section 6, line 10; section 6, line 11; section 7, line 6.

Amend section 2, item 1 (b), line 15, by inserting the word "State," between the words "the" and "Normal."

Amend section 2, item 2, line 32, by striking out the word "special" and inserting instead thereof the words "full and complete."

Amend section 2, line 33, by inserting the word "all," between the words "of" and "the cultivated."

Amend section 2, line 39, by striking out the word "with" and inserting instead thereof the word "by."

Amend section 6 so as to read as follows:

"Section 6. Said board of commissioners may, in their discretion, employ a competent person as an executive officer for continuous service in preparatory work in connection with said State exhibit and until the close of its affairs, whose powers, duties and title shall be prescribed by said board of commissioners, and whose compensation shall be fixed by said board of commissioners, subject to the approval of the Governor. Said executive officer shall be removable at the pleasure of said board of commissioners. The board of commissioners shall also elect a president from their own members and a secretary, who shall hold their respective offices during the respective terms of service of the board of commissioners, unless sooner removed by a majority of the members of the board of commissioners; and said president and secretary and members of said board rendering services in connection with and for said State exhibit by instructions of said board of commissioners, may receive such compensation as shall be fixed by said board."

Amend by adding the following, to be entitled sections 8 and 9:

"Section 8. There is hereby constituted a board to be known as the Illinois Woman's Exposition Board, to be made up of four women, appointed by the Governor, from the State at large, together with the two Illinois members of the board of lady managers of the World's Columbian Commission, and their alternates, who shall be ex-officio members. The four women appointed by the Governor shall serve from the date of their appointment until the close of the exposition, and the completion of the work necessarily incumbent thereto. In case of the occurrence of a vacancy or vacancies, through the death, disability, removal or resignation of any of said four women, such vacancy or vacancies shall be filled by appointment by the Governor. Each member of said board which is hereby constituted may, when actually employed in or about the business of the board, receive such compensation as shall be fixed by said board.

“Section 9. From the amount hereinbefore appropriated in section 7 of this act, there is hereby set apart not to exceed ten per cent., which sum shall be controlled and expended by the Illinois Woman's Exposition Board in representing the industries of the women of the State of Illinois at the exposition. Said sum shall be paid by the State Treasurer upon warrants drawn by the Auditor of State, which warrants shall be drawn only upon vouchers and bills signed by the president of said Woman's Exposition Board, countersigned by the secretary and approved by the Governor.

The question being, “Shall the foregoing amendments be adopted?” it was decided in the affirmative.

Mr. Shumway offered the following amendment, viz.:

Amend by striking out in line 1, section 7, the words and figures “one million dollars ($1,000,000)” and insert instead the words and figures “six hundred thousand dollars ($600,000)”.

The question being, “Shall the foregoing amendments be adopted?”

And the yeas and nays being demanded, it was decided in the negative by the following vote: Yeas 21, nays 30.

The following voted in the affirmative, Messrs.:

Allen, Bassett, Brink, Caldwell, Campbell.	Chapman, Coppinger, Farmer, Hagle, Higbee.	Karraker, Leeper, McDonald, Manecke,	Newell, Rickert, Selbert, Sheridan,	Shumway, Wells, Wright, Yeas—21.

The following voted in the negative, Messrs.:

Anderson, Arnold, Bacon, Bass, Berry, Bogardus, Crawford, Charles H.,	Crawford, William F., Evans, Ferguson, Fuller, Hamer, Humphrey,	Hunt, Kerrick, Knopf, Lehman, MacMillan, Mahoney,	Mathews, Noonan, O'Connor, O'Malley, Reavill, Secrest,	Sheets, Thiele, Thomas, Wiles, Zearing, Nays—30.

Mr. Shumway offered the following amendment, viz.:

Amend by striking out of line 1 in section 7 the words and figures “one million dollars ($1,000,000),” and insert the words and figures “seven hundred and fifty thousand dollars ($750,000).”

Mr. Fuller then moved the previous question,

And the question being, “Shall the main question be now put?” it was decided in the affirmative.

The question now being, “Shall the foregoing amendment offered by Mr. Shumway be adopted?”

And the yeas and nays being demanded, it was decided in the negative by the following vote: Yeas 20, nays 29.

The following voted in the affirmative, Messrs.:

Allen, Brink, Caldwell, Campbell, Chapman,	Coppinger, Farmer, Hagle, Higbee.	Karraker, Lehman, McDonald, Manecke,	Newell, Rickert, Seibert, Sheridan,	Shumway, Wells, Wright, Yeas—20.

Thereupon, Mr. Mahoney obtained the floor to offer an amendment.

Mr. Fuller made the point of order that, inasmuch as the main question had been ordered, the Senate must be brought to vote upon all amendments that had been offered in their inverse order, and then upon the main question, and no new amendments were in order.

The President decided the point of order to be well taken, and the amendment of Mr. Mahoney was not allowed to be offered.

The question now being, "Shall the bill as amended be ordered engrossed and printed for a third reading?"

And the yeas and nays being demanded, it was decided in the affirmative by the following vote: Yeas 27, nays 18.

The following voted in the affirmative, Messrs.:

Anderson, Arnold, Bacon, Bass, Bassett, Berry,	Bogardus, Crawford, Charles H., Crawford, William F., Evans,	Ferguson, Fuller, Hamer, Humphrey, Hunt, Kerrick,	Knopf, Lehman, MacMillan, Mathews, Secrest, Sheets,	Sheridan, Thiele, Thomas, Wiles, Zearing, Yeas—27.

MESSAGES FROM THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

A message from the House of Representatives by Mr. W. B. Morris, Second Assistant Clerk:

Mr. President: I am directed to inform the Senate that the House of Representatives has adopted the following preamble and joint resolution, in the adoption of which I am instructed to ask the concurrence of the Senate, to-wit:

WHEREAS, The order of Sons of Veterans is a semi-military organization, which is uniforming and arming its members at their own expense, for the purpose of preparing said members for active military service in case of emergency; and

WHEREAS, The said organization, for the purpose of instructing its members in the military art, holds annual field encampments; therefore, be it

Resolved, by the House of Representatives, the Senate concurring herein, That the Adjutant General of this State be and he is hereby authorized and directed to allow the said order of Sons of Veterans of the State of Illinois to use, at each regular annual State encampment, the tents and appurtenances, bed sacks, etc., belonging to this State.

Provided, That the party or parties making the requisition for the order of Sons of Veterans shall first deliver to the Adjutant General a bond in double the value of the stores to be issued, conditioned for the safe return of the same in perfect condition, or payment for all losses or damages to such property, and shall, also, pay all expenses of handling, cleaning, cartage, storage, express or freight from and to the arsenal, and the expenses and two dollars per day one experienced man to each 100 tents, or fractional part thereof, to be designated by the Adjutant General, to have charge and superintend the putting up, taking down and handling of said tents.

Passed the House May 2. 1891.

W. H. HINRICHSEN,
Clerk of the House of Representatives.

A message from the House, by Mr. W. B. Morris, Second Assistant Clerk:

Mr. President: I am directed to inform the Senate that the House of Representatives has concurred with them in the adoption of the following preamble and joint resolution, to-wit:

WHEREAS, The soldiers and sailors of Illinois contemplate the holding of an annual reunion to be composed of the various State military organizations in active field service during the war: and

WHEREAS, The State has purchased and improved a tract of land known as Camp Lincoln, near the city of Springfield, thus providing a convenient and accessible location for the annual reunion of the old soldiers and sailors of Illinois; therefore, be it

Resolved, by the Senate, the House of Representatives concurring herein, That permission is hereby granted the old soldiers and sailors of Illinois to use Camp Lincoln and such camp and garrison equipage, the property of the State, as may be necessary for the comfort and convenience of the veterans of the war during the annual encampment, the same to be held in the month of October of each year.

Provided, That the said encampment shall entail no expense upon the State further than the use of the grounds and the camp and garrison equipage, the property of the State.

Provided, further, That said annual encampment shall be held under the auspices and management of the officers of the Department of Illinois, Grand Army of the Republic, or such officers as the Department Commander may appoint.

Provided, further, That no expense, under the operation of this resolution, shall be paid by the State for preparing and arranging the grounds, tents, camp and garrison equipage, etc., for said reunion, or for the restoration of the State property at the close of the encampment to the condition in which the same was received by the officers in charge.

Concurred in by the House May 21. 1891.

W. H. HINRICHSEN,
Clerk of the House of Representatives.

A message from the House, by Mr. W. B. Morris, Second Assistant Clerk:

Mr. President: I am directed to inform the Senate that the House of Representatives has concurred with them in the adoption of the following preamble and joint resolutions, to-wit:

WHEREAS, The United States of America is about to purchase grounds and public buildings in the cities of Rockford, Aurora and Rock Island, respectively; therefore

Resolved, by the Senate, the House of Representatives concurring herein, That exclusive jurisdiction be and the same is hereby ceded to the United States over said grounds, to vest in the United States government, from and after title to such grounds shall be acquired by said United States, and so long as the United States shall remain the owner thereof, for all purposes except the administration of the criminal laws of this State and the service of civil process therein.

Passed the House May 21, 1891, together with the following amendments thereto, in which I am directed to ask the concurrence of the Senate:

First amendment—Insert the word "Bloomington" after the word "Rock Island" therein.

W. H. HINRICHSSEN,

Clerk of the House of Representatives.

A message from the House of Representatives, by Mr. W. B. Morris, Second Assistant Clerk:

Mr. President: I am directed to inform the Senate that the House of Representatives has adopted the following joint resolution, in the adoption of which I am instructed to ask the concurrence of the Senate, to-wit:

Be it resolved by the House of Representatives of the 37th General Assembly of Illinois, the Senate concurring therein, That in the opinion of the members thereof, the Speakership of the 52d National Congress should be given to a western man, and that Illinois by reason of her position as the third state in population and never having been honored by the selection of one of her congressmen, holds especial claims at this time for the position.

We therefore recommend for Speaker, the Hon. Wm. M. Springer, who for 16 years, has ably represented Illinois in the House of Representatives. His distinguished parliamentary ability, his unimpeachable honesty, and his uniform courtesy together, especially fit him for this honorable position, and we heartily unite in urging the Illinois delegation in Congress to use every honorable means to secure his election.

Passed the House May 22, 1891.

W. H. HINRICHSSEN,

Clerk of the House of Representatives.

CONSIDERATION OF RESOLUTIONS.

On motion of Mr. MacMillan, the rules were suspended, and the following House joint resolution received from the House this morning, was taken up for consideration, viz.:

Be it resolved by the House of Representatives of the 37th General Assembly of Illinois, the Senate concurring therein, That in the opinion of the members thereof, the Speakership of the 52d National Congress should be given to a western man, and that Illinois by reason of her position as the third state in population, and never having been honored by the selection of one of her congressmen, holds especial claims at this time for the position.

□ We therefore recommend for Speaker, the Hon. Wm. M. Springer, who for sixteen years, has ably represented Illinois in the House of Representatives. His distinguished parliamentary ability, his unimpeachable honesty, and his uniform courtesy together, especially fit him for this honorable position, and we heartily unite in urging the Illinois delegation in Congress to use every honorable means to secure his election.

And the question being, "Shall the Senate concur with the House of Representatives in the adoption of the foregoing joint resolution?" it was decided in the affirmative.

SPECIAL ORDER.

The daily order of business having been completed, the President of the Senate announced it as the time for the special order, being the further consideration of House Bill No. 591, for "An act to provide for the printing and distribution of ballots at public expense and for the nomination of candidates for public offices, and to enforce the secrecy of the ballot," on second reading, having been printed, the bill was taken up and read at large a second time together with the following amendments, they having been printed as reported by the Committee on Elections, in the Senate, viz.:

1. Amend section seventeen (17) by inserting after the word "may" in line one (1) the word "be."

3. Amend section twenty-two (22) by striking out the word "that" in line sixteen (16), and inserting in lieu thereof the word "at."

4. Amend section twenty-three (23) by striking out the words "or other appropriate mark or symbol," wherever they occur in said section.

5. Amend section twenty-three (23) by inserting after the word "forthwith" in line forty-six the words, "and his ballot shall be numbered to correspond with his number on the poll-book." And by striking out after the word "law" in line forty-seven (47) of said section the words, "except that the number corresponding to the number of the voter on the poll books shall not be endorsed on the back of his ballot."

6. Amend section twenty-four (24) by inserting after the word "parties" in line seven, the words "to be selected from the judges and clerks of the precinct in which they are to act," and also by inserting in same line after the word "election" the words "of such precinct."

7. Amend section twenty-six (26) by striking out all of said section after the word "and" in line eleven (11) and before the words, "all ballots not voted" in line 30, and insert the following in lieu thereof: "Ballots to which objection has been made by either of the judges or challengers, shall be marked 'objected to' on the back thereof, and a memorandum, signed by the judges, stating how it was counted, shall be written upon the back of each ballot so marked, and all ballots marked defective or objected to, shall be enclosed in an envelope securely sealed and so marked and endorsed as to clearly disclose its contents."

8. Amend by striking out all of section 27 after word "ballots" in the 14th line of said section, and by substituting therefor the following: "Immediately after making such proclamation, and before separating, the judges shall fold in two folds, and string closely upon a single piece of flexible wire, all ballots which have been counted by them, except those marked 'objected to,' unite the ends of such wire in a firm knot, seal the knot in such manner that it cannot be untied without breaking the seal, enclose the ballots so strung in an envelope and securely tie and seal such envelope in such manner that it cannot be opened without breaking the seal, and return said ballots, together with the package containing the ballots marked 'defective or objected to,' in such sealed package or envelope to the proper clerk or to the board of election commissioners, as the case may be, and such officer shall carefully preserve said ballots for six months, and at the expiration of that time shall destroy them by burning, without previously opening the package or envelope: Provided, that if any contest of the election of any officer voted for at such election shall be pending at the expiration of said time, the said ballots shall not be destroyed until such contest is finally determined.

"In all cases of contested elections the parties contesting the same shall have the right to have the said ballots opened and to have all errors of the judges in counting or refusing to count any ballot corrected by the court or body trying such contest: but such ballots shall be opened only in open court or in open session of such body and in the presence of the officer having the custody thereof."

9. "Section 34. At all elections to which this act applies, except at elections held in cities, villages and incorporated towns which have heretofore adopted or may hereafter adopt the provisions of "An act entitled 'An act regulating the holding of elections and declaring the results thereof in cities, villages and incorporated towns,' approved June 19, 1885," the polls shall be opened at seven o'clock in the morning and shall be closed at five in the evening.

10. Amend by changing the number of section "34" to "35," and by striking out after the word "voting," in line sixteen (16) of said section the words "and the numbering."

By unanimous consent, the Senate agreed to take up the above amendments separately.

11 O'CLOCK—SPECIAL ORDER.

The hour of 11 o'clock A. M. having arrived, the President of the Senate announced it as the time for the third special order of the day, being the consideration of Senate Bill No. 316, for "An act concerning the compulsory education of children," which having been printed, was taken up and read at large a second time,

And the question being, "Shall the bill be ordered engrossed and printed for a third reading?"

Mr. Knopf offered the following amendment, which was adopted viz.:

Amend the bill by striking out of line 6 of section 1 the word "with," and strike out of line 7 of section 1 the words "the beginning of the first term of the public school year," and insert the following: "not later than the first Monday of October in each year."

Mr. Knopf offered the following amendment, which was adopted, to-wit:

Amend section one by striking out all after the word "commence" in line 13 and all of line 14, including the word "school," and insert in lieu thereof the following: "not later than the first Monday of October in each."

Mr. Knopf offered the following amendment, which was adopted, viz.:

Amend section one, line ten, by inserting after the word "shall" the words "among other studies".

Mr. Knopf offered the following amendment to the bill, which was adopted, viz.:

Mr. Knopf offered the following amendment to the bill, which was adopted, viz.:

Amend section one by inserting after the word "township" in line 26, the following: "the certificate of the superintendent or principal of any public or private school that any child is attending or has for at least, sixteen weeks, during the current" year attended said school and that said child has been given, among other studies, instructions in reading, writing, and the history of the United States in the English language, shall be prima facie evidence of such facts, any superintendent or principal of a school, who with intent to evade the provisions of this act shall make a false statement concerning the time any child has attended the school under his charge, shall be fined for such offense, not less than three dollars nor more than twenty dollars, for the use of the public school of the city or district in which the school under his charge is situated."

Mr. Wells moved that House Bill No. 729 be substituted for the foregoing bill as amended.

Mr. Fuller made the point of order that the House Bill No. 729 referred to, was only on the order of a first reading and could not at this stage of the two different bills be substituted in that way.

The President declared the point of order to be well taken.

Mr. Wells then offered the following amendment to the bill:

Amend by striking out all after the title of the bill and insert the following:

"SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the People of the State of Illinois, represented in the General Assembly, That every person having control of any child between the ages of seven (7) and fourteen (14) years shall cause such child to attend a public, private or parochial school, to be selected by such person, for at least sixteen (16) weeks of each school year, eight (8) weeks of which attendance shall be within the first five months of each school year: Provided, that the school year under this act shall commence with the first day of September and end on the last day of June.

"Section 2. For every neglect of duty as prescribed in section 1 of this act, the person offending shall forfeit to the use of the public schools of the city or district in which such child resides, a sum not less than three (3) nor more than twenty (20) dollars.

"Section 3. It shall be the duty of every board of school directors or board of education to carefully and discreetly make inquiries into all supposed violations of section 1 of this act, and when, in their opinion, the evidence renders such action necessary, to at once proceed against the person or person offending as hereinafter provided.

"Section 4. In every city and school district having a population of one thousand (1,000) inhabitants or over, the board of education or the board of directors shall, and in cities and districts having a population under one thousand (1,000) the board of directors may appoint one or more proper persons, who shall be designated truant officers, whose duty it shall be to carefully and discreetly make inquiries into and concerning all supposed violations of section one (1) of this act, and to report the same in writing to such board of education or board of directors, whose duty it shall be, when in their opinion the evidence renders such action necessary, to at once proceed against the responsible person, as hereinafter provided. It shall also be the duty of such truant officers, acting discreetly, to apprehend, upon view, all children of school-going age under this act who habitually frequent and loiter about public places and have no lawful occupation, and place such children, when so apprehended, in charge of the teacher of the public school which such children are by law entitled to attend, or in such private or parochial school as the person having the control of such child may designate; and it shall be the duty of such teacher to assign all such children to classes, and to instruct them in such studies as they are found, upon examination, to be fitted to pursue; it shall also be the duty of such officers to apprehend all truant children who habitually absent themselves from school without permission and to return them to the public school which they are by law entitled to attend, or to such private or parochial school as the person having control of such children may designate; and it shall be the duty of such officers to report all such apprehensions in writing to the clerk of the board of education or board of school directors, as the case may be, without unreasonable delay. The persons appointed as such truant officers shall be entitled to such compensation for services under this act as shall be determined by the boards appointing them, and which compensation shall be paid out of the district school fund.

"Section 5. Any fine or penalty mentioned in this act may be sued for and recovered before any court of record or justice of the peace of the proper county, in the name of the People of the State of Illinois, for the use of the public schools of the district in which said child resides.

"Section 6. It shall be a good defense to any suit brought under sections 1, 2 and 4 of this act, that such child has already acquired the branches of learning commonly taught in the public schools, or that said child has, during said time, and for said period, received private instructions in the branches commonly taught in the public schools, or that the physical or mental condition of such child is such as to render such attendance inexpedient.

"Section 7. An act entitled 'An act concerning the education of children,' approved May 21, 1889, in force July 1, 1889, is hereby repealed."

Mr. Fuller moved to lay the foregoing amendment of Mr. Wells on the table,

And the yeas and nays being demanded, the motion was carried by the following vote: Yeas 27, nays 24.

HOUSE MESSAGE.

A message from the House, by Mr. W. A. Compton, First Assistant Clerk:

Mr. President: I am directed to inform the Senate that the House of Representatives has concurred with them in the passage of a bill of the following title, to-wit:

Senate Bill No. 52, a bill for "An act to authorize the corporate authorities of towns to issue bonds for the completion and improvement of public parks and boulevards, and to provide a tax for the payment of the same," together with the following amendment, thereto, to-wit:

First—Amend by adding, after line 42, section 1, the following:

"Nor shall any portion of the money derived from the sale of said bonds be used or expended by such board of park commissioners in the improvement, maintenance, control or repair of any boulevard or pleasure way which has been or may hereafter be made into boulevards or pleasure ways from pre-existing streets, but all of the proceeds of the sale of such bonds shall be used and expended exclusively in the improvement of the lands acquired and maintained by any such board of park commissioners by means and from sources other than the transfer of any street or streets by the common council of any municipal corporation, to the management and control of any such board of park commissioners."

In the adoption of which I am instructed to ask the concurrence of the Senate.

Passed the House. May 28, 1891, with emergency clause.

W. H. HINRICHSSEN,
Clerk of the House of Representatives.

AT 1:05 O'CLOCK P. M.,

Senate Bill No. 212, a bill for an act to establish uniformity of text books in the public schools of each county in the State."

Also, Senate joint resolution concerning the adjournment on the 29th of May until June 2, 1891, on account of Memorial Day and the judicial elections in this State.

SPECIAL ORDER.

The daily order of business having been completed, the President of the Senate announced it as the time for the special order, being the further consideration of House Bill No. 729, for "An act to secure to all children the benefit of an elementary education," on second reading, the bill was taken up and read at large a second time,

And the question being, "Shall the bill be ordered engrossed and printed for a third reading?"

Mr. Berry offered the following amendment, viz.:

Amend House Bill No. 729, by striking out all of said bill after the enacting clause, and insert the following:

"That every person having under his or her control, as parent, guardian or otherwise, any child between the ages of seven and fourteen years, shall cause such child to attend some public or private day school at least sixteen weeks during each year. at least eight weeks of which attendance shall be consecutive, which time shall commence not later than the first Monday of October in each year, or as soon thereafter as the person having control of such child shall be notified in writing of his or her duty under this act. Every child attending any public or private school shall, among other studies, be taught reading, writing, and the history of the United States in the English language. The provisions of this section shall not apply to any child that shall be otherwise instructed for a like period of time during each year, which time shall commence not later than the first Monday of October in each year, in the branches of learning commonly taught in the public schools of this State, including reading and writing and the history of the United States, in the English language, or to any child that has already acquired the branches of learning commonly taught in the public schools of this State, including reading and writing and the history of the United States, in the English language, or to any child whose physical or mental condition is such as to render his or her attendance at school inexpedient, impracticable or unnecessary. Every person who shall violate any of the provisions of this section shall, upon conviction thereof, be fined in a sum not less than one nor more than twenty dollars for each and every offense, and stand committed until fine and costs are paid. Such fine shall be paid to the school treasurer of such city or township. The certificate of the superintendent or principal of any public or private school that any child is attending, or has, for at least sixteen weeks during the current year, attended said school, and that said child has been given, among other studies, instruction in reading, writing, and the history of the United States, in the English language, shall be prima facie evidence of such facts; any superintendent or principal of a school who, with intent to evade the provisions of this act, shall make a false statement concerning the time any child has attended the school under his charge, shall be fined for such offense not less than three dollars nor more than twenty dollars, for the use of the public school of the city or district in which the school under his charge is situated: Provided, that if any church or other holiday shall occur on any school day during the time when attendance at school is required by this act, it shall be lawful for such child to be absent from school on such holiday for the purpose of observing and keeping the same.

“§ 2. It shall be the duty of the board of education in every city, and the board of school directors in every school district to appoint one or more truant officers, whose duty it shall be carefully to inquire concerning all violations of this act, and to enter complaint against all persons who shall be guilty of such violation. It shall also be the duty of said officer to apprehend children of a school-going age who habitually haunt public places and have no lawful occupation, and also truant children who absent themselves from school without leave, and to place them in charge of the teacher having charge of the public school which the said children are by law entitled to attend, or such school as is designated by the parent of such child. And it shall be the duty of said teacher to assign said children to the proper classes, and to instruct them in such studies as they are fitted to pursue. Said truant officers shall have such compensation for services rendered under this act as shall be determined by the board of education or the board of directors appointing such officer, which compensation shall be paid from the distributable school fund.

"§ 3. Any person having control of a child who, with intent to evade the provisions of this act, shall make a willful false statement concerning the age of such child or the time such child has attended school, shall, for such offense, forfeit a sum of not less than $3, nor more than $20, for the use of the public school fund of such city or district.

"§ 4. Prosecutions under this act shall be instituted and carried on by authority of such boards, and be brought in the name of the People of the State of Illinois, for the use of the school fund of said city or township.

"§ 5. Police municipal courts, justices of the peace and judges of the county court shall have jurisdiction within their respective counties of the offenses described in this act.

"§ 6. 'An act concerning the education of children,' approved May 24, 1889, and in force July 1, 1889, is hereby repealed."

And the question being, "Shall the foregoing amendment be adopted?"

And the yeas and nays being demanded, it was decided in the affirmative by the following vote: Yeas 28, nays 22.

The following amendments reported therein having been printed, were taken up and read, viz.:

First. Strike out the word "not," in the 25th line of section five (5) of the printed bill.

Second. Strike out the words "newly organized," in the 11th line of the 7th section of the printed bill, and insert in lieu thereof the word "original."

Third. Insert after the word "proportion," in the 30th line of the 5th section of the printed bill, "as agreed upon or as adjudged by the court."

Fourth. Amend section eight (8) so as to read as follows: —

Section 8. If any portion of any incorporated town be disconnected under the provisions of this act, such new town and the original town shall have the same use and benefit of any sewer, water works, gas or electric light system owned by said original town from which such new town was disconnected, on the same terms, conditions and restrictions that the territory of each had before such dismemberment; and in case the new town shall become incorporated as a village, then such village shall succeed to all the rights and privileges and be subject to all the burdens and conditions granted or imposed by this act.

Fifth. Between the words "voter" and "and," the eleventh and twelfth words of the fortieth line of section one (1) of the printed bill, insert the following:

"And in election precincts which are intersected by the boundaries of the territory sought to be disconnected. the judge of election shall procure an additional ballot box, in which shall be deposited only the ballots of voters residing within the limits of the territory so sought to be disconnected."

Bacon,	Mahoney,

Ordered that the title be as aforesaid.

Mr. Crawford, C. H.) gave notice that he would, within the time prescribed by the rules, move to reconsider the vote whereby the foregoing bill passed the Senate.

By unanimous consent, on request of Mr. Fuller, Senate Bill No. 418, for "An act to amend section one as amended March 30, 1887, approved and in force March 30, 1887, of an act entitled 'An act to amend section one of article five, of 'An act to provide for the incorporation of cities and villages,' approved April 10, 1872, and in force July 1, 1872,' by adding provisions relating to elevated railroads and their branches, and to legalize ordinances passed authorizing or permitting the construction of such railroads over, in, upon and along streets, avenues, alleys and public places," having been printed, was taken up and read at large a second time, together with the following amendments thereto, they having been printed as reported from the Committee on Corporations, to-wit:

Amend title of bill to read as follows: "A bill for an act to amend section one (1) of article five (5) of an act entitled 'An act to provide for the incorporation of cities and villages,' approved April 10, 1872, and in force July 1, 1872, as amended by the act of March 30, 1887, approved and in force March 30, 1887."

Amend section one (1) by striking out, and inserting the following:

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the People of the State of Illinois, represented in the General Assembly, That section one (1) of article five (5) of an act entitled "An act to provide for the incorporation of cities and villages," approved April 30, 1872, and in force July 1, 1872, as amended by the act of March 30, 1887, approved and in force March 30, 1887," be amended so as to read as follows:

The question being, "Shall the report of, and the amendments reported from, said committee be adopted?" it was decided in the affirmative.

The question now being, "Shall the bill, as amended, be engrossed and printed for a third reading?"

Mr. Allen moved to strike out the enacting words of the bill.

After debate,

The question being, "Shall the enacting clause of the bill be stricken out?"

And the yeas and nays being demanded, it was decided in the affirmative by the following vote: Yeas 25, nays 23.

The following voted in the affirmative, Messrs.:

Allen,	Brink,	Lehman,	Secret,	Thomas,
Anderson,	Crawford, Wil-	McDonald,	Selbert,	Wiles,
Bass,	liam F.,	MacMillan,	Sheets,	Zearing,
Bassett,	Higbee,	Manecke,	Sheridan,	Yeas—25.
Berry,	Karraker,	Newell,	Thiele,

Charles H.,

And so the bill was rejected, in accordance with rule 33 of the Senate.

At 5 o'clock P. M.,

Mr. Evans moved that the Senate do now adjourn,
Which motion prevailed.

THURSDAY, JUNE 4, 1891—10 o'clock A. M.

Senate met pursuant to adjournment,

Hon. Lyman B. Ray, President of the Senate, presiding.

Prayer by the chaplain.

The journal of yesterday was being read, when, on motion of Mr. Sheridan, the further reading of the same was dispensed with, and it was ordered to stand approved.

PRESENTATION OF PETITIONS.

Mr. Shumway presented the following memorial from citizens of Chicago, and on his motion the same was ordered placed in the journal, viz.:

MEMORIAL.

To the Honorable, the Senate and House, of the 37th General Assembly:

Your memorialists respectfully represent that they are citizens of Chicago, of the metropolitan drainage district, in the State of Illinois.

Your memorialists further represent that a method of drainage and sewage disposal has been proposed to the city of Chicago by Gordon H. Nott, which is commonly known as the lower level plan, and contemplates the discharge of the sewage of Chicago through a tunnel into settling basins to be built at some place in the valleys of the Desplaines river, below the city of Joliet. That the common council of the city of Chicago have been petitioned to investigate the merits of said plan, and a committee of the council appointed to investigate and report thereon, have reported favorably.

Your memorialists, therefore, believe that the act of legislation for the creation of such sanitary district should contain such provisions as may be needed should the city of Chicago desire to adopt such a system of sewage disposal, and respectfully pray that the said act be amended by the addition of two additional sections, substantially as follows:

Section 28. If any tunnel shall be constructed under the provisions of this act, through which the sewage of such sanitary district shall be discharged into one or more basins connected with any river or stream, authority to construct which is hereby granted if deemed desirable, the sewage shall be allowed to settle in such basins so that the effluent water shall be harmless to any such river or stream, and the sewage in such basins shall be so treated by precipitants and disinfectants, and such basins shall be cleaned of solids and settleings at such frequent intervals that such basins shall not become noxious or offensive to the inhabitants where the same shall be located, and such solids and settleings, after being taken from such basins shall be so treated, removed or destroyed, that the same shall not become noxious or offensive to said inhabitants.

Section 29. The provisions contained in this act relating to the size and capacity of a channel or outlet for the discharge of sewage into a river or stream of water, shall not be construed to apply to a tunnel for the discharge of sewage into such basins.

PRESENTATION OF RESOLUTIONS.

Mr. Mahoney offered the following preamble and joint resolution which, under the rules, was laid over for one day, viz.:

WHEREAS, In 1886 the constitutional amendment submitted to the people of the State of Illinois was adopted by a large majority, abolishing the convict contract system from all the penitentiaries of this State; and

WHEREAS, The warden's report of the Northern Penitentiary at Joliet, to the General Assembly of 1889, volume 4, page 45, Exhibit U, shows that the commissioners of said penitentiary have openly violated the provisions of said constitutional amendment by leasing 25 convicts to J. G. Mott for the term of seven years, from October 13, 1887, to October 1, 1894; and

WHEREAS, It is commonly reported that the law is being violated to a much larger extent than the official report will show as to the leasing of convicts without any regard for the law; and also that said commissioners have instituted what is known as the State account system, without the knowledge or consent of this or any other previous General Assembly, which has in the cooperage industry alone the effect of completely demoralizing the trade in the city of Chicago; and as a result of the ruinous competition by the State through the former contractor of cooperage, J. H. Winterbotham & Sons, who act as the agent of the State, has closed the cooper shops entirely, thereby throwing hundreds of our citizens out of employment, and depriving them and their families of the means of subsistence.

Resolved, by the Senate of the State of Illinois, the House of Representatives concurring herein, That a committee of five be appointed, three from the House of Representatives, to be appointed by the Speaker of that body, and two from the Senate, to be appointed by the President thereof.

It shall be the duty of this committee to make a thorough investigation of all the facts bearing upon the above mentioned case, and report to this General Assembly on Tuesday, June 9, 1891. This committee will have power to employ a stenographer to report such testimony as may be given, and may visit the Northern Penitentiary at Joliet if they so elect. And upon vouchers duly made, the Auditor is hereby authorized to pay the expenses of such committee.

WHEREAS, The statute provides that the Enrolling and Engrossing Clerk, and his assistants, shall not receive pay for more than the number of the days of the session; and

WHEREAS, Considerable work will be left over to be performed by such clerks after the adjournment; therefore,

Resolved, That the Enrolling and Engrossing Clerk of the Senate, and his assistants, shall be paid the per diem allowed by law, dating from the first day of the session, and the presiding officer of the Senate is hereby directed to certify to the pay-roll for their per diem accordingly.

On motion of Mr. Hagle, the rules were suspended, and the above resolution was taken up for immediate consideration,

And the question being, "Shall the foregoing resolution be adopted?" it was decided in the affirmative.

A message from the House, by Mr. E. P. Kimball, Assistant Clerk:

Mr. President: I am directed to inform the Senate that the House of Representatives has concurred with them in the passage of a bill of the following title, to-wit:

Senate Bill No. 374, a bill for "An act to provide for the participation of the State of Illinois in the World's Columbian Exposition authorized by act of Congress of the United States, to be held in the city of Chicago, during the year 1893, in commemoration of the discovery of America in the year 1492, and for an appropriation to pay the cost and expense of the same."

Passed the House June 9, 1891, together with the following amendments:

1. Amend section 2 after line 25 by adding the words "five per cent of the amount appropriated by this act shall be devoted to the encouragement of an exhibit of live stock owned in the State of Illinois."

2. Amend section 5 of the printed bill by inserting after the word "shall" in the third line of said section a comma, also the words, "subject to the approval of the Governor."

3. Amend section 6 of the printed bill by adding the following at the end of said section in the fifteenth line: "The board of commissioners shall require from its secretary detailed reports on the first day of each calendar month of all transactions connected with the commission for the preceding month. The report shall include a complete balance sheet to date and shall be filed each month with the Secretary of State, and shall at all times be open to the inspection of any member of the board of commissioners, and shall with the records of the board of commissioners be deemed public records."

4. Amend section 7, line 11, after the word "appropriated," to read as follows: "And provided, further, that in all mechanical or other labor performed on the construction of buildings which shall be paid for out of this appropriation, eight hours shall constitute a day's labor, and the price paid for such labor shall not be less than the established minimum rate in the city of Chicago, also that all disputes arising between employers and employes shall be adjusted by arbitration."

5. Amend section 7, line 5, by striking out the word "and" and inserting in lieu thereof the following, "accompanied with itemized."

6. Amend line 1, of section 7, of the printed bill by striking out the words and figures "one million dollars ($1,000,000)," and inserting in place thereof the words and figures "seven hundred and fifty thousand dollars ($750,000)."

7. Amend section 8, by adding thereto, "with the approval of the Governor."

8. Amend section 9, line 7, by striking out the word "and" in said line, and inserting in lieu thereof, "accompanied with itemized."

9. Strike out the words, "not to exceed," in line 2 of section 9.

10. Amend by adding the following additional section:

Section 10. The buildings authorized by this act to be constructed and all improvements made on the grounds of the exposition with the funds provided by this act, shall remain the property of the State of Illinois until disposed of as herein provided. Before any money is drawn from the treasury for such buildings or improvements the city of Chicago, or the owner of the land upon which the buildings and improvements are located, shall enter into a contract with the said board of commissioners, as herein provided, to the effect that such buildings, improvements and fixtures of whatever kind shall be and remain the sole and exclusive property of the State of Illinois until disposed of as provided in this act. The said board of commissioners are hereby authorized and required to make and enter into the contract provided for herein, on the part of the State. And it shall be their duty, within one year after the final closing of the exposition, or sooner, if practicable, to dispose of said buildings, improvements and fixtures of whatever kind, to the best advantage of the State, by making public advertisements in at least three (3) daily newspapers in the city of Chicago having the largest circulation, fixing the time and place at which sealed proposals shall be received, containing propositions to purchase said buildings and improvements. At least ninety (90) days' notice shall be given of the time and place at which such proposals will be received. At the time indicated the proposals shall be opened in the presence of the officials aforesaid and of such other persons as may be interested therein, and the proposition or propositions most favorable to the State shall be accepted. The person or persons whose bids are accepted shall within thirty (30) days thereafter deposit the amounts required in the treasury of the State of Illinois. And such person or persons shall have the right to remove such buildings and improvements from the premises where they are located, and shall be entitled to twelve (12) months' time from the day of sale to remove the same, having first deposited the purchase money in the State treasury. And neither the State of Illinois, nor such person or persons, shall be required to pay to the owner or lessee of the grounds on which such buildings and improvements are located any rent or other compensation during the time required for the erection of said buildings and improvements, or for the occupancy of said grounds during the time required by this act for the purpose of the exposition, or during the time required for the sale and removal of such buildings, improvements or fixtures. The said board of commissioners may reject any or all propositions made, and re-advertise as herein provided, from time to time, until such proposition or propositions are made as will fully compensate the State for such property. And said officials, or a majority of them, are authorized to make and execute all such bills of sale or conveyances as may be necessary to transfer the title of such buildings, improvements and fixtures of whatever kind to the purchasers thereof, and to make all needful rules and regulations for advertising and disposing of the same.

The following amendments reported therein having been printed, were taken up and read, viz.:

1. Amend section 2 after line 25, by adding the words, "Five per cent. of the amount appropriated by this act shall be de voted to the encouragement of an exhibit of live stock owned in the State of Illinois."

2. Amend section 5 of the printed bill by inserting after the word "shall" in the third line of said section, a comma; also the words "subject to the approval of the Governor."

3. Amend section 6 of the printed bill by adding the following at the end of said section in the fifteenth line: "The board of commissioners shall require from its secretary detailed reports on the first day of each calendar month of all transactions connected with the commission for the preceding month. The report shall include a complete balance sheet to date and shall be filed each month with the Secretary of State, and shall at all times be open to the inspection of any member of the board of commissioners, and shall, with the records of the board of commissioners, be deemed public records."

4. Amend section 7, line 11, after the word "appropriation," to read as follows: "And provided, further, that in all mechanical or other labor performed on the construction of buildings which shall be paid for out of this appropriation, eight hours shall constitute a day's labor, and the price paid for such labor shall not be less than the established minimum rate in the city of Chicago: also that all disputes arising between employers and employes shall be adjusted by arbitration."

5. Amend section 7, line 5, by striking out the word "and" and inserting in lieu thereof the following, "accompanied with itemized."

6. Amend line 1 of section 7 of the printed bill, by striking out the words and figures "one million dollars ($1,000,000)" and inserting in place thereof the words and figures "seven hundred and fifty thousand dollars ($750,000)."

7. Amend section 8 by adding thereto, "with the approval of the Governor."

8. Amend section 9, line 7, by striking out the word "and" in said line, and inserting in lieu thereof "accompanied with itemized."

9. Strike out the words "not to exceed" in line 2' of section 9.

10. Amend by adding the following additional section:

Section 10. The buildings authorized by this act to be constructed and all improvements made on the grounds of the exposition with the funds provided by this act, shall remain the property of the State of Illinois until disposed of as herein provided. Before any money is drawn from the treasury for such buildings or improvements, the city of Chicago, or the owner of the land upon which the buildings and improvements are located, shall enter into a contract with the said board of commissioners, as herein provided, to the effect that such buildings, improvements and fixtures of whatever kind shall be and remain the sole and exclusive property of the State of Illinois until disposed of as provided in this act. The said board of commissioners are hereby authorized and required to make and enter into the contract provided for herein on the part of the State. And it shall be their duty, within one year after the final closing of the exposition, or sooner, if practicable, to dispose of said buildings, improvements and fixtures of whatever kind, to the best advantage of the State, by making public advertisements in at least three (3) daily newspapers in the city of Chicago having the largest circulation, fixing the time and place at which sealed proposals shall be received, containing propositions to purchase said buildings and improvements. At least ninety (90) days' notice shall be given of the time and place at which such proposals will be received. At the time indicated the proposals shall be opened in the presence of the officials aforesaid, and of such other persons as may be interested therein, and the proposition or propositions most favorable to the State shall be accepted. The person or persons whose bids are accepted shall within thirty (30) days thereafter deposit the amounts required in the treasury of the State of Illinois. And such person or persons shall have the right to remove such buildings and improvements from the premises where they are located, and shall be entitled to twelve (12) months' time from the day of sale to remove the same, having first deposited the purchase money in the State treasury. And neither the State of Illinois, nor such person or persons, shall be required to pay to the owner or lessee of the grounds on which such buildings and improvements are located any rent or other compensation during the time required for the erection of said buildings and improvements, or for the occupancy of said grounds during the time required by this act for the purpose of the exposition, or during the time required for the sale and removal of such buildings, improvements or fixtures. The said board of commissioners may reject any or all propositions made, and re-advertise as herein provided, from time to time, until such proposition or propositions are made as will fully compensate the State for such property. And said officials, or a majority of them, are authorized to make and execute all such bills of sale or conveyances as may be necessary to transfer the title of such buildings, improvements and fixtures of whatever kind to the purchasers thereof, and to make all needful rules and regulations for advertising and disposing of the same.

1. Amend section 1 by striking out all of line 6 of the printed bill.

2. Amend section 1 by striking out all of line 7 of the printed bill after the word "cellar," and insert the words "eight hundred dollars ($800)" therefor.

3. Amend section 1 by striking out in line 9 of the printed bill the figures "three thousand dollars" and insert the words "fifteen hundred dollars ($1,500)" therefor.

4. Amend section 1 by striking out in line 10 of the printed bill the figures "one thousand dollars," and insert "five hundred dollars ($500)" therefor.

In the adoption of which I am instructed to ask the concurrence of the Senate.

Senate Bill 139, a bill for "An act making appropriations for the State Board of Agriculture, and county and other agricultural fairs."

Passed the House June 9, 1891, together with the following amendments:

1. Amend by striking out all of line 8 after the figures "1891," and all of lines 9, 10, 11, 12 and 13 of section 1 of printed bill.

2. Amend by striking out the words in line 25 "proceedings of the institute meetings," and in lines 25 and 26 the words and figures "$1,200," and insert in lieu thereof "$600."

In the adoption of which I am instructed to ask the concurrence of the Senate.

Senate Bill No. 149, a bill for "An act making appropriations for the Illinois Northern Hospital for the Insane at Elgin."

Passed the House June 9, 1891.

Senate Bill No. 171, a bill for "An act making an appropriation for the payment of the officers and members of the next General Assembly, and the salaries of the officers of the State government."

Passed the House June 9, 1891.

Senate Bill No. 80, a bill for "An act to establish the Illinois State Reformatory and making an appropriation therefor."

Passed the House June 9, 1891, together with the following amendments:

1. Amend section 12 in line 10 by inserting after the word "person" the words, "above the age of sixteen years who have been convicted and adjudged."

2. Add the following to section 21: "No contracts of any kind whatever shall be made for plans, material, labor or for the erection of buildings until after bids for proposals for the same have been advertised for, for at least three weeks, twice each week in two daily newspapers of opposite politics having the largest circulation in the cities of Chicago, Springfield, Illinois, and St. Louis, Missouri."

3. Amend by striking out all of section 21, after the word "prisoners" in line 10 of section 21 of printed bill.

4. Amend by striking out of section 10 in line 4, in section 11 in line 3, in section 11 in line 5, in section 11 in line 7, in section 13 in line 3, in section 13 in line 10, and wherever the same may occur in the printed bill the words "twenty-five years," and insert in place thereof the words "twenty-one years."

5. Amend by adding section 25:

"Section 25. All appropriations made for the benefit of the State Reform School at Pontiac shall be transferred and made payable to the board of managers of the Illinois State Reformatory, when they shall come in possession of the said reform school under the provisions of this act."

6. Amend section 9 of the printed bill by inserting, after the word "the," in the 11th line, the word "State."

7. Amend section 2 by striking out the words "two," "four," "six," "eight" and "ten," in the 7th line of the printed bill, and insert "one," "two," "three," "four" and "five," in place thereof.

8. Add to section 3 the following: "The chaplain shall hold his office for the term of one year, and in no case shall his successor be of the same religious denomination as that of his predecessor, the purpose being that all religious denominations shall consecutively be represented in said chaplaincy."

9. Amend section 4 of the printed bill by inserting after the word "constitution," in the 3rd line of said section, the following: "and shall each make and execute to the People of the State of Illinois, to be approved by the Governor, a bond in the sum of $25,000 for the faithful performance of his duties, with such conditions as the Governor may prescribe."

10. Strike out all of section 5, after the word "qualified," in the 3rd line of said section.

11. Strike out all of section 8 of the printed bill.

12. Amend section 9 by striking out all after the word "in," in the 3rd line of the printed bill, and insert "the sum of fifty thousand dollars."

13. Strike out the word "ten," in the first line of section 7 of the printed bill, and insert "three."

In the adoption of which I am instructed to ask the concurrence of the Senate.

W. H. HINRICHSSEN,
Clerk of the House of Representatives.

In accordance with a previous order, the Senate bills with amendments were ordered on the calendar for future consideration.

Made the following report, viz.:

To the Honorable, the Senate:

We, the members of the Senate Finance Committee of the 37th General Assembly, to whom was referred the report of N. B. Wiggins, Geo. Pasfield and E. L. Merritt, trustees appointed by a law "making an appropriation for repairing the Executive Mansion and for furnishing the same," approved May 10, 1889, beg leave to report that we have carefully examined the itemized account forming part of said report and compared the same with vouchers in the office of the Auditor of Public Accounts, and have found the same to be correct, and hereby recommend the adoption of the report. And we further recommend that the thanks of the Senate be tendered to the said N. B. Wiggins, Geo. Pasfield and E. L. Merritt, for the faithful performance of the duties entrusted to them.

Respectfully submitted,

PERRY ANDERSON,
Chairman.

The report of the committee was concurred in, and on motion of Mr. Anderson, the report of the trustees on the Governor's Mansion was adopted.

Mr. Anderson, from the Committee on Finance, to whom was referred the following preamble and resolution, viz.:

WHEREAS, It appears from the report of Charles Becker, ex-State Treasurer of the State of Illinois, bearing date November the 1st, 1890, that there was a total surplus in the State Treasury on the 1st day of October, 1888, of $3,839,217.22; and,

WHEREAS, It appears by said report that the receipts from all sources from the first day of October, 1888, to the thirtieth day of September, 1890, inclusive, was $10,421,335.39; which sum added to said surplus makes $14,260,552.61; and,

WHEREAS, It further appears by said report that the entire disbursements from October the 1st, 1888, to September the 30th, 1890, inclusive, was $9,815,084.62, leaving a balance in the State Treasury on the first day of October, 1890, of $4,445,467.99; and,

WHEREAS, It further appears by said report that the taxes levied and collected by the proper officers of the State have been largely in excess of the appropriations made, or the public wants of the State; and,

WHEREAS, It was charged that said surplus or portions thereof was being deposited in certain banks, and that said Treasurer received large sums of money in consideration of such deposits, which the Treasurer has not accounted for or turned into the State Treasury; therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate of the Thirty-Seventh General Assembly, That a committee of seven Senators be appointed by the President of the Senate with full power to make thorough investigation into the foregoing subjects with power to subpoena, swear and examine witnesses, to examine books, records, vouchers, certificates and all papers appertaining thereto, and employ clerk of such committee and make report of their investigation to this body.

Reported the same back without recommendation.

On motion of Mr. Anderson, the preamble and resolution was ordered to lie on the table.

Mr. Knopf, from the Committee on License and Miscellany, to which was referred a bill, Senate Bill No. 376, for "An act to establish maximum rates of fare to be charged on horse, cable, electric and dummy railways in certain cases, and to provide penalties for the violation of its provisions," reported the same back with the recommendation that the bill do not pass.

The report of the committee was concurred in, and the bill, on motion of Mr. Knopf, was ordered to lie on the table.

Mr. Knopf, from the Committee on License and Miscellany, to which was referred a bill, Senate Bill No. 108, for "An act in relation to the rate of fare to be charged by horse, cable and dummy railways, for twenty-five ride tickets, in cities of twenty-five thousand inhabitants or over," reported the same back, with the recommendation that the bill do not pass.

The report of the committee was concurred in, and the bill, on motion of Mr. Knopf, was ordered to lie on the table.

Mr. Knopf, from the Committee on License and Miscellany, to which was referred a bill, Senate Bill No. 386, for "An act to amend 'An act to provide for the licensing of and against the evils arising from the sale of intoxicating liquors,' approved March 30, 1874, in force July 1, 1874," reported the same back with the recommendation that the bill do not pass.

The report of the committee was concurred in, and the bill, on motion of Mr. Knopf, was ordered to lie on the table.

Mr. Knopf, from the Committee on License and Miscellany, to which was referred a bill, Senate Bill No. 222, for "An act to amend section 1 of an act entitled 'An act to restrict the powers of counties, cities, towns and villages in licensing dram shops, to provide for granting a license to retail malt liquors separately, and for punishing persons holding such separate license for unlawful sale and gifts,' approved June 15, 1883, in force July 1, 1883," reported the same back with the recommendation that the bill do not pass.

The report of the committee was concurred in, and the bill, on motion of Mr. Knopf, was ordered to lie on the table.

They shall be of stone or brick and shall have slate or metal roofs and floors of brick, stone or tile in all bath rooms, water closets, sculleries, kitchens, etc. They shall also, if heated by furnaces, have fire-proof walls around and above such furnaces. The trustees of said hospital shall immediately, upon the taking effect of this act, cause plans and specifications to be prepared for the construction and completion of said additional buildings and construct the same, or the superintendent of said hospital, under the direction of the board of trustees, may procure plans and have general charge and supervision of the work, which plans shall be submitted to the Governor and the State Board of Public Charities for their consideration, and their approval shall be necessary before any steps are taken towards the erection of such buildings, and no expense shall be incurred in excess of the amount hereby appropriated, but full and complete provision for 300 patients shall be made within the amount above appropriated.

For ordinary expenses for an average of one hundred and fifty patients, for one year, twenty thousand dollars ($20,000).

The moneys hereby appropriated shall be due and payable to the trustees or their order only on the terms and in the manner now provided by law.

In the adoption of which I am instructed to ask the concurrence of the Senate.

W. H. HINRICHSSEN,

Clerk of the House of Representatives.

AT 12:25 O'CLOCK, P. M.,

On motion of Mr. Wells, the Senate took a recess until 2:30 o'clock P. M.

2:30 O'CLOCK P. M.,

The Senate resumed the transaction of business,

Hon. Lyman B. Ray, President of the Senate, presiding.

Mr. Mathews, on behalf of the committee of conference, made the following privileged report:

To the Honorable, the Senate:

Your committee of conference, to which was referred House Bill No. 591, entitled "An act to provide for the printing and distribution of ballots at public expense, and for the nomination of candidates for public offices, and to enforce the secrecy of the ballot," report as follows:

They recommend that the House concur with the Senate in the following amendments, to-wit: Amendments No. 1, 2, 3, 4, 6, 7, 8, 9, first line and one-half of 10, 11, 13:

1. Amend section seventeen (17) by inserting, after the word "may," in line one (1), the word "be."

2. Amend section twenty-one (21) by striking out the word "fifty," in line thirty-nine (39), and insert in lieu thereof the words "one hundred."

3. Amend section twenty-two (22) by striking out the word "That," in line sixteen (16), and inserting in lieu thereof the word "At."

4. Amend section twenty-three (23) by striking out the words "or other appropriate mark or symbol," wherever they occur in said section.

6. Amend section twenty-four (24) by inserting after the word "parties" in line seven, the words, "to be selected from the judges and clerks of the precinct in which they are to act" and also, by inserting in same line, after the word "election" the words "of such precinct."

7. Amend section twenty-six (26) by striking out all of said section after the word "and" in line eleven (11) and before the words "all ballots not voted" in line 30, and insert the following in lieu thereof: "Ballots to which objection has been made by either of the judges or challengers shall be marked 'objected to' on the back thereof, and a memorandum, signed by the judges, stating how it was counted, shall be written upon the back of each ballot so marked, and all ballots marked defective or objected to shall be enclosed in an envelope securely sealed and so marked and endorsed as to clearly disclose its contents."

8. Amend by striking out all of section 27 after the word "ballots" in the 14th line of said section, and by substituting therefor the following: "Immediately after making such proclamation, and before separating, the judges shall fold in two folds, and string closely upon a single piece of flexible wire, all ballots which have been counted by them, except those marked 'objected to,' unite the ends of such wire in a firm knot, seal the knot in such manner that it cannot be untied without breaking the seal, enclose the ballots so strung in an envelope and securely tie and seal such envelope with official wax impression seals, to be provided by the judges, in such manner that it cannot be opened without breaking the seals, and return said ballots, together with the package containing the ballots marked 'defective or objected to,' in such sealed package or envelope, to the proper clerk or to the board of election commissioners, as the case may be, and such officer shall carefully preserve said ballots for six months, and at the expiration of that time shall destroy them by burning without previously opening the package or envelope. Such ballots shall be destroyed in the presence of the official custodian thereof, and two electors of approved integrity and good repute and members respectively of the two leading political parties. The said electors shall be designated by the county judge of the county in which such ballots are kept: Provided, that if any contest of the election of any officer voted for at such election shall be pending at the expiration of said time, the said ballots shall not be destroyed until such contest is finally determined. In all cases of contested elections the parties contesting the same shall have the right to have said ballots opened and to have all errors of the judges in counting or refusing to count any ballot corrected by the court or body trying such contest: but such ballots shall be opened only in open court or in open session of such body and in the presence of the officer having the custody thereof.

9. Amend by inserting after section 33, the following:

Section 34. At all elections to which this act applies except at elections held in cities, villages and incorporated towns which have heretofore adopted or may hereafter adopt the provisions of an act entitled "An act regulating the holding of elections and declaring the result thereof in cities, villages and incorporated towns," approved June 19, 1885, the polls shall be opened at seven o'clock in the morning and shall be closed at five in the evening.

10. Amend by changing the number of section "34" to "35."

11. Amend the title by inserting therein after the word "offices," the words "to regulate the manner of holding elections."

13. Amend by adding after section 35 the following:

~~Section~~ 36. It shall be the duty of the board of supervisors of each under township organization, and of the board of county commissioners in counties not under township organization, at their first meeting after the passage of this act, to select two newspapers, one from each of the two political parties casting the greatest number of votes for State treasurer at the election in 1890, in which this law shall be published. Provided, that the pay for such publication shall be fixed by said board of supervisors or county commissioners, but in no case shall it exceed the sum of thirty dollars to each newspaper publishing the same. When the board of supervisors or county commissioners have selected the newspapers in which the law shall be published, it shall be the duty of the county clerk to certify such action to the Secretary of State, who shall at once furnish to each of said papers a copy of the law, and upon the receipt of the Secretary of State of a copy of said paper, with an affidavit of the publisher or business manager that the law was published in each and every copy of said paper on a certain date (which shall not be later than thirty days after its receipt from the Secretary of State), the Secretary of State shall certify the amount fixed for the payment for the publication of this law in said paper to the Auditor of Public Accounts, who shall draw his warrant on the treasurer for the sum named: Provided, that the non-publication of this law, as herein provided, shall not invalidate the law.

And they further recommend that the Senate recede from the following amendments, to-wit: Amendments No. 5, all of No. 10 after the figures "35," and No. 12.

5. Amend section twenty-three (23) by inserting after the word "forthwith," in line forty-six, the words, "and his ballot shall be numbered to correspond with his number on the poll book." And by striking out after the word "law," in line forty-seven (47) of said section, the words, "except that the number corresponding to the number of the voter on the poll books shall not be endorsed on the back of his ballot."

No. 10. And by striking out after the word "voting" in line sixteen (16) of said section, the words "and the numbering."

12. Amend line 11, section 35, by inserting after the words "manner of voting," the words "and time of opening and closing the polls."

A message from the House, by Mr. E. P. Kimball, Assistant Clerk:

Mr. President: I am directed to inform the Senate that the House of Representatives has concurred with them in the adoption of the following joint resolution, to-wit:

Resolved, by the Senate of Illinois, the House of Representatives concurring therein, That there shall be submitted to the voters of this State, at the next general election for members of the General Assembly, a proposition to amend section two (2) of article XIV of the constitution of this State, by striking out and eliminating therefrom the following words: to-wit:

"But the General Assembly shall have no power to propose amendments to more than one article of the constitution at the same session, nor to the same article oftener than once in four (4) years."

Amended so as to read as follows:

Resolved, by the Senate of the State of Illinois, the House of Representatives concurring therein, That there shall be submitted to the voters of this State, at the next general election for members of the General Assembly, a proposition to amend section two (2) of article XIV of the Constitution of this State, so that said section will read as follows:

§ 2. Amendments to this Constitution may be proposed in either house of the General Assembly, and if the same shall be voted for by two-thirds of all the members elected to each of the two houses, such proposed amendments, together with the "yeas" and "nays" of each house thereon, shall be entered in full on their respective journals; and said amendments shall be submitted to the electors of this State, for adoption or rejection, at the next election of members of the General Assembly, in such manner as may be prescribed by law. The proposed amendments shall be published in full at least three months preceding the election, and if a majority of the electors voting at said election shall vote for the proposed amendments, they shall become a part of this Constitution.

"But the General Assembly shall have no power to propose amendments to more than two articles of this Constitution at the same session, nor to the same article oftener than once in four (4) years."

Adopted by the House June 10, 1891.

W. H. HINRICHSSEN,

In accordance with an agreement entered into Tuesday, June 2, the Senate passed to the CONSIDERATION OF HOUSE AMENDMENTS TO SENATE BILLS.

Thereupon the message concerning Senate Bill No. 69, for "An act making further provision for the insane of the State of Illinois now unprovided for, by increasing the capacity of the Illinois Eastern Hospital for the Insane at Kankakee," which was received from the House to-day, was taken up for consideration.

The following amendments, contained therein, having been printed, were taken up and read, viz.:

1. Amend by striking out all after the enacting clause and insert in lieu thereof the following:

"That for the purpose of making provision for the care of three hundred additional patients in the Eastern Hospital for the Insane at Kankakee there be and is hereby appropriated the sum of one hundred and forty thousand dollars ($140,000), or so much of said sum as may be necessary, out of any moneys in the State Treasury not otherwise appropriated, to be expended as hereinafter directed.

Section 2. The sum herein appropriated shall be in full for the erection, completion, furnishing, heating, lighting and preparing for use and occupancy at such hospital, by not less than three hundred patients, together with the necessary officers, attendants and employes for their proper care, one or more buildings. Said buildings herein provided for shall be two stories in height and shall correspond in construction to the detached wards already erected at the said institution. They shall be of stone or brick and shall have slate or metal roofs, and floors of brick, stone or tile in all bath rooms, water closets, sculleries, kitchens, etc. They shall also, if heated by furnaces, have fire-proof walls around and above such furnaces. The trustees of said hospital shall immediately, upon the taking effect of this act, cause plans and specifications to be prepared for the construction and completion of said additional buildings and construct the same. or the superintendent of said hospital, under the direction of the board of trustees, may procure plans and have general charge and supervision of the work, which plans shall be submitted to the Governor and the State Board of Public Charities for their consideration, and their approval shall be necessary before any steps are taken towards the erection of such buildings, and no expense shall be incurred in excess of the amount hereby appropriated, but full and complete provision for 300 patients shall be made within the amount above appropriated.

For ordinary expenses for an average of one hundred and fifty patients for one year, twenty thousand dollars ($20,000).

The moneys hereby appropriated shall be due and payable to the trustees or their order, only on the terms and in the manner now provided by law.

By unanimous consent, on request of Mr. Knopf, House Bill No. 379, a bill for "An act to amend section three (3) of an act entitled 'An act to prevent the prostitution of females,' approved June 17, 1887,' as amended by an act approved June 3, 1889, and in force July 1, 1889," having been printed, was taken up and read at large a second time,

And the question being, "Shall the bill be ordered to a third reading?" it was decided in the affirmative.

Mr. Evans, on behalf of the conference committee, made the following report, viz.:

To the Honorable, the Senate, and House of Representatives:

The undersigned, the conference committee of the Senate and House, appointed to consider Senate Bill No. 70, and the amendments thereto made by the House, and the differences between the Senate and House relating to said bill and amendments, beg leave to report that, having fully considered the same, they recommend:

That the House recede from its first amendment, to-wit: Amend section 1 of the printed bill by striking out all of lines 5 and 6, and that in lieu of said amendment the words "per annum" only be stricken out.

That the House recede from its amendment, to-wit:

Amendment No. 2, as follows: Amend section 1 by striking out of line 7 the words and figures 'ten thousand dollars ($10,000),' and insert the words and figures 'five thousand dollars ($5,000).'

That the House recede from its amendment, to-wit:

Amendment No. 3, as follows: Amend lines 8 and 9, in section 1 of the printed bill, by striking out the words and figures 'seven thousand five hundred dollars ($7,500),' and substituting therefor the words and figures 'three thousand dollars ($3,000).'

That the House recede from its amendment, to-wit.

Amendment No. 4, as follows: Amend lines 10 and 11, in section 1 of the printed bill, by striking out the words and figures 'ten thousand dollars ($10,000),' and inserting the words and figures 'five thousand dollars ($5,000).'

That the House recede from its amendment, to-wit:

Amendment No. 6: Amend section 1 of the printed bill by striking out all of line 19, and that the Senate recede from its amendment to the original bill making the amount to provide increased accommodations for officers and employes "eight thousand dollars," and insert in lieu thereof the words and figures "six thousand five hundred dollars ($6,500)."

And that the Senate concur in all other amendments made by the House to the said Senate Bill No. 70.

H. H. EVANS,
JOHN HUMPHREY,
JOSEPH P. MAHONEY,

Committee on the part of the Senate.

JOHN EDDY,

Chapman,	Hagle,	Mahoney,

Ordered that the title be as aforesaid, and that the Secretary inform the House of Representatives thereof, and ask their concurrence in the amendments to said bill.

Mr. Fuller, on behalf of the conference committee, presented the following report, to-wit:

To the Honorable, the Senate:

Your committee, appointed as a committee of conference on Senate Bill No. 374, being a bill for "An act to provide for the participation of the State of Illinois in the World's Columbian Exposition authorized by act of Congress of the United States, to be held in the city of Chicago, during the year 1893, in commemoration of the discovery of America in the year 1492, and for an appropriation to pay the cost and expense of the same," respectfully report as follows:

They recommend that the Senate concur with the House in the first, second, third, fourth, fifth, seventh, eighth, ninth and tenth amendments to-wit:

1. Amend section 2 after line 25 by adding the words "five per cent of the amount appropriated by this act shall be devoted to the encouragement of an exhibit of live stock owned in the State of Illinois."

2. Amend section 5 of the printed bill by inserting after the word "shall" in the third line of said section a comma, also the words, "subject to the approval of the Governor."

3. Amend section 6 of the printed bill by adding the following at the end of said section in the fifteenth line: "The board of commissioners shall require from its secretary detailed reports on the first day of each calendar month of all transactions connected with the commission for the preceding month. The report shall include a complete balance sheet to date and shall be filed each month with the Secretary of State, and shall at all times be open to the inspection of any member of the board of commissioners, and shall with the records of the board of commissioners be deemed public records."

4. Amend section 7, line 11, after the word "appropriation," to read as follows: "And provided, further, that in all mechanical or other labor performed on the construction of buildings which shall be paid for out of this appropriation, eight hours shall constitute a day's labor, and the price paid for such labor shall not be less than the established minimum rate in the city of Chicago, also that all disputes arising between employers and employes shall be adjusted by arbitration."

5. Amend section 7, line 5, by striking out the word "and" and inserting in lieu thereof the following, "accompanied with itemized."

7. Amend section 8, by adding thereto, "with the approval of the Governor."

8. Amend section 9, line 7, by striking out the word "and" in said line, and inserting in lieu thereof, "accompanied with itemized."

9. Strike out the words, "not to exceed," in line 2 of section 9.

10. Amend by adding the following additional section:

Section 10. The buildings authorized by this act to be constructed and all improvements made on the grounds of the exposition with the funds provided by this act, shall remain the property of the State of Illinois until disposed of as herein provided. Before any money is drawn from the treasury for such buildings or improvements the city of Chicago, or the owner of the land upon which the buildings and improvements are located, shall enter into a contract with the said board of commissioners, as herein provided, to the effect that such buildings, improvements and fixtures of whatever kind shall be and remain the sole and exclusive property of the State of Illinois until disposed of as provided in this act. The said board of commissioners are hereby authorized and required to make and enter into the contract provided for herein, on the part of the State. And it shall be their duty, within one year after the final closing of the exposition, or sooner, if practicable, to dispose of said buildings, improvements and fixtures of whatever kind, to the best advantage of the State, by making public advertisements in at least three (3) daily newspapers in the city of Chicago having the largest circulation, fixing the time and place at which sealed proposals shall be received, containing propositions to purchase said buildings and improvements. At least ninety (90) days' notice shall be given of the time and place at which such proposals will be received. At the time indicated the proposals shall be opened in the presence of the officials aforesaid and of such other persons as may be interested therein, and the proposition or propositions most favorable to the State shall be accepted. The person or persons whose bids are accepted shall within thirty (30) days thereafter deposit the amounts required in the treasury of the State of Illinois. And such person or persons shall have the right to remove such buildings and improvements from the premises where they are located, and shall be entitled to twelve (12) months' time from the day of sale to remove the same, having first deposited the purchase money in the State treasury. And neither the State of Illinois, nor such person or persons, shall be required to pay to the owner or lessee of the grounds on which such buildings and improvements are located any rent or other compensation during the time required for the erection of said buildings and improvements, or for the occupancy of said grounds during the time required by this act for the purpose of the exposition, or during the time required for the sale and removal of such buildings, improvements or fixtures. The said board of commissioners may reject any or all propositions made, and re-advertise as herein provided, from time to time, until such proposition or propositions are made as will fully compensate the State for such property. And said officials, or a majority of them, are authorized to make and execute all such bills of sale or conveyances as may be necessary to transfer the title of such buildings, improvements and fixtures of whatever kind to the purchasers thereof, and to make all needful rules and regulations for advertising and disposing of the same.

And that the sixth amendment, as follows, to-wit:

6. Amend line 1, of section 7, of the printed bill by striking out the words and figures "one million dollars ($1,000,000)," and inserting in place thereof the words and figures "seven hundred and fifty thousand dollars ($750,000)."

Be amended by striking out the words and figures "seven hundred and fifty thousand dollars ($750,000)" and inserting in lieu thereof the words and figures "eight hundred thousand dollars ($800,000)."

MISCELLANEOUS BUSINESS.

By unanimous consent, on request of Mr. Thomas, the following message received from the House June 10, 1891, was taken up and read, viz.:

A message from the House by Mr. E. P. Kimball, Assistant Clerk:

Mr. President: I am directed to inform the Senate that the House of Representatives has concurred with them in the adoption of the following joint resolution, to-wit:

Resolved, by the Senate of Illinois, the House of Representatives concurring therein, That there shall be submitted to the voters of this State, at the next general election for members of the General Assembly, a proposition to amend section two (2) of article XIV of the constitution of this State, by striking out and eliminating therefrom the following words: to-wit:

"But the General Assembly shall have no power to propose amendments to more than one article of the constitution at the same session, nor to the same article oftener than once in four (4) years."

Amended so as to read as follows:

Resolved, by the Senate of the State of Illinois, the House of Representatives concurring therein, That there shall be submitted to the voters of this State, at the next general election for members of the General Assembly, a proposition to amend section two (2) of article XIV of the Constitution of this State, so that said section will read as follows:

§ 2. Amendments to this Constitution may be proposed in either house of the General Assembly, and if the same shall be voted for by two-thirds of all the members elected to each of the two houses, such proposed amendments, together with the "yeas" and "nays" of each house thereon, shall be entered in full on their respective journals; and said amendments shall be submitted to the electors of this State, for adoption or rejection, at the next election of members of the General Assembly, in such manner as may be prescribed by law. The proposed amendments shall be published in full at least three months preceding the election, and if a majority of the electors voting at said election shall vote for the proposed amendments, they shall become a part of this Constitution.

"But the General Assembly shall have no power to propose amendments to more than two articles of this Constitution at the same session, nor to the same article oftener than once in four (4) years."

Adopted by the House June 10, 1891.

W. H. HINRICHSSEN.

Clerk of the House of Representatives.

Mr. Berry, on behalf of the conference committee, presented the following report, viz.:

To the Senate and House of Representatives of the 37th General Assembly:

Your conference committee, appointed to consider House Bill No. 729, and the differences between the two houses in relation thereto, respectfully report that they are unable to agree in relation thereto.

O. F. BERRY,
ROBT. H. WILES.
BEN F. CALDWELL,

Committee on the part of the Senate.

JAS. H. SMITH,
JNO. T. NORSWORTHY,
D. P. KELLER,

Committee on the part of the House.

SPRINGFIELD, June 12, 1891.

The undersigned, two of the Senate conferees on House Bill No. 729, respectfully report to the Senate that as an attempt to harmonize the differences between the two houses on said bill, the three Republican members of the conference committee submitted to the Democratic members thereof, a written proposition, of which the paper hereto attached is a duplicate, that the Democratic members rejected said proposition and refused to concur in the recommendation therein embodied, and that said Democratic members offered no basis of settlement of the differences at issue, but insisted on the passage of a bill striking out the compulsory teaching of any branches in the English language.

O. F. BERRY,
ROBERT H. WILES.

The undersigned, Republican members of the conference committee on House Bill No. 729, known as the Compulsory Education Bill, hereby offered to join in a report recommending that said bill be amended by substituting the words "reading and writing" for the words "reading, writing and the history of the United States," wherever the words last mentioned occur in the bill, and further recommending that the bill so amended be passed by both houses of the General Assembly.

O. F. BERRY,
ROBERT H. WILES,

Of the Senate.

D. P. KELLER,

Of the House.

Mr. Berry moved that the foregoing supplementary statement be made a part of the journal.

Mr. Mahoney arose to the point of order that the said supplementary statement should neither be received nor considered by the Senate.

The chair overruled the point of order as not well taken.

Mr. Shumway moved that the foregoing motion of Mr. Berry be laid on the table.

---------	-----------	-----------------

Ordered that the title be as aforesaid, and that the Secretary inform the House of Representatives thereof.

Mr. Kerrick, on behalf of the committee on conference, presented the following report, to-wit:

To the Honorable, the Senate:

Your committee of conference, to which was referred Senate Bill No. 157, entitled "An act to provide for the ordinary and contingent expenses of the State government until the expiration of the first fiscal quarter after the adjournment of the next regular session of the General Assembly," respectfully report as follows:

They recommend that the House recede from the following amendments, 1, 2, 3, 4, 9, 12, 22 and 23, to-wit:

1. Amend section 1 by inserting after the words "Secretary of State," in lines 31 and 33, of the printed bill, the words "and State Treasurer."

2. Amend section 1 by striking out all beginning at the word "and" in line 51 of the printed bill, to and including the word "per annum" in line 53.

3. Amend by inserting after the words "per annum" in line 29 of section 1 of the printed bill, the words "payable upon monthly pay rolls duly certified by the Secretary of State."

4. Amend section 1 by striking out of the printed bill all after the word "monthly" in line 67, to and including the word "library" in line 71.

9. Amend by striking out of lines 134 and 135 of the printed bill the following: "for stenographer and type-writer, the sum of seven hundred and fifty dollars ($750) per annum."

12. Amend same section by striking out the words and figures "five thousand five hundred dollars ($5,500)" in line 197 of the printed bill, and insert the words and figures "four thousand five hundred dollars ($4,500)" in place thereof.

22. Amend paragraph 31 by striking out of the printed bill all of lines 279, 280, 281, 282, 283, and all of line 284 to and including the words "per annum."

23. Amend section 1 by striking out the words and figures "five hundred dollars ($500)," in line 291 of the printed bill, and inserting the words and figures "three hundred and fifty dollars ($350)," in place thereof.

They recommend, further, that the House recede from the 26th amendment, to-wit:

26. Amend by striking out all of line 334, after the word "health," in said line, and all of line 335, to and including the words "per annum," and amend by adding the following in line 338, after the words "per annum," "seven hundred and twenty dollars shall be applied as the salary of a messenger and janitor of the board."

And insert in lieu thereof the following:

Amend by inserting, after the word "secretary," at the end of line 334 of printed Senate bill, the following: "who shall be chosen from and be a member of said board of health."

And your committee further recommend that the Senate concur in amendments 5, 6, 7, 8, 10, 11, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, 24, 25, 27 and 28, as follows, to-wit:

5. Amend section 1 by striking out of line 109 of the printed bill the words and figures "two thousand dollars ($2,000)," and inserting in place thereof the words "five hundred dollars."

6. Amend same section by striking out the words and figures "twenty thousand dollars ($20,000)" in line 112, and inserting in place thereof the words "fifteen thousand dollars ($15,000)."

7. Amend same section by striking out the words and figures "fifteen thousand dollars ($15,000)" in lines 119 and 120, and insert in place thereof the words "ten thousand dollars ($10,000)."

8. Amend same section by striking out in line 125 of the printed bill, the words "five thousand dollars ($5,000)," and inserting in place thereof the words and figures "three thousand dollars ($3,000)."

10. Strike out all after the word "per annum" in line 170, and all of line 171 preceding the word "and" in section one of the printed bill.

11. Amend same section by striking out the words "three thousand two hundred dollars ($3,200)" in line 182 of the printed bill and insert the words "three thousand dollars ($3,000)," in place thereof.
